SAGINAW, Mich., Jan. 23.—State police picked up what they believed was the trail of Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell, when two men, driving a car loaded with arms, were reported seen at the village of Birch Run.

Residents of the village said the men were about the same age and appearance as Karpis, Public Enemy No. 1, and his companion, who shot their way out of a police trap at Atlantic City Sunday.

State police said they were informed the two men were driving a Ford V-8 car with 1935 license plates. Birch Run residents said they saw a machine gun and several rifles in the car.

The men bought gasoline at a Birch Run station and drove hastily away toward the west without waiting for their change.

Report From Indiana
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 23.—Alvin Karpis, alleged killer and kidnaper, and his machine gunner, Harry Campbell, were the objects of search in Indiana today following a report that they were seen in a parking lot here.

Previously, the Lansing, Mich., state police radio station broadcast that Karpis and Campbell had been seen near New Haven, Ind.

Squads of heavily armed police were rushed to a parking lot there later when an attendant reported that two men believed to be Karpis and Campbell had arrived. The suspects fled before the police reached the scene.

PA NEWG OBSERVES

Park benches, covered with snow, don't look so inviting these cold days to the usual crowd waiting for buses on the Diamond. The hurrying travelers were taking to the indoor waiting rooms, today, it was noted.

Just what a need the Public Library fills in this community was noted by one of Pa New's family who dropped in at the noon hour today. There were upwards of a dozen men standing or sitting at the tables scanning the News and other dailies, and up-to-date periodicals. A total of 25 or more people had been served up that time, all of whom had gone out of their way to the Jefferson street location. How many more New Castles would avail themselves of good reading material if the site were on North Mercer street?

Local truck driver narrowly escaped what might have been a serious accident Tuesday afternoon on South Mill street, near Taylor street. The wheels of the truck stuck to the tracks. When the motorist attempted to release the wheels from the street car tracks, by cutting the street, the truck skidded and landed into middle of a deep snow on Taylor street, where a sewer is now being constructed.

While hills on the city streets were ashed last night, the going on the level wasn't any less pleasant. Some streets seemed to be nearly bare of ice, while others were a glare that made traffic anything but comfortable.

"Bluebird Blue" and silver are the official colors for the President's ball this year according to an announcement received today by General Chairman W. Walter Brahm.

Principal Defense For Hauptmann Will Be His Alibi Claim

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann will move for dismissal of the indictment charging him with the murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., as soon as the state has finished its case against him, it was revealed to International News Service today.

Edward J. Kelly, the big, ruddy Brooklyn lawyer who heads the Bronx carpenter's battery of defense lawyers, said the motion will be made by Egbert Rosenkrans, Blauvelt town attorney, just as soon as the state puts the finishing touches on its case—probably late today.

"The motion will be argued on three grounds," Kelly said. "First: That murder has not been proved by the state. Dr. Charles A. Mitchell, Mercer county medical examiner, who performed the autopsy, did not show that the blood found on the child's skull when the body was found, was due to an ante-mortem or post-mortem fracture. He did not show that the fracture was not inflicted by Inspector Harry Walsh of the Jersey City police, who admittedly punctured the skull while moving the remains with a stick.

Second: The state has failed to prove it has a corpus delicti. Yes, I know the defense did not force an issue over whether the body found was that of the Lindbergh child, but the issue is there.

Third: The state has failed to prove it has a corpus delicti.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—A deluge of at least 15 proposed amendments to Pennsylvania's 60-year-old constitution, ranging from ratification of existing social security laws to a graduated income tax, today had already poured into the legislative mill despite the administration's drive for a brand new basic law within a year.

Proposed constitutional amendments must first survive two consecutive legislative sessions and then be submitted to the electorate in 1938.

An entire new constitution displacing the present one of 1874 is the goal of two bills now before the legislature. The administration measure sponsored by Rep. Frank W. Futh, Berks, which was sent speeding toward adoption in the house, would provide a new document by January 1, 1936. The effective date under the bill of Senator George Woodward, Philadelphia, would be exactly one year later.

Heartless Killer Mais Now Cringes In Fear

(International News Service)
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 23.—With only 10 more days to live, Robert Mais, the heartless killer and leader of the tri-state gang, who was so hardboiled and selfish about his own welfare that he permitted his mother to take her chances with the law on a charge of aiding his escape last year, was a cringing man today.

The bravo he displayed following his arrest for holding up a truck of the Federal Reserve bank and killing its chauffeur here last March, and during his trial, now has been replaced by expressions of fear.

"He knows his goose is cooked," said one of the guards who will watch every move of Mais and his companion in murder, Walter Legenza, until they pay for the chauffeur's life in the electric chair February 2. Date for their execution was fixed yesterday when they arrived from New York in federal custody. Federal agents captured them in the metropolis Monday and found Legenza was suffering from broken legs. He broke them while eluding Philadelphia police.

Philadelphia police hope to pin another murder on Mais' gang—that of William Weiss, gambler, who was believed to have been kidnapped by the gang three months ago. His weighted body was recovered from a river there.

Alleged Operator Makes Escape

State Liquor Control Enforcement Agent M. P. Sarkis with State Troopers Knudson, McCullough and Constable Andrew Fair last night raided an alleged illicit still, at the rear of 1300 South Jefferson street. The alleged proprietor, "Mike Smiley," escaped, it was reported.

Five barrels of mash and 15 gallons of finished product were confiscated and destroyed after a sample of the "moonshine" was taken for evidence.

The alleged proprietor escaped while the officers were making their entrance through the front door. They had to batter it down and "Smiley" is reported to have escaped through a rear window.

County commissioners, sitting as a board of appeals, concluded hearings today when the seventh and eighth wards were heard. They have now heard all the boroughs, townships and wards in the city. The board only considered changes since the triennial assessment was made last year. These included any new houses or old one torn down, and complaints of inequities. The number of changes made was surprisingly low, some districts not having any.

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—A smashing blow was dealt the defense at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann today when Arthur Koehler, chief wood research expert of the United States government, testified that a piece of wood found in Hauptmann's home was of the same material as part of the ladder used in kidnapping the Lindbergh baby.

Koehler, a bald, middle aged man, told of his experiences as a wood expert. He has a laboratory at Madison, Wis. In response to a question from Attorney General David T. Wilentz he said he had come into the Lindbergh case at the request of the United States government and the state of New Jersey.

Wilentz asked Koehler if he had examined the "kidnap ladder" and the witness said he had. Wilentz then asked if Koehler had taken part of the ladder—that part known as rail 16—to the Hauptmann home for the purpose of examination with wood found by the police in the attic there. Koehler said he had done so on October 9, 1934.

Wilentz then asked him to tell the jury the result of his comparison of "rail 16" with the board found in the Hauptmann attic and which had been removed from the attic floor and Koehler replied:

"The rail footer corresponded exactly and the grain in the wood corresponded exactly."

Nail Holes Correspond
Courtroom, Flemington, N. J., Jan. 23.—Nail holes in a piece of lumber found in the attic of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home checked with the nail holes in the ladder used in the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby. Detective Lewis Bornmann testified today at the Hauptmann trial.

Bornmann's testimony was a damaging blow to Hauptmann. Bornmann said he went to a closet between two bedrooms, removed several shelves and climbed through a fifteen-inch trap door to the attic of Hauptmann's home.

BOARD OF APPEALS
County commissioners, sitting as a board of appeals, concluded hearings today when the seventh and eighth wards were heard. They have now heard all the boroughs, townships and wards in the city.

The board only considered changes since the triennial assessment was made last year. These included any new houses or old one torn down, and complaints of inequalities. The number of changes made was surprisingly low, some districts not having any.

Wood Expert Is Strong Witness For State's Case

Says Wood In Kidnap Ladder

ATTIC BOARD FROM HOME IN LADDER

Testimony Of Morning Al-

Kidnap Ladder

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—A smashing blow was dealt the defense at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann today when Arthur Koehler, chief wood research expert of the United States government, testified that a piece of wood found in Hauptmann's home was of the same material as part of the ladder used in kidnaping the Lindbergh baby.

Koehler, a bald, middle aged man, told of his experiences as a wood expert. He has a laboratory at Madison, Wis. In response to a question from Attorney General David T. Wilentz he said he had come into the Lindbergh case at the request of the United States government and the state of New Jersey.

Wilentz asked Koehler if he had examined the "kidnap ladder," and the witness said he had. Wilentz then asked if Koehler had taken part of the ladder—that part known as rail 16—to the Hauptmann home for the purpose of examination with wood found by the police in the attic there. Koehler said he had done so on October 9, 1934.

Wilentz then asked him to tell the jury the result of his comparison of "rail 16" with the board found in the Hauptmann attic and which had been removed from the attic floor and Koehler replied:

"The nail holes correspond exactly and the grain in the wood corresponded exactly."

Nail Holes Correspond
Courtroom, Flemington, N. J., Jan. 23.—Nail holes in a piece of lumber found in the attic of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home check with the nail holes in the ladder used in the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. Detective Lewis Bormann testified today at the Hauptmann trial.

Bormann's testimony was a damaging blow to Hauptmann. Bormann said he went to a closet between two bedrooms, removed several shelves and climbed through a fifteen-inch trap door to the attic of Hauptmann's home.

There he found a short board in (Continued On Page Two)

Two Sled-Riders Hit Doctor's Car

Neither Injured In Accident Following Crash Of Two
Sleds

When two sled-riders struck the automobile of Dr. S. W. Perry in Lathrop street at 5 p. m. Tuesday neither of the lads was injured, according to the physician who examined the boys.

He was proceeding on his right side of the street and stopped his car. The boys were sled-riding on different sleds on their side of the street. One sled struck the other and both sleds, operating slowly, hit the doctor's car, he stated.

The gas man and the coal man and the man who deals in shoes are chucking a gleeful chuck, gone are their woes and blues. The weather man has perked them up, their faces light with glee, for this weather they enjoy, it's down to thirty-three. And as it drops their light cigars and slap you on the back, for you and I must pay the bills for what they sell, alack. Their tills are stuffed with heavy cash, their bins are running low, which means they're doing business now, and raking in the dough.

SENATE OPPOSITION TO WORLD COURT GROWS

Administration Seeks Agreement

First Sign Of Weakness Is Seen In Conference With Vandenberg

RESERVATIONS ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The administration showed the first sign of weakness in its fight for American adherence to the World Court today when it began negotiations to accept the Vandenberg reservation, protecting the United States against foreign entanglements. President Roosevelt summoned Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, to the White House for a secret conference. Afterward, Vandenberg admitted acceptance of his reservation was "under discussion."

Senate Opposition Increases
This move was forced by the increasing senate opposition to the resolution of adherence, to which two supplemental reservations have been added. The first one, sponsored by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, would require a two-thirds vote of the senate before any question for settlement of a controversy, involving the United States, could be submitted to the court. The second reservation, sponsored now by Vandenberg, would provide:

"That adherence shall not be construed as to require the United States to depart from its traditional policy of not intruding upon, interfering with, or entangling itself in the political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state; nor shall adherence be construed to imply a relinquishment by the United States of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions."

The administration is driving for a final vote probably on Friday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The administration showed the first sign of weakness in its fight for American adherence to the World Court today when it began negotiations to accept the Vandenberg reservation, protecting the United States against foreign entanglements.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The blue is a beautiful shade and a sample of it has been received. Many women who will attend the ball will probably utilize the blue and silver color scheme in their gowns.

Pa Newscaster notes that youths were using sidewalks in some sections of the city for sledding last night. This is one thing that is entirely taboo in the city, Pa Newscaster understands.

A motorist had a thrill late yesterday at the top of the Court street hill, near the court house. His car started to skid and was headed directly for the fence. However by some maneuvering, the car was turned before it went clear across the sidewalk and hit the fence. There is a drop of fifteen or twenty feet from the fence to the ground below.

Street intersections on main thoroughfares were also ached in the city yesterday, as an aid to traffic, as well as the steep hills.

New Castle's unpaved streets are in the worst condition at the present time that they have been for several years, as far as Pa Newscaster's observations go.

terly to place Hauptmann at the scene of the crime at the time the crime was committed."

If the motion for dismissal is denied, C. Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington, will deliver a brief opening address to the jury for the defense, Reilly said.

Then will come a parade of "about 30" defense witnesses, headed by Hauptmann and his wife, Anna. Hauptmann's principal defense will be his alibi for the night of the crime, Reilly said.

The attorney would not disclose what this alibi would be, other than that the defense will show Hauptmann was at Frederickson's bakery in the Bronx when baby Lindbergh was being kidnapped from the nursery in his rambling home near Hopewell the night of March 1, 1932.

Reilly promised to have a statement which will "knock your eyes out" on the day the defense winds up its case.

Three of Hauptmann's lawyers, Reilly, Fisher and Frederick A. Pope, visited their pale, emaciated client in his Hunterdon county jail cell here last night, for a last minute conference before the defense opens its case.

Aviation Report Is About Ready

Roosevelt Will Recommend Four Thousand New Planes For Army And Navy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A combined program of four thousand airplanes for the army and navy will be recommended to congress when the president sends his aviation report to the capitol next week, it was learned today.

The report urges construction of a large rigid airship as a sister ship to the Macon. This ship would be leased for trans-Atlantic and other commercial service.

In addition the report recommends construction of a smaller dirigible for use as a navy training ship.

A five man aviation board was recommended, for temporary service, until the new program has been safely launched. The report asks that the president abolish the present difference between first and second line commercial transport services.

Infantile Paralysis Vaccination Latest

Vaccine Against Infantile Paralysis Will Be Used For First Time

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—A clinic for vaccination against infantile paralysis—the first known of its kind in the history of medicine—will be opened at Temple University medical school here on Saturday, it was announced today.

Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of experimental medicine at the hospital, will be in charge of the clinic, where the vaccine he discovered will be available to the public for the first time.

Dr. Kolmer announced discovery of the vaccine last August after two years of experimentation on monkeys. Since then experiments with humans have proved a success.

Police Probe Two Bad Check Cases

Discovery was made today according to a report made to city police that two bad checks were issued at business places last Saturday night.

A man and woman perpetrated one of the frauds at one place and a woman worked the second fraud alone.

A man and woman Saturday night went into The Little Shop, 121 East North street, and bought a dress. A check for $32.34 was given and the difference between the cost of a dress and check amount was returned to the man and woman. The check was found to be no good.

A woman went into Neiman's Saturday night and gave a check for $24.88, for a dress which cost $14.95. The change was given to her. The check also was returned, marked no good.

Accident Victims Are Recovering

There is little change in the condition of Miss Clara Schiffman, daughter of Rabbi and Mrs. Schiffman, of Phillips street, who is suffering from fractures sustained in an automobile accident a few days ago. She is in the Ellwood City hospital.

Rabbi and Mrs. Schiffman and another daughter, Irene, are at their home here. They received cuts and bruises and suffered from shock.

Begin Painting Job At Federal Building

Painting work at the new Federal building, the last job left to be done, has commenced.

Working in the second floor work-room of the post office division, the painting crew was making good progress today. By next week, it is believed, decoration of the downstairs lobby will be started.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain powerful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remo a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

the flooring. And where the board was sawed off, Bornmann said he found a small pile of sawdust.

Check Board
He called the attention of Arthur Koehler, government wood technologist, to this. They checked the short board Bornmann found in the attic with the lumber in the rail of the kidnap ladder, found the grains matched and the nail holes in both boards were identical.

Bornmann related how he and Koehler took what was known as rail 18 (the upright of section three of the kidnap ladder) and compared the nail holes with those in the joist in the attic on which the missing part of a board in the Hauptmann attic had been nailed.

"We found the nail holes of rail 18 corresponded exactly with the holes of the joist," Bornmann related.

The witness picked up the third section of the kidnap ladder and pointed out nail holes in it to the jurors.

He pointed to the joists in the photograph of the Hauptmann attic (which had been introduced) and said:

Holes In Board Correspond
"These holes exactly corresponded—We also found that nails found in the attic fit perfectly through the ladder upright and right on through into the joists."

Assistant Attorney General Robert Peacock questioned Bornmann in some detail.

Q—Was the slant of the nail hole the same in the board as it was in the joists.

A—Yes. We didn't have to pound a nail in any of the holes when we fitted the upright and the joist together. The nails could be pushed in with a finger.

Bornmann was asked to identify a section of yellowish pine board about six feet long.

"That is the piece of board I took from the attic," Bornmann said.

The board was admitted as evidence over the vigorous objection of Frederick A. Pope, of defense counsel.

Defense Attorney Pope took Bornmann over for cross-examination. Pope wanted to know what police had access to the Hauptmann house after his arrest. Bornmann said only the New Jersey state police and Department of Justice agents.

Rented House
Q—(By Pope)—Isn't it a fact the Hauptmann home was rented after his arrest.

A—Yes.

Q—And wasn't it you who rented it.

A—(Smiling)—Yes. I rented it. Q—How many times were other police in the attic before you found all this.

A—None, as far as I know, except those who went up with me that first morning.

Q—(By Pope)—Now at the time this board was taken from the floor and certain comparisons made was Mrs. Hauptmann home.

A—No.

Q—Well, the place, as a matter of fact, was infested with police, wasn't it.

A—I wouldn't say that.

Q—How many times were police carpenters taken to the Hauptmann attic before Mr. Koehler went there.

A—Once.

The witness was excused and a five-minute recess taken.

Corroborates Detective
When court was reconvened Charles W. Enkler, New York police department carpenter, was recalled. He told how he and other police officers climbed into the Hauptmann attic and examined it. One of those with him, he said, was Detective Bornmann. The witness corroborated Bornmann's testimony that a piece of board about eight feet long was missing from the floor of the Hauptmann attic.

Enkler's attention was called to the two large photographs of the interior of the attic. The witness told how he had taken a section of the kidnap ladder to the attic and fitted it along the bare strip on the attic beams.

"I found it fitted," the police carpenter said, "and the nail holes in the beams jibe with the nail holes in this upright of the ladder."

The policeman was holding up a section of the ladder before the jurors and pointing out the nail holes. Pointing to the photograph he showed where he had found the nail holes in the attic beams.

GOVERNOR EARLE'S PLEA FOR SPEED IS MET IN HOUSE

committee, announced he was prepared to meet these objections with legal precedent. The senate meanwhile, delayed consideration of the measure of Senator George L. Woodward, providing for a constitutional convention after a popular vote.

Members of the governor's official family meanwhile expressed displeasure over the failure of the senate committee on executive nominations, headed by Senator James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, to report for confirmation a list of eight appointments, including members of the milk control board, securities commission and workmen's compensation board, submitted by the governor.

Controversy On Beamish

A controversy over the appointment of Richard J. Beamish, former secretary of the commonwealth, to a post on the workmen's compensation board, was one of the reasons for the senate's action. Other administration leaders, however, were disposed to believe confirmation was withheld in order to give the Republican senate a weapon with which to bargain for the passage of bills in the Democratic house.

The Republican steering committee appointed a sub-committee comprised of Reps. Morton Wilkin and Arnold Blumberg, Philadelphia; Ellwood Turner, Delaware and Fred Peters, Montgomery, to consider amendments to the administration constitution bill. One of the amendments reported under consideration was selection of delegates from senatorial rather than congressional districts, as provided in the Woodward bill.

Rep. Frank W. Ruth, chairman of the ways and means committee, referred the several horse racing bills in the house to a sub-committee comprised of Reps. Charles Melchiorre, Philadelphia; Harry O'Neill, Lackawanna, and Peters. It was believed the sub-committee will approve one bill and report it to the house for passage.

Would Reduce Fees

The ways and means committee reported favorably the Trout bill reducing the fees of registers of wills to a maximum of $10,000 a year. Adoption of the measure would drastically reduce the fees collected by registers in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and all large counties.

Ruth appointed a sub-committee of Reps. Herbert B. Cohen, York; Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny, and Arthur L. Greenstein, Philadelphia, to study bills proposing other amendments to the inheritance tax laws. Measures have been introduced to exempt all estates under $10,000 and transfer collection of the tax from the auditor general's department to the department of revenue.

The ways and means committee decided to defer consideration of all tax measures pending submission of Governor Earle's budget message expected early in February.

SHOOTS RED FOX

JR. B. P. W. GUESTS AT M. L. HENRY HOME

A little private rehearsal of table manners and hostess manners was going on in the playroom of the Margaret L. Henry home Tuesday evening among the kiddies, when members of the Junior Business and Professional Women filed in, to be their dinner guests.

At 6:30 o'clock the club girls singled into the spacious, tidy and neat dining room, each being joined by one of the little girls of the home, and a chorus of "Welcome" was sung by the little rads during this procedure. Miss Margaret L. Henry, Mrs. Madge S. Place and Mrs. Lida J. Green of the home served a delicious hot dinner, and they were ably assisted by young ladies coming in neat aprons, who acted the role of waiters.

Pastimes ensued. The guests were then ushered into their playroom, where the youngsters appeared in a program of drills, acrobatics, tap dancing, tumbling acts, songs and recitations that were well received. Those participating were Dorothy Blair, Rose Mary Place, Mae Stan-ley, Lillian Homich, Virginia Quioz, little Sammy Sacco, Della Sacco, Antonette Sacco, Rose Sacco, Evelyn Place, Clara DeLorenzo, Verda Miller, Charles Stanciu, John Stanciu, Robert and James Clegg, Robert Carolina, Virginia Reinhart, Pearl Wick and Mary Sacco. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin gave a humorous recital by Albert A. Taylor. She was assisted by Gula Bauder Keagy, soprano.

The program opened with "Romance," by Schumann, played with delicate tonal effect, and finished phrasing. Following this number was Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor," played in solid, brilliant style. The diaphanous coloring of De Bussy's "Arabesque," the next rendition, lent contrast.

"Sonata Pathétique," Opus 13, was chosen as Miss Smith's "piece de resistance." In this, she displayed a quite adequate technical ability, as well as a fluent interpretation of the composer.

Her final group included the "Liebestraum" of Liszt, which was given a clean cut technical rendition, as well as good poetic expression; the rhythmic and attractive "Polish Dance" by Scharwenka; and to conclude, the "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, brilliant in style, which gave a fitting climax to this delightful program.

Miss Smith is a young pianist who gives much promise, and is identified by on her way to recognition. She displays a well developed technique, a thorough concept of nuance and expression, and original poetic interpretation. She held the undivided and appreciative attention of her audience throughout the program.

PLAYLET FEATURES CHAPTER PROGRAM

Cathedral Chapter 440, Order of Eastern Star sponsored an interesting program party Tuesday evening in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. Edna West, worthy matron, the doors were thrown open to the guests and friends, who were deeply appreciative of the entertainment arranged by Mrs. West.

Appearing first was Miss Ethel Hunt in a humorous reading, "Railroad Wreck," which was exceptionally well received; Betty Ward, accompanied by Anna Patterson, presented a tap dance, after which a group of students from the Senior High School dramatic class presented a skit, "The Third Man" with Jim Bradford playing the part of the father; Kathleen Shuttleworth, the mother; Mildred Carson, the niece; and Miss Willie Lenhart, the daughter.

The plot arose from a contest of wills that the fond mother and father had in the effort to marry their only daughter; each reserving the exclusive right to dictate who would be the fiancé, but love laughs at parental plans as well as lock-smiths, and the daughter, with the help of a niece, changes papa's and mamma's plans and marries the man of her choice, "The Third Man." Gales of laughter were aroused by the humorous situations.

Mrs. Clinton Keagy, accompanied by Mrs. Allen Davis, as usual captivated her hearers with a group of songs. Jim Bradford had a piano-lecture and played for "Willie" Lenhart as she entertained with a tap dance.

The program concluded with the awarding of a handsome hand-made quilt to Fred Mayberry, Norwood avenue, the lucky number being drawn by little Katherine Johns.

Cathedral chapter will be active during the next two months, with many social events dotting its calendar, among them being a card party in the home of the worthy matron, Mrs. Edna West, Harlansburg road on Tuesday, January 29; a birthday party and dinner February 8, when the entertainment will be presented by Mrs. Olive Hewitt and her dramatic class of the North street night school, and the joint frolic of the three chapters of Eastern Star on March 1.

MRS. WALLACE IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. William Wallace, of West Madison avenue, charmingly entertained the Mahoningtown Garden club members at her residence Tuesday evening.

Features of the business period were the annual report submitted by the secretary, Mrs. E. L. Vincent, and the splendid reports of the county day meeting of a number of weeks ago by a group of those who attended.

The club decided to change its meeting date from the fourth Tuesday to the third Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. Richard Gwilym, who has been president for the past year, turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. Richard Cooper, who made announcement of the new special committees as follows:

Program: Mrs. W. H. Leicht, Mrs. D. C. Schreible and Mrs. W. H. Mauemann; ways and means, Mrs. Raymond Horchler, Mrs. C. H. Clark, Mrs. I. C. Bowman and Mrs. E. L. Vincent; and flower, Mrs. J. L. Agan and Mrs. C. E. Dungan.

Mrs. W. H. Mauemann was in charge of the evening's program. The roll call was answered by the names of the most prominent flowerers in the birth months of the members. Mrs. Duncan followed with a very instructive talk on "The Care of House Plants." Mrs. Raymond Horchler read an article on "The Beauty and Bedding of Bulbs."

Roll call at the next meeting will be answered by "trees mentioned in the Bible," it was announced.

A delicious buffet lunch was enjoyed in the dining room of the Wallace home. The dining room table was centered by a beautiful bouquet of pink carnations.

ROCHESTER GUEST HONORED AT BRIDGE

Mrs. Charles Philip Walther of Garfield avenue and Mrs. Allan E. Walther of Englewood avenue were charming hosts Tuesday evening when they entertained at the home of the former 15 guests in honor of Mrs. Robert Paul Sartzake of Rochester, Pa., who is visiting for a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor on Neshannock boulevard.

The occasion was in the form of a bridge, and at the close of play, lovely prizes were awarded to Miss Emmy Lou Smith and Mrs. Edward N. Long, Jr., for winning distinction.

Mrs. Perry D. Rice of Franklin, Pa., sister-in-law of Mrs. Walther and her house guest, was an out of town participant.

At the selected hour, a dainty collation was served at the four small tables, which were attractively rearranged in appointments of pink and blue. Mrs. Belle Rice, mother of Mrs. Walther, and Mrs. Perry Rice assisted with the menu.

Party Honors Birthday
To mark her birthday, Miss Anne Maxine Kennedy, 318 East Euclid avenue, entertained seven couples of friends and relatives at a dinner party in her home on Monday night.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the group sat down to dinner, and later enjoyed an informal evening of ping pong, bingo, billiards, bridge and other entertaining diversions.

Mrs. Thomas Francis, mother of the honor guest, served the evening dinner and a dainty lunch at the close of the evening.

Miss Kennedy was the recipient of many appreciated gifts.

Birthday Party
Friends of Miss Hildegarde L. Tartier, of Porter street, surprised her on the occasion of her 18th birthday, when they gathered in her home last Friday to help her celebrate the occasion.

The evening was spent in games and at a suitable hour, dainty refreshments were served. The honored guest's mother, Mrs. John Tartier, was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by her daughter, Mrs. Walter Biberich.

Green of the home served a delicious hot dinner, and they were ably assisted by young lads doctored in neat aprons, who acted the role of waiters.

Pastimes ensued. The guests were then ushered into their playroom, where the youngsters appeared in a program of drills, acrobatics, tap dancing, tumbling acts, songs and recitations that were well received. Those participating were Dorothy Blair, Rose Mary Place, Mae Stanilla, Lillian Homich, Virginia Quirio, little Sammy Sacco, Della Sacco, Antonette Sacco, Rose Sacco, Evelyn Place, Clara DeLorenzo, Verda Miller, Charles Stanciu, John Stanciu, Robert and James Clegg, Robert Carolina, Virginia Reinhart, Pearl Wick and Mary Sacco. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin gave a humorous reading and Mrs. Green sang a beautiful "Mother Machree." She was in charge of the program. During the course of serving little four-year-old Sammy Sacco sang a number, and later in the evening gave recitations.

The Junior B. P. W. girls were taken on a tour of the home by Dorothy Blair, Mae Stanilla and Lillian Homich, explaining as they went their daily routine, which was most interesting. There are 45 youngsters being cared for at the institution, and as the night grew late the younger ones trotted on to bed.

The cordial hospitality and the humble atmosphere that was so evident was most impressive to the club members, and this particular event will linger in the memories of those who attended.

On January 28 the executive board of the Junior B. P. W. will hold a meeting in the home of Miss Virginia Hickok, Wilmington avenue.

CAMILLA SMITH

On Tuesday evening in the assembly room of Highland U. P. church before a large audience of musicians and friends, Miss Camilla Smith, pianist, was presented in an excellent recital by Albert A. Taylor. She was assisted by Gula Bauder Keagy, soprano.

The program opened with "Romance," by Schumann, played with delicate tonal effect, and finished phrasing. Following this number was Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor," played in solid, brilliant style. The diaphanous coloring of De Bussy's "Arabesque," the next rendition, lent contrast.

"Sonata Pathetique," Opus 13, was chosen as Miss Smith's "piece de resistance." In this, she displayed a quite adequate technical ability, as well as a fluent interpretation of the composer.

Her final group included the "Liebestraum" of Liszt, which was given a clean cut technical rendition, as well as good poetic expression; the rhythmic and attractive "Polish Dance" by Scharwenka; and to conclude, the "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, brilliant in style, which gave a fitting climax to this delightful program.

Miss Smith is a young pianist who gives much promise, and is evidently on her way to recognition. She displays a well developed technique, a thorough concept of nuance and expression, and original poetic interpretation. She held the undivided and appreciative attention of her audience throughout the program.

It was the recipient of several beautiful bouquets of flowers. Gula Bauder Keagy, soprano, as the assisting artist, was pleasing in her group of songs: "Pale Moon," by Logan; "Dawn in the Forest," by Ronald, and "Do You Know My Garden," by Wood. Mrs. Keagy is well known locally and is rapidly making a name for herself in wider musical circles. Her accompanist was Mrs. Alan B. Davis of New Wilmington, who gave a splendid performance.

For the recital, the large assembly room, beautifully decorated, was filled with interested listeners. Ushers were Miss Marian Smith, a sister, and Misses Jean Parker, Betty Matthews and Elizabeth Slaver, girl friends of the recitalist.

M. M. Club
Miss Elizabeth Moskal proved to be a most charming hostess to the members of the M. M. club when they gathered at her home Sunday evening. After a business meeting in which Miss Frances Boczar was voted president and Miss Moskal treasurer, the rest of the evening was spent in music and chat. Later on, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Bertha Smorsky, on Morris street.

PLAYLET FEATURES CHAPTER PROGRAM

Cathedral Chapter 440, Order of Eastern Star sponsored an interesting program party Tuesday evening in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. Edna West, worthy matron, the doors were thrown open to the guests and friends, who were deeply appreciative of the entertainment arranged by Mrs. West.

Appearing first was Miss Ethel Hunt in a humorous reading, "Railroad Travellers," which was exceptionally well received; Betty Ward, accompanied by Anna Patterson, presented a tap dance, after which a group of students from the Senior High School dramatic class presented a skit, "The Third Man" with Jim Bradford playing the part of the father; Kathleen Shuttleworth, the mother; Mildred Carson, the niece; and Miss Willie Lenhart, the daughter.

The plot arose from a contest of wills that the fond mother and father had in the effort to marry their only daughter; each reserving the exclusive right to dictate who would be the fiancé; but love laughs at parental plans as well as lock-smiths, and the daughter, with the help of a niece, changes papa's and mamma's plans and marries the man of her choice. "The Third Man," Gales of laughter were aroused by the humorous situations.

Mrs. Clinton Keagy, accompanied by Mrs. Allen Davis, as usual captivated her hearers with a group of songs. Jim Bradford had a piano-lecture and played for "Willie" Lenhart as she entertained with a tap dance.

The program concluded with the awarding of a handsome handmade quilt to Fred Mayberry, Norwood avenue, the lucky number being drawn by little Katherine Johns. Cathedral chapter will be active during the next two months, with many social events dotting its calendar, among them being a card party in the home of the worthy matron, Mrs. Edna West, Harlanburg road on Tuesday, January 29; a birthday party and dinner February 6, when the entertainment will be presented by Mrs. Olive Hewitt and her dramatic class of the North street night school, and the joint frolic of the three chapters of Eastern Star on March 1.

MRS. WALLACE IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. William Wallace, of West Madison avenue, charmingly entertained the Mahoningtown Garden club members at her residence Tuesday evening.

Features of the business period were the annual reports submitted by the secretary, Mrs. Wallace, and the treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Vincent, and the splendid reports of the county day meeting of a number of weeks ago by a group of those who attended.

The club decided to change its meeting date from the fourth Tuesday to the third Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. Richard Gwilym, who has been president for the past year, turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. Richard Cooper, who made announcement of the new special committees as follows:

Program, Mrs. W. H. Leicht, Mrs. D. C. Schreiner and Mrs. W. H. Maermann; ways and means, Mrs. Raymond Horcher, Mrs. C. H. Clark, Mrs. I. C. Bowman and Mrs. E. L. Vincent; and flower, Mrs. J. L. Agan and Mrs. C. E. Dungan.

Mrs. W. H. Maermann was in charge of the evening's program. The roll call was answered by the names of the most prominent flowerers in the birth months of the members. Mrs. Duncan followed with a very instructive talk on "The Care of House Plants." Mrs. Raymond Horcher read an article on "The Beauty and Bedding of Bulbs."

Roll call at the next meeting will be answered by "trees mentioned in the Bible," it was announced. A delicious buffet lunch was enjoyed in the dining room of the Wallace home. The dining room table was centered by a beautiful bouquet of pink carnations.

ROCHESTER GUEST HONORED AT BRIDGE

Mrs. Charles Philip Walther of Garfield avenue and Mrs. Allan B. Both of Englewood avenue were charming hostesses Tuesday evening when they entertained at the home of the former 12 guests in honor of Mrs. Robert Paul Saatzke of Rochester, Pa., who is visiting for a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor on Neshannock boulevard.

The occasion was in the form of a bridge, and at the close of play, lovely prizes were awarded to Miss Emmy Lou Smith and Mrs. Edward N. Long, Jr., for winning distinction.

Mrs. Perry D. Rice of Franklin, Pa., sister-in-law of Mrs. Walther and her house guest, was an out of town participant.

At the selected hour, a dainty collation was served at the four small tables, which were attractively arranged in appointments of pink and blue. Mrs. Belle Rice, mother of Mrs. Walther, and Mrs. Perry Rice assisted with the menu.

Party Honors Birthday

To mark her birthday, Miss Anne Maxine Kennedy, 318 East Euclid avenue, entertained seven couples of friends and relatives at a dinner party in her home on Monday night.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the group sat down to dinner, and later enjoyed an informal evening of ping pong, bingo, billiards, bridge and other entertaining diversions.

Mrs. Thomas Francis, mother of the honor guest, served the evening dinner and a dainty lunch at the close of the evening.

Birthday Party

Friends of Miss Hildegard L. Tartler, of Porter street, surprised her on the occasion of her 18th birthday, when they gathered in her home last Friday to help her celebrate the occasion.

The evening was spent in games and at a suitable hour, dainty refreshments were served. The honored guest's mother, Mrs. John Tartler, was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by her daughter, Mrs. Walter Biberich.

Mrs. Claude Crill and Miss Isabel Jones entertained, jointly, Monday evening at the home of the latter, on Moody avenue, in honor of Miss Marce Biddle who will be married in February, to Charles Usseton.

The party was in the form of a linen shower and treasure hunt, the guest of honor finding red hearts with verses on them which directed her to various packages about the home.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

EVERY citizen who is in receipt of the customary blank form of the Treasury Department which he must fill out for income tax purposes, finds in this year's envelope a pink slip.

On this slip he is obliged to enter his total gross income, no matter what portion of it may be non-taxable; his total deductions; his net income after the deductions have been made; the total credits against the net for computing the normal tax, and finally the amount of tax payable. All this in addition to the detailed returns entered in the usual form.

What for? Young Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, who fathered this new atrocity, has an idea that it will prevent tax-dodging, for these pink slips are intended solely for public inspection. They are of no use whatever to the Collectors of Internal Revenue. Wisconsin has a state publicity law, and despite whatever notions are held by Senator Bob, his own State Tax Commission asserts that public inspection has produced no unreported income; that it has resulted in complications, and from the Commission's evident antagonism the inference is plain that it considers the scheme to be an expensive nuisance.

CAN'T SLEEP SO PEACEFULLY NOW

A desperado who, with a companion, shot his way out of a Virginia penitentiary where the two were awaiting execution for the murder of a jail guard, went to bed in a New York apartment, with a pistol by his side. The weapon was his only real friend. While he slept, probably as peacefully as a child, in walked a group of Federal agents, and Robert Mals was back in custody of the law. At the same time his companion in crime, Walter Legenza, lying in a hospital bed in the same city, had a surprise visit from Federal agents and he, too, again is in the clutches of the law enforcement agencies. It may have been a trifle rude to disturb the rest of these two, but the law-abiding populace can sleep all the more soundly because of the captures.

There was a time when the outstanding public enemies could sleep with a certain amount of security, but the concentrated drive against criminals launched by the government and the various states has shattered the criminal Utopia, for which the public can give thanks.

It is gratifying to note as well that the Virginia court speedily sentenced the recaptured pair to pay the penalty for their crimes, as soon as they were landed back in the jurisdiction of the state.

APPEALS FOR CLEMENCY

An Illinois collection of interesting candidates for clemency have filed applications with the state board of pardons and paroles, and in view of their background and the crimes for which they are imprisoned, disposition of their appeals provides cause for speculation.

Three of the men, each on his own occasion, killed Chicago policemen. Each of the three had a law-breaking record. One of them, when he killed a policeman, killed an "L" station ticket agent also. He has twice escaped from Joliet. Another covered a policeman with a gun, commanded him to raise his hands and then shot him through the back. Running bootleg whiskey was that man's criminal vocation. The third followed robbery as a trade. He killed a policeman who attempted to arrest him. There are many others of a similar stripe.

It is inconceivable that any of these men should be turned loose upon society. But who can study the records of pardoning boards and say with any degree of certainty that any supplicant for freedom, regardless of how vicious he may be, may not receive a favorable answer to his plea?

DAY OF REAPING

Surveying the inefficiencies, extravagances and corruptions of American government, Lord Bryce entered this record in his memorable work:

"America wastes millions annually. But her wealth is so great, her revenue so elastic, that she is not sensible of the loss. She has the glorious privilege of youth, the privilege of committing errors without suffering the consequences."

So it may have seemed. But natural laws are inexorable and the government of the cities, which Bryce conceded was "the one conspicuous failure" in the period of which he was writing, is today the most conspicuous. We are reaping what we have sown.

You can tell when a relief measure is working. A different group begins to cuss.

A husband is a person who always brings home the bacon—when you send him after ham.

Maybe capitalists boss the country, but you never hear them begin an argument by saying, "We demand."

Daughters are cheaper in one way. The cars they wreck while learning to drive belong to boy friends.

The sticks is that region where people can't enjoy hot rolls or roses without taking some to the neighbors.

It is a sincere tribute to the interesting character of General Johnson's literary products that folks threaten him with libel even before they know just what he's written.

HOW DIFFERENT LIFE WOULD BE—

If nobody was ever tired.
If there were three sexes instead of two.
If we were born old and grew young, requiring about 30 years to be a baby.
If nobody was afraid of anything.
If we always said just what we thought.
If airplanes couldn't possibly fall.
If a siren blew every time a lie was told.
If human beings feared and hated war as much as mothers fear and hate infantile paralysis.
If we liked everybody we knew.
If the dogs and cats could speak our language.
If the world were a flat disk and we could go to the edge and look over.
If the minimum speed limit were 50 miles an hour.
If we didn't need to eat or sleep.
If nobody ever had to pretend anything.
If there were 10 children in every family.
If all wishes came true immediately.
If we couldn't forget anything.
If we all lived in glass houses.
If we did learn by experience.
If days were 48 hours long.
If nothing we ate ever disagreed with us.
If there were no "ifs" at all in this life.

THE TIME FOR FRIENDSHIP

He can get along without you when skies above are fair.
You don't need to think about him when he's free from doubt and care.
When his path is smooth and pleasant he can walk his way alone.
There'll be men to wait upon him once his pocketbook is shown.
But it's when he's deep in trouble, and he has no coin to spend, you should stand beside him—that's the time to be his friend.

It's no proof of lasting friendship to go with him when he's gay.
Any servant will attend him while the wages he can pay.
He can always find companions when there's nothing that he lacks.
For acquaintances are many and they always run in packs.
But it's not upon the many you must leave him to depend.
When you know he's deep in trouble—that's the time he'll want a friend.

Oh, the throng will hang about him when here's nothing to be done.
For the test of lasting friendship isn't sharing in his fun;
It's in giving up your comfort to be with him in his care;
It's in crawling out to help him where he flounders in despair;
It's in helping when he needs it, that you prove to be a friend.

AVOID THE ROCKING-CHAIR STAGE

Are you allowing yourself to get into the rocking-chair stage?
Still vigorous, you prefer to sit and rock, while the active world goes by.
Gradually you become less and less able to do the things which others of your age enjoy.
By so doing they maintain a good physical condition.
You are becoming flabby and more and more susceptible to illness of one kind or another, while they are forestalling attacks.
You don't want to bestir yourself because it requires effort and you seek to avoid any semblance of working activity.
Many persons give up before physical condition warrants it.
Decline in health is sure to follow.
Lessening strength may be so gradual that it is hard to detect.
Idleness gives the mind too much opportunity to dwell on ailments that are only to be expected with advancing age.
Continually dwelling upon "declining years" becomes a fetish.
Don't think yourself into invalidism.
If you haven't work of any kind, make yourself take regular exercise.
It does not pay to cultivate the rocking-chair as long as you can move without crutches.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Rufus was accused of stealing a mule. The evidence against him had seemed conclusive at first, but the defendant's lawyer had managed after endless questioning to tie the witness for the prosecution into a tangle of contradictions, while the dangle defendant sat watching him with admiring eyes.

Finally the judge, trying to put an end to it all, interrupted saying: "Rufus, answer me one simple question. 'Did you or did you not steal the mule?'"

"Well, sah," replied Rufus candidly. "Ah suddenly thought Ah did it at de beginning, but dis lawyer genulman 'o' mine had plumb raised a doubt in mah min' an' Ah ain't sho' now whether Ah did or Ah didn't."

Can't you stop your ugly scowls

Wall Street Resents Morgan.
Ickes Is Also Under Fire.
Conditions In Germany.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th Street
By LESLIE RICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Wall Street is angrier than ever concerning cruddy Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, college president, who heads the Tennessee Valley Authority. No man in the Roosevelt administration has done more "practical damage" to Wall Street than Dr. Morgan, in establishing the TVA "yardstick" for electric power rates.

Dr. Morgan's latest "offense" however, is not from the practical side, but from the emotional. The hysterics, as may be guessed, emanate from Wall Street.

In addressing Swarthmore college students Dr. Morgan drew an analogy between robber barons of medieval times and public utility executives of today.

The worst of it is that, since congressional exposés, the utilities now have a more difficult time getting their rebuffed propaganda into schools and colleges.

ALSO ATTACKED
Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes is another gentleman attacked vigorously in Wall Street these days.

The larger the public works program the smaller is the opportunity for private capital to resume its profit-making.

Ickes has become vulnerable on one score—he refused further federal funds for New York's important Triborough bridge construction as long as Robert Moses remained chairman of the bridge authority and New York park commissioner at the same time.

When New York protested, it was realized that President Roosevelt himself assumed had dictated the action against Moses. This recent Republican candidate for governor of New York, it is said behind the scenes, has furnished Al Smith with much of his rhetorical ammunition against the New Deal.

New Wall Street digs up the fact that, under the New Deal, Secretary Ickes holds approximately 28 posts.

IN A GERMAN CAMP
The Manchester Guardian, of Manchester, England, is known the world over for its truthfulness. Thus the paper has been a frequent target by a group in a German labor camp presumably can be taken at face value.

"In our camp, the men get 3 lbs. of bread and 100 gms. of margarine every two days... When they return to their huts after work at 3 p. m. they have 'lunch'—dried vegetables and peas. As a rule the food is scarcely edible and the men often throw it away. We usually get a small piece of sausage or cheese, a gherkin or a herring for next day's breakfast....

"On the second day most of the men go to work with no more than a piece of dry bread left, and sometimes with nothing at all. The shift—with intervals—is nine and one-half hours, not counting time taken in going to and from work....

"There is no water for washing in the camp. Water is brought in twice daily in cars.... It is used in the kitchen first and, as a rule, there is none left for washing. Some of the men wash in their tea, as it is undrinkable anyway....

"The huts, which are built to hold 18 men each, are occupied by at least 26....

"It is as cold as ice in the huts—there is one pall of coke in each for heating....

"Dysentery and scabies have broken out because of the continuous lack of water. Men when they come home from work are covered with a crust of dirt....

"The track from the camp to the place where we work—about an hour's march—is unfit. In one week, two men fell into a hole five yards deep. They stuck there until the following morning, up to the waist in mud and water, before they were salvaged. One of them had broken his arm....

"There is a lot of nigger-driving here....

"Concentration camps, dried vegetables, starvation wages—these are the 'glorious times' into which Herr Hitler has led us...."

COST OF STUMS
Slum districts (we now are learning) have been costly for cities.

In "Analysis of a Slum Area," written by the Rev. Robert Bernard Navin, professor in Sisters' college, Cleveland, and published by the Catholic university in Washington, there is a startling picture of the cost of a slum area in Cleveland.

Direct cost of maintaining the area has been $2,000,000 a year against a probable tax income of $225,000. The cost to the community as a whole has been $88.90 a person.

Father Navin remarks:
"Thus every man, woman and child in the section was subsidized $78.78 a year for the cost of four states."

It would be wrong if you believe that the Republic's distress signal was the first use of wireless in saving lives at sea.

Jan. 23, 1933.—The 30th amendment was ratified by the 36th State (Missouri), preventing President Roosevelt from serving a full four or eight years in office.

It wiped out "lame duck" Congressional sessions, established Jan. 20, 1937 as the end of presidential terms, provided for installation of new Congresses before inaugurations of new presidents.

Another coincidence: the 20th amendment became effective on the 88th anniversary of Congress' establishment of the national election day. Original election day was in January.

Notable Nativities—Francois Mansard (Mon-sar), b. 1593, French architect of ecclesiastical buildings by roofs (Mansard) which he did not invent.... Henri Bayle, b. 1763, called Stendhal, government clerk, soldier and merchant who became a celebrated novelist.... George McManus, b. 1884, creator of the comic strip "Bringing Up Father".... Ernest Poole, b. 1880, novelist.... Grand Duchess Charlotte, b. 1894, ruler of Luxembourg.... Randolph Seltzer, cinematographer.

You're Wrong If You Believe—That SOS was the official wireless distress signal in 1909 (see above) or is now. It wasn't and isn't.

That all birds which swim well are web-footed.

That an ostrich, when pursued, hides its head in the sand.

That all sharks are ferocious and man-eaters. And—

That General Sheridan dashed 20 miles from Winchester to Cedar Creek that day, as told in Thomas Buchanan Read's famous poem, "Sheridan's Ride." He rode 12 miles to be exact, but 20 miles sounds more poetic.—Earle R. Forrest, Washington, Pa.

INCOME TAX PUBLICITY

EVERY citizen who is in receipt of the customary blank form of the Treasury Department which he must fill out for income tax purposes, finds in this year's envelope a pink slip.

On this slip he is obliged to enter his total gross income, no matter what portion of it may be non-taxable; his total deductions; his net income after the deductions have been made; the total credits against the net for computing the normal tax, and finally the amount of tax payable. All this in addition to the detailed returns entered in the usual form.

What for? Young Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, who fathered this new atrocity, has an idea that it will prevent tax-dodging, for these pink slips are intended solely for public inspection. They are of no use whatever to the Collectors of Internal Revenue. Wisconsin has a state publicity law, and despite whatever notions are held by Senator Bob, his own State Tax Commission asserts that public inspection has produced no unreported income; that it has resulted in complications, and from the Commission's evident antagonism the inference is plain that it considers the scheme to be an expensive nuisance.

CAN'T SLEEP SO PEACEFULLY NOW

A desperado who, with a companion, shot his way out of a Virginia penitentiary where the two were awaiting execution for the murder of a jail guard, went to bed in a New York apartment, with a pistol by his side. The weapon was his only real friend. While he slept, probably as peacefully as a child, in walked a group of Federal agents, and Robert Mais was back in custody of the law. At the same time his companion in crime, Walter Legenza, lying in a hospital bed in the same city, had a surprise visit from Federal agents and he, too, again is in the clutches of the law enforcement agencies. It may have been a trifle rude to disturb the rest of these two, but the law-abiding populace can sleep all the more soundly because of the captures.

There was a time when the outstanding public enemies could sleep with a certain amount of security, but the concentrated drive against criminals launched by the government and the various states has shattered the criminal Utopia, for which the public can give thanks.

It is gratifying to note as well that the Virginia court speedily sentenced the recaptured pair to pay the penalty for their crimes, as soon as they were landed back in the jurisdiction of the state.

APPEALS FOR CLEMENCY

An Illinois collection of interesting candidates for clemency have filed applications with the state board of pardons and paroles, and, in view of their background and the crimes for which they are imprisoned, disposition of their appeals provides cause for speculation.

Three of the men, each on his own occasion, killed Chicago policemen. Each of the three had a law-breaking record. One of them, when he killed a policeman, killed an "L" station ticket agent also. He has twice escaped from Joliet. Another covered a policeman with a gun, commanded him to raise his hands and then shot him through the back. Running bootleg whiskey was that man's criminal vocation. The third followed robbery as a trade. He killed a policeman who attempted to arrest him. There are many others of a similar stripe.

It is inconceivable that any of these men should be turned loose upon society. But who can study the records of pardoning boards and say with any degree of certainty that any supplicant for freedom, regardless of how vicious he may be, may not receive a favorable answer to his plea?

DAY OF REAPING

Surveying the inefficiencies, extravagances and corruptions of American government, Lord Bryce entered this record in his memorable work:

"America wastes millions annually. But her wealth is so great, her revenue so elastic, that she is not sensible of the loss. She has the glorious privilege of youth, the privilege of committing errors without suffering the consequences."

So it may have seemed. But natural laws are inexorable and the government of the cities, which Bryce conceded was "the one conspicuous failure" in the period of which he was writing, is today the most conspicuous. We are reaping what we have sown.

You can tell when a relief measure is working. A different group begins to cuss.

AND THE

THEY CAME BACK.

Thirty years ago, Thomas Knoll, a teamster in Harrisburg, Pa., decided to move to Oklahoma, onto a farm. Successive crop failures from drought reduced the family to such straitened circumstances that Knoll often longed for his old job back in Pennsylvania with a pay check every Saturday night.

Last summer, with their crops

lost again, the Knolls packed as many of their belongings as they could on an express wagon and started back for Harrisburg, Pa. With their six children ranging in age from sixteen down to four years, trudging behind or taking turns in riding on the little wagon, the family made the long pilgrimage of more than two thousand miles in seventy-nine days. Six sets of wheels were worn out on the express wagon. Again it is shown that Pennsylvania is not such a poor state in which to make a livelihood.

HOW DIFFERENT LIFE WOULD BE—

If nobody was ever tired.

If there were three sexes instead of two.

If we were born old and grew young, requiring about 30 years to be a baby.

If nobody was afraid of anything.

If we always said just what we thought.

If airplanes couldn't possibly fall.

If a siren blew every time a lie was told.

If human beings feared and hated war as much as mothers fear and hate infantile paralysis.

If we liked everybody we knew.

If the dogs and cats could speak our language.

If the world were a flat disk and we could go to the edge and look over.

If the minimum speed limit were 50 miles an hour.

If we didn't need to eat or sleep.

If nobody ever had to pretend anything.

If there were 10 children in every family.

If all wishes came true immediately.

If we couldn't forget anything.

If we all lived in glass houses.

If we did learn by experience.

If days were 48 hours long.

If nothing we ate ever disagreed with us.

THE TIME FOR FRIENDSHIP

He can get along without you when skies above are fair.

You don't need to think about him when he's free from doubt and care.

When his path is smooth and pleasant he can walk his way alone.

There'll be men to wait upon him once his pocketbook is shown.

But it's when he's deep in trouble, and he has no coin to spend you should haste to stand beside him—that's the time to be his friend.

It's no proof of lasting friendship to go with him when he's gay.

Any servant will attend him while the wages he can pay.

He can always find companions when there's nothing that he lacks.

For acquaintances are many and they always run in packs.

But it's not upon the many you must leave him to depend.

When you know he's deep in trouble—that's the time he'll want a friend.

Oh, the throng will hang about him when here's nothing to be done.

For the test of lasting friendship isn't sharing in his fun;

It's in giving up your comfort to be with him in his care;

It's in crawling out to help him where he flounders in despair;

It's in betting by and for him to the bad and bitter end;

It's in helping when he needs it that you prove to be a friend.

AVOID THE ROCKING-CHAIR STAGE

Are you allowing yourself to get into the rocking-chair stage?

Still vigorous, your prefer to sit and rock, while the active world goes by.

Gradually you become less and less able to do the things which others of your age enjoy.

By so doing they maintain a good physical condition.

You are becoming flabby and more and more susceptible to illness of one kind or another, while they are forestalling attacks.

You don't want to bestir yourself because it requires effort and you seek to avoid any semblance of working activity.

Many persons give up before physical condition warrants it.

Decline in health is sure to follow.

Lessening strength may be so gradual that it is hard to detect.

Idleness gives the mind too much opportunity to dwell on ailments that are only to be expected with advancing age.

Continually dwelling upon "declining years" becomes a fetish.

Don't think yourself into invalidity.

If typhoid haven't work of any kind, make yourself take regular exercise.

It does not pay to cultivate the rocking-chair as long as you can move without crutches.

Rufus was accused of stealing a mule. The evidence against him had seemed conclusive at first but the defendant's lawyer had managed after endless questioning to the witness for the prosecution into a tangle of contradictions, while the dusky defendant sat watching him with admiring eyes.

Finally the judge, trying to put an end to it all, interrupted saying: "Rufus, answer me one simple question. 'Did you or did you not steal the mule?'"

"Well, sah," replied Rufus candidly, "Ah suddenly thought Ah did it at de beginning, but dis lawyer gentleman 'o mine had plumb raised a doubt in mah mind 'an' Ah ain't sho' now whether Ah did or Ah didn't."

Wall Street Resents Morgan.
Ickes Is Also Under Fire.
Conditions In Germany.Central Press

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Wall Street is angrier than ever concerning credit Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, college president, who heads the Tennessee Valley Authority. No man in the Roosevelt administration has done more "practical damage" to Wall Street than Dr. Morgan, in establishing the TVA "yardstick" for electric power rates.

Dr. Morgan's latest "offense" however, is not from the practical side, but from the emotional. The hysterics, as may be guessed, emanate from Wall Street.

In addressing Swarthmore college students Dr. Morgan drew an analogy between robber barons of medieval time and public utility executives of today.

The worst of it is that, since congressional exposes, the utilities now have a more difficult time getting their rebuttal propaganda into schools and colleges.

ALSO ATTACKED

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes is another gentleman attacked vigorously in Wall Street these days.

The larger the public works program the smaller is the opportunity for private capital to resume its profit-making.

Now Wall Street digs up the fact that, under the New Deal, Secretary Ickes holds approximately 28 patents.

Father Navin remarks:

"Thus every man, woman and child in the section was subsidized $78.78 and each family of four subsidized $315, an outrageous price to pay for maintaining such an eyesore in the center of the city."

Father Navin traces, too, how more than a quarter of the city's crime and disease reach out from this infectious center, striking the entire community.

Batchelor Seeks To Aid Tax Payers

Bill Introduced In State
Senate Would Exonerate
Delinquent Tax
Penalties

SECOND MEASURE TO AID FARMERS

As an aid to distressed taxpayers,
Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor of this district has presented a bill in the Senate of Pennsylvania which has
for its purpose the exoneration of penalties and interest due on delinquent real estate taxes.

The bill provides that every county, city, borough, town, township or school district shall have the power to exonerate any taxpayer from the payment of any penalty or interest charged on any delinquent tax assessed against real estate prior to the year 1934, if payment or provision for the payment of such delinquent tax is made before July 1, 1935. Further, the bill provides for the exoneration of interest or penalty on any tax assessed for the year 1934 if payment or provision for payment is made prior to January 1, 1935. The bill has been re-

Another bill presented by Senator
Batchelor amends the act of 1921 concerning the loss of livestock by theft. The amended bill sets up the presumption that any animal or poultry dying from rabies has been bitten by a mad dog and no proof of the attack by the dog is necessary. In the past farmers have suffered losses because they could not prove their animals or poultry were bitten by a mad dog. The Batchelor bill would remove the necessity.

Michigan 'Caring' Home Probe Ordered

Believe Girl Friend Of John
Dillinger Gave Birth To Baby

(International News Service)
LANSING, Mich., Jan. 23.—Grand jury probe of a "child caring agency" on a farm near Beulah,
Mich., was launched by the attorney general today, after Edward L.
Brooks of Chicago, operator of the "home," had allegedly refused to permit inspection of a cemetery where bodies of a score or more babies are believed buried.

Among the babies who died at the place, Attorney General Harry S.
Toy said, was the infant child of
John Dillinger, and his sweetheart
Evelyn Frechet, who is now serving a term in Milan, Mich., federal prison for aiding the outlaw. Toy said Miss Frechet was an inmate of the home, and that she named Dillinger
as the baby's father.

The babies who died at the place
from such alleged causes as "pneumonia" and "strangulation." Toy charged, were buried without inquests, burial permits or coffins.

Tax Question Left To Court To Decide

Jury Withdrawn This Morning
In Case Of E. S. Stevenson
Against D. J. Hannon

After hearing several witnesses in the case of Edwin S. Stevenson against D. J. Hannon this morning, counsel agreed to have the jury dismissed and leave the questions in law involved in plaintiff's suit to the court to decide.

The case is one in which Stevenson sold a property in the second ward in April, 1923, to the defendant. The sale was on an article of agreement. Later a deed was delivered.

Stevenson owns other property in the second ward, and in paying his taxes also paid on the property which he had sold. This was continued until 1931, when Stevenson discovered his mistake. He then tried to collect the taxes, which he had paid from Hannon, but Han-non claimed that Stevenson had paid them voluntarily and no bills for taxes had ever been presented to him.

The question which the court must decide is whether or not Stevenson is entitled to collect from Hannon
the amount which he has paid.

This was the last case on the list for trial at the present term of court. All the jurors except those called on this case were discharged on Tuesday evening after only having served two days. The other 12 were discharged this morning.
The present term of court was shortened by agreements under which several verdicts were taken.

Batchelor Seeks To Aid Tax Payers

Bill Introduced In State
Senate Would Exonerate
Delinquent Tax
Penalties

SECOND MEASURE TO AID FARMERS

As an aid to distressed taxpayers,
Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor of this district has presented a bill in the Senate of Pennsylvania which has
for its purpose the exoneration of penalties and interest due on delinquent real estate taxes.

The bill provides that every county, city, borough, town, township or school district shall have the power
to exonerate any taxpayer from the payment of any penalty or interest charged on any delinquent tax assessed against real estate prior to the year 1934, if payment or provision for the payment of such delinquent tax is made before July 1, 1935. Further, the bill provides for the exoneration of interest or penalty on any tax assessed for the year 1934 if payment or provision for payment is made prior to January 1, 1936. The bill has been referred to the committee on county government.

Another bill presented by Senator
Batchelor amends the act of 1921
concerning the loss of livestock by rabies. The amended bill sets up the presumption that any animal
or poultry dying from rabies has been bitten by a mad dog and no
proof of the attack by the dog is necessary. In the past farmers have suffered losses because they could not prove their animals or poultry
were bitten by a mad dog. The Batchelor bill would remove the necessity.

Baby

(International News Service)
LANSING, Mich., Jan. 23.—Grand jury probe of a "child caring agency" on a farm near Beulah,
Mich., was launched by the attorney general today, after Edward L.
Brooks of Chicago, operator of the
"home" had allegedly refused to permit inspection of a cemetery
where bodies of a score or more babies are believed buried.

place, Attorney General Harry S.
Toy said, was the infant child of
John Dillinger, and his sweetheart
Evelyn Frechette, who is now serving a term in Milan, Mich., federal prison for aiding the outlaw. Toy said Miss Frechette was an inmate of the home, and that she named Dillinger
as the baby's father.

The babies who died at the place
from such alleged causes as "pneumonia" and "strangulation," Toy charged, were buried without inquests, burial permits or coffins.

Legion Hears Talk On England

Professor Marshall, Of Westminster College, Tells Of Conditions In Britain

OYSTER SUPPER SERVED MEMBERS

Members of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, heard an interesting talk on England at their meeting last evening, when Professor Marshall of the history department of the college, talked of conditions which exist in that country at the present time.

In view of the fact that many of the legionnaires stopped off in England when they were sent overseas, the talk was of great interest to them.

The meeting was in the nature of a celebration for the recent membership victory of the post, who won district honors in the state roundup. Tom Edmunds, past commander of the post, who took the members to Harrisburg, told of the meeting in the state capital.

Although the roundup is over, the membership drive has not ended, Chairman James E. Morehead told the members, and in fact, several of the teams turned in new memberships last evening.

Committees on arrangements for the annual Memorial Day celebration and for the big initiation meeting in two weeks were announced by Commander Chas. Sweeney.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious oyster supper was served by the kitchen committee.

At the direction of the county commissioners, County Treasurer William O. Pitts has just paid $18,000 for the redemption of poor district bonds of the County of Lawrence. The payment reduces the total poor district bonds to $141,000. The original issue was $250,000.

District Attorney Mont L. Alley has received a letter from his brother, Attorney Clyde V. Alley, in which the latter says that he is gradually recovering from his recent illness. He is able to walk about the house and sit on benches in a park which is opposite his residence. Alley took sick while driving from New Castle to California by way of Florida and was in a hospital for some time.

Motions for new trials have been filed in the Black-Beerbower cases in which verdicts were rendered last week. In one case Benjamin R. Black obtained a verdict against C. W. and Eleanor Beerbower for $4,300 as a result of an automobile accident on Wilmington avenue. In another suit brought by C. W. and D. T. Beerbower against Black, a verdict in favor of the defendant was rendered. The same kind of a verdict was rendered in a suit brought by Eleanor Beerbower against Black. The notes of testimony will now be written out and arguments will be heard on all motions for new trial.

In a decree handed down by Judge E. L. Hildebrand, a divorce is refused Anna L. Jordan, of 7 South Jefferson street, against Arthur W. Jordan, of 428 Hillcrest avenue, on the grounds of ill-treatment and cruelty. The decree is retained with the right of Mrs. Jordan to apply on the grounds of desertion if she so desires. The couple were married on June 14, 1933, and lived together until July 30, 1933. Judge Hildebrand finds that Mrs. Jordan had been married twice or three times before, and that she had been in the hands of two or three other men, which seems to have been more in the nature of a quarrel. However, as the couple have not been living together since July, 1930, the court holds that Mrs. Jordan can amend her bill by the substitution of a desertion charge, when it will again be heard.

With the discharge of a large proportion of the state highway force, the county commissioners received many complaints yesterday morning that the county highways were not being given the attention necessary following weather conditions which made them slippery. The commissioners have nothing to do with ashing the highways, but many people do not appear to have understood the complaint should be made to the local office of the state highway department. Heretofore there has been a sufficient personnel to take care of hills when the roads are slippery, but the present administration has reduced the force to a point where it is inadequate to meet the demands. It is possible that this condition will be remedied as soon as political strings can be untangled.

Poor funds in the county treasury were getting down almost to the vanquishing point this week, when Delinquent Tax Collector Edward Delinquent turned in about $3,500. Other collectors throughout the county are being urged to get collections in, as the treasury is very badly in need of funds. The county is missing the delinquent taxes which have been coming in through refinancing of mortgages by the Home Owners Loan Corporation. During the summer when the corporation was functioning at top speed, the delinquent taxes paid in helped wonderfully in enabling the county to meet its bills. Now the Home Owners Loan Corporation is slowing down and not much more can be expected from this source unless another appropriation is made by congress.

Prospective candidates for county offices next year are interested in bills being introduced in the general assembly which would limit expenditures for campaign purposes. It often happens that the man who is best qualified to hold an office, does not have the biggest pocketbook, which gives the man who may be short on brains and long on cash an unfair advantage. There are already a number of laws specifying "legitimate" campaign expenses, but there are various ways by which an unscrupulous candidate can twist an illegitimate expense into one looking as though it had been fathered by a regular daddy. There is a reasonable amount of expense connected with every campaign, such as cards and advertising, but there are others such as the "dissemination of information," and a big flock of "watchers" that are to say the least open to suspicion. If the legislature can make some laws that will give the poor man an equal chance against his more prosperous neighbor, it will have accomplished something.

Department Work Features Mid-Year Church Conference

Departmental conferences will be given a prominent place in the program of the mid-year efficiency conference of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which will be held at the Epworth M. E. church Friday, January 25, afternoon and evening sessions. The representative of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be Walter E. Myers of Philadelphia, the general secretary. At the afternoon session that starts at two o'clock, the program gives the conference theme as "Building With Christ" and after registration there will be a devotional period followed by Mr. Myers' address on "Building the County and District Program." An open forum will follow this address. After the announcements and song there will be a departmental conference opened in charge of the county departmental superintendents. At six o'clock there will be a Christian fellowship chicken dinner served by the ladies of the conference church to those having made reservation followed by the evening session at which time Secretary Myers will again speak and conduct a conference for pastors and Sabbath school superintendents to which those present are invited to listen in. At this evening session the presentation of an award will be made to the district having the best percentage of attendance of officers and departmental superintendents, based on enrollment.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. January 23, two arrests on charges of drunkenness.

Carmi Glover, commissioner of streets, is worried about ashes. He said several days ago the city is having a difficult time to obtain enough to put in the "muck holes". Yesterday the hills and downtown streets were a glare of ice.

Whooping cough has made its appearance here. Several cases have been reported. Scarlet fever is also prevalent and the first case of diphtheria to be reported in some time was made known to the city health bureau Tuesday.

Councilmen have done little work since last week because of the absence of councilmanic business, so when a chance came for them to go to Washington several of them availed themselves of the opportunity. However, Mayor Mayne is the "stay-at-home". He has not gone away for some time. The last trip he made in the interest of citizens was when he attended a gas meeting at Pittsburgh.

For the first time in some months the heads of the state police and the highway patrol Monday rushed out to officers of both organizations to "cooperate" and immediately patrolmen and troopers seized their rifles and took up positions along Lawrence county roads leading toward the state line in a hunt for Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell, public enemies. The desperadoes succeeded in travelling through Pennsylvania without being taken or killed. Highway patrolmen, although primarily police of the road, have the same authority as state police.

The Star of Wales Lodge, No. 60, Tuesday Ivories of American will meet Saturday evening, January 26, in their lodge rooms at the Emmanuel Baptist church, at 7:30 o'clock. Nominations and election of delegates to the annual convention of the order will take place. Reports will be heard.

Griffith Thomas, Park avenue, will again occupy the pulpit of the Emmanuel Baptist church on Sunday evening, January 27.

William Sherwood Johns, son of Prof. R. E. Johns, Park avenue, is attending Bethany college at West Va. for a few weeks. He was graduated from this institution some time ago.

Only Three Take Drivers' Test

Two Of Three Pass; Weather Condition Is Blamed

Weather conditions and the fact that on March 1 persons will be required to have new operator's licenses tended to keep down the number of applicants for driver's licenses during the examination conducted in Sampson street here by the state highway patrol yesterday. Only three persons took the examination, two of whom passed. They were: Spears Martin, 34 North Beaver street, and James Givens, 419 Norwood avenue. The next examination will be held Tuesday. According to the highway patrol, persons who take the test on and after February 15 will receive 1935 operator's licenses.

Legion Hears Talk On England

Professor Marshall, Of Westminster College, Tells Of Conditions In Britain

OYSTER SUPPER SERVED MEMBERS

Members of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, heard an interesting talk on England at their meeting last evening, when Professor Marshall of the history department of the college, talked of conditions which exist in that country at the present time.

In view of the fact that many of the legionnaires stopped off in England when they were sent overseas, the talk was of great interest to them.

The meeting was in the nature of a celebration for the recent membership victory of the post, who won district honors in the state round-up. Tom Edmunds, past commander of the post, who took the memberships to Harrisburg, told of the meeting in the state capital.

Although the roundup is over, the membership drive has not ended. Chairman James E. Morehead told the members, and in fact, several of the teams turned in new memberships last evening.

Committees on arrangements for the annual Memorial Day celebration and for the big initiation meeting in two weeks were announced by Commander Ches Sweeney.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious oyster supper was served by the kitchen committee.

At the direction of the county commissioners, County Treasurer William O. Pitts has just paid $18,000 for the retirement of poor district bonds of the County of Lawrence. The payment reduces the total poor district bonds to $141,000. The original issue was $250,000.

District Attorney Mont L. Alley has received a letter from his brother, Attorney Clyde V. Alley, in which the latter says that he is gradually recovering from his recent illness. He is able to walk about the house and sit on benches in a park which is opposite his residence. Alley took sick while driving from New Castle to California by way of Florida and was in a hospital for some time.

Motions for new trials have been filed in the Black-Beerbower cases in which verdicts were rendered last week. In one case Benjamin F. Black obtained a verdict against C. W. and Eleanor Beerbower for $4,300 as a result of an automobile accident on Wilmington avenue. In another suit brought by C. W. and D. T. Beerbower against Black, a verdict in favor of the defendant was rendered. The same kind of a verdict was rendered in a suit brought by Eleanor Beerbower against Black. The notes of testimony will now be written out and arguments will be heard on all motions for new trial.

In a decree handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand a divorce is refused Anna L. Jordan, of 7 South Jefferson street, against Arthur W. Jordan, of 426 Hillcrest avenue, on the grounds of indignities and cruelties alleged, but the couple were married on June 14, 1933, and lived together until July 30, 1933. Judge Hildebrand finds that Mrs. Jordan had been married twice or three times before, and he is not satisfied with her allegations of alleged cruelties, which seem to be quarrels. However, as the couple have not been living together since July, 1930, the court holds that Mrs. Jordan can amend her libel by the substitution of a desertion charge, when it will again be heard.

With the discharge of a large proportion of the state highway force, the county commissioners received many complaints yesterday morning that the county highways were not being given the attention necessary following weather conditions, which made them slippery. The commissioners have nothing to do with the highways, but many people do not appear to have understood. Complaints should be made to the local office of the state highway department. Heretofore there has been a sufficient personal to take care of hills when the roads are slippery, but the present administration has reduced the force to a point where it is inadequate to meet the demands. It is possible that this condition will be remedied as soon as political strings can be untangled.

Poor funds in the county treasury were getting down almost to the vanquishing point this week, when Delinquent Tax Collector Edward Umbright turned in about $3,500. Other collectors throughout the county are being urged to get collections in, as the treasury is very badly in need of funds. The county is missing the delinquent taxes which have been coming in through refinancing of mortgages by the Home Owners Loan Corporation. During the summer when the corporation was functioning at top speed, the delinquent taxes paid in helped wonderfully in enabling the county to meet its bills. Now the Home Owners Loan Corporation is slowing down and not much more can be expected from this source unless another appropriation is made by congress.

Prospective candidates for county offices next year are interested in bills being introduced in the general assembly which would limit expenditures for campaign purposes. If often happens that the man who is best qualified to hold an office, does not have the biggest pocketbook, which gives the man who may be short on brains and long on cash an unfair advantage. There are already a number of laws specifying "legitimate" campaign expenses, but there are various ways by which an unscrupulous candidate can twist an illegitimate expense into one looking as though it had been a reasonable amount of expense connected with every campaign, such as cards and advertising, but there are others such as the "dissemination of information," and a big flock of "watchers" that are to say the least open to suspicion. The legislature can make some laws that will give the poor man an equal chance against his more prosperous neighbor it will have accomplished something.

Departmental conferences will be given a prominent place in the program of the mid-year efficiency conference of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which will be held at the Epworth M. E. church Friday, January 25, afternoon and evening sessions. The representative of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be Walter E. Myers of Philadelphia, the general secretary. At the afternoon session, that starts at two o'clock, the program gives the conference theme as "Building With Christ" and after registration there will be a devotional period followed by Mr. Myers' address on "Building the County and District Program." An open forum will follow this address. After the announcements and song there will be a departmental conference period in charge of the county departmental superintendents.

At six o'clock there will be a Christian fellowship chicken dinner served by the ladies of the conference church to those having made reservation followed by the evening session at which time Secretary Myers will again speak and conduct a conference for pastors and Sabbath school superintendents to which those present are invited to listen in. At this evening session the presentation of an award will be made to the district having the best percentage of attendance of officers and departmental superintendents, based on enrollment.

War Greatest Problem Of Nationalism, Lions Informed By Dr. Russel

"Here is the greatest, the most urgent and the most baffling problem of all" was the pointed observation of Dr. E. B. Russell, professor of history at Westminster College, made as he talked the problem of war in a luncheon address on "Some Problems of Nationalism" before the Lions club on Tuesday.

"Nationalism makes for war," Dr. Russell added. "One more World War and our western civilization, as we know it, is almost sure to perish."

Only a short time before the college speaker had related three other major problems—baffling problems, too—and he was closing his address when he declared:

"War in the past has not been an unmitigated evil. There is scarcely a right or a freedom we enjoy which has not been secured at the cost of war. But wars of the past were waged by restless and belligerent spirits who enjoyed the fighting—not by entire peoples."

Why Not Abolish It?

"Why then do we not abolish it?" he asked, answering it himself, said it is "because the spirit of conflict and conquest is the very essence of modern nationalities."

One by one, the problems of nationalism were reduced by Dr. Russell to these: First, how to give the nation a conscience; second, the nation and its subject peoples; third, economic nationalism and world trade; and fourth, the nation and war.

"Reduced to its simplest form," continued the speaker, "the problem which confronts the peoples of the western world today is this: Can the individualistic societies and bourgeois governments of the western nations renounce uncontrolled acquisitive capitalism and diplomacy of power, profits and prestige to a sufficient degree to prevent the dissolution of the world in which they live? Can they curb national spirit sufficiently to achieve world unity and the social direction of economic activity before they are overwhelmed by the forces which have created the present order and which now threaten it with destruction? Upon the answer hinges the whole future of western civilization."

"A negative answer," he told the club, "does not mean a continuation of the present state of economic confusion. It means a progressive and accelerated disintegration of the world economy and a relapse into international anarchy and war. Out of the resulting chaos may emerge two things, either social revolution—the universal destruction of the old ways of life by a world rebellion of the industrial proletariat along lines foreshadowed by the present regime in Russia; or—and the alternative is quite as probable—western mankind may slip down into a long and bloody decline. Then those who survive will be reduced to ruder and more primitive ways of living which will seem barbarous and brutish by comparison with the vanished golden age of capitalism and nationalism. In either case the old order will perish."

The People Want Peace

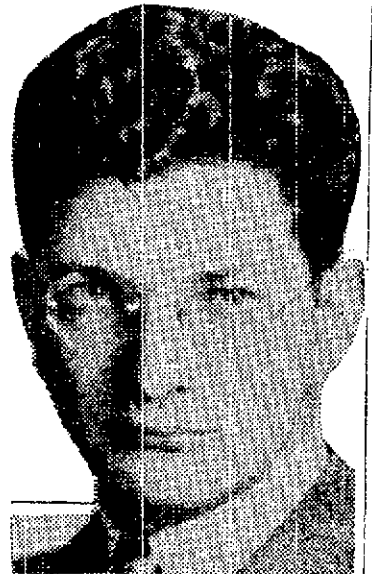

"The most hopeful augury," the Lions heard the speaker say, "is that this will not happen is that in all countries, with the possible exception of Germany and Hungary, the people want peace. Yes, the people want peace. But do they want it enough to be willing to surrender any portion of their national independence, or any of their perquisites of their precious nationalism? Are they willing to permit any diminution of sovereignty?"

Speaking of peace at the close, Dr. Russell concluded:

"Of one thing we can be sure. The world can have no real or lasting peace until national feeling has abated."

Making Survey On Local Credit

LOUIS R. BECKER

For the purpose of obtaining information regarding the availability of bank credit to small and moderately sized business establishments, and to compile facts upon which to base an intelligent program for the financing of small businesses, Louis R. Becker of Washington, D. C., is in New Castle today. He represents the treasury department, the RFC, the FDIC and the Federal Reserve board.

Mr. Becker is one of a number of investigators who are making a fact finding survey of the credit situation throughout the nation today. In his thoroughness he intends to interview business men and bankers. His information will be held in strict confidence and will not be given out not even to the internal revenue department.

The survey hopes to reveal to what extent the small business man is not getting loans. During his stay here, Mr. Becker will be at the Leslie hotel where he will be glad to interview persons who are interested.

All public and semi-public organizations serving the people have been invited to Trinity church next Sunday morning for the 11 o'clock service because it is Social Service Sunday. They include the judges, county commissioners, all other county officials and the members of their staffs, the mayor and council and the members of their departments, the board of education, the teachers of our public school system and all others connected with it. The leaders of all of the organizations mentioned above are cooperating enthusiastically.

Friday of this week is the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul as told in the Bible, the ninth chapters of the Book of Acts of the Apostles. There will be the holy communion in Trinity church at 8:30 a. m.

War Greatest Problem Of Nationalism, Lions Informed By Dr. Russel

"Here is the greatest, the most urgent and the most baffling problem of all" was the pointed observation Dr. E. B. Russell, professor of history at Westminster College, made as he talked the problem of war in a luncheon address on "Some Problems of Nationalism" before the Lions club on Tuesday.

"Nationalism makes for war," Dr. Russell added. "One more World War and our western civilization, as we know it, is almost sure to perish."

Only a short time before the college speaker had related three other major problems—baffling problems, too—and he was closing his address when he declared:

"War in the past has not been an unmitigated evil. There is scarcely a right or a freedom we enjoy which has not been secured at the cost of war. But wars of the past were waged by restless and belligerent spirits who enjoyed the fighting—not by entire peoples."

Why Not Abolish It? "Why then do we not abolish it?" he asked, answering it himself, said it is "because the spirit of conflict and conquest is the very essence of modern nationalism."

One by one, the problems of nationalism were reduced by Dr. Russell to these: First, how to give the nation a conscience; second, the nation and its subject peoples; third, economic nationalism and world trade; and fourth, the nation and war.

"Reduced to its simplest form," continued the speaker, "the problem which confronts the peoples of the western world today is this: Can the individualistic societies and bourgeois governments of the western nations renounce uncontrolled acquisitive capitalism and diplomacy of power, profits and prestige to a sufficient degree to prevent the dissolution of the world in which they live? Can they curb national spirit sufficiently to achieve world unity and the social direction of economic activity before they are overwhelmed by the forces which have created the present order and which now threaten it with destruction? Upon the answer hinges the whole future of western civilization."

"A negative answer," he told the club, "does not mean a continuation of the present state of economic confusion. It means a progressive and accelerated disintegration of the world economy and a relapse into international anarchy and war. Out of the resulting chaos may emerge two things, either social revolution—the universal destruction of the old ways of life by a world rebellion of the industrial proletariat along lines foreshadowed by the present regime in Russia, or—the alternate is quite as probable—western mankind may slip down into a long and bloody decline. Then those who survive will be reduced to rudimentary ways of living which will seem barbarous and brutish by comparison with the vanished golden age of capitalism and nationalism. In either case the old order will perish."

The People Want Peace "The most hopeful augury," the Lions heard the speaker say, "that this will not happen is that in all countries, with the possible exception of Germany and Hungary, the people want peace. Yes, the people want peace. But do they want it enough to be willing to surrender any portion of their national independence, or any of their prerogatives of their precious nationalism? Are they willing to permit any diminution of sovereignty?"

Speaking of peace at the close, Dr. Russell concluded:

"Of one thing we can be sure. The world can have no real or lasting peace until national feeling has abated."

Making Survey On Local Credit

LOUIS R. BECKER

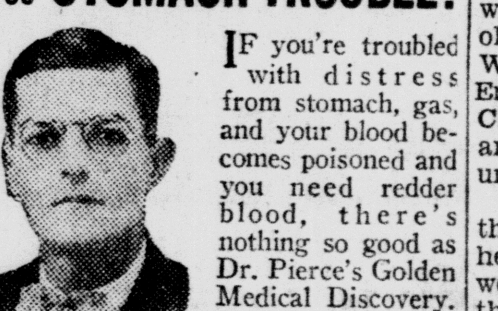

For the purpose of obtaining information regarding the availability of bank credit to small and moderately sized business establishments, and to compile facts upon which to base an intelligent program for the financing of small businesses, Louis R. Becker of Washington, D. C., is in New Castle today. He represents the treasury department, the RFC, the FDIC and the Federal Reserve board.

Mr. Becker is one of a number of investigators who are making a fact finding survey of the credit situation throughout the nation today. In his work here he intends to interview business men and bankers. His information will be held in strict confidence and will not be given out even to the internal revenue department.

The survey hopes to reveal to what extent the small business man is not getting loans. During his stay here, Mr. Becker will be at the Leslie hotel where he will be glad to interview persons who are interested.

Thank Heaven for Britain. She is having oil to sell us when all of ours is wasted.

PRESIDENT TO WIN ON HUGE WORK-RELIEF BILL

Caucus Votes For Roosevelt

President To Have Free Hand In Spending Of Huge Four Billion Fund

REVOLT MOVEMENT REPORTED BROKEN

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The $4,880,000,000 work relief bill will be placed before the House today after Mrs. Roosevelt's endorsement. President Roosevelt is expected to pass the measure tomorrow. The measure carries $4,000,000,000 to provide jobs for 3,500,000 persons now on relief and $880,000,000 for direct relief until the jobs plan starts. The huge Democratic majority was gained by a caucus vote to grant Mr. Roosevelt the huge sum with no strings attached. The leaders, however, weakened under the demands of revolting members, who demanded that the fund be "earmarked" for specific projects and opposed consideration under "legislation." Under the rule approved by the caucus by a vote of 190 to 42, members are forbidden to amend the first three sections of the bill, except on approval of the appropriations committee.

Members will be allowed to amend the sections giving the President authority to continue existing agencies until 1937 and establish agencies to handle the work program and the section providing penalties for violation of the act. The "gag" rule concession to the recalcitrants opens the way for a fight against Secretary of Interior Ickes. Resentful of his treatment of members of Congress in handling public works, threats were made to prevent the President from continuing the FWA.

Measure Would Postpone Tax Sales

House And Senate Committed To Speedy Adoption Of Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—Legislation making possible postponement of sheriff's sales of thousands of homes for taxes during the next two years was on the Senate calendar today, scheduled for a final vote next Tuesday.

Both Senate and House were committed to its passage by speedy adoption of the Cordier resolution, calling for postponement of tax sales which were set for next month throughout the state, and pledging enactment of enabling legislation.

The enabling bill, sponsored by Senator Benjamin Thompson, Westmoreland, provides that county sheriffs and treasurers, with consent to common pleas courts, shall postpone all tax sales until 1937. It will be given second reading in the upper chamber Monday night and go to the House Tuesday after final passage, which is virtually assured by the support from both Republicans and Democrats of the Cordier resolution.

In 1932 the legislature enacted similar legislation providing for postponement of tax sales for two years as an emergency measure considered necessary because of the depression.

A Day At Boulder Dam.
The Old Sioux Chief.
Huge Concrete Demand.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

GALLUP, N. M., Jan. 23.

THIS IS written between Flagstaff and Winslow, traveling along the high levels of Arizona, more than seven thousand feet above sea level. The hills and dark green trees are covered with snow, the sky is miraculously blue, the climate is worth more than all our gold and you ought to be told, once more, about these wondrous western lands of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Colorado.

But Sunday was devoted to the great Boulder Dam canyon, where in about ten days water will start slowly rising in the gigantic reservoir, and all space must be devoted to that marvel of engineering science.

THE AUTOMOBILE trip to the dam from the writer's ranch at Hodge, Cal., and back, a run of about four hundred miles across part of California and Nevada, was made "comfortably" by "Jimmy" Dixon, of Los Angeles, in six hours.

Every American may be proud of Boulder Dam, especially Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, in charge of the project, the "six companies," American contracting corporations that have combined to undertake the one hundred and sixty-five million dollar job, and F. T. Crowe, tail American from the Northwest, general superintendent of the job.

The contractors agreed to finish not later than January 1, 1938, and pay a forfeit of nine thousand dollars "damages" for every day delay.

The work will be finished in July this year, two and a half years ahead of time, the dam itself completed in thirty days, with water running into storage back of the dam within fifteen days. This extraordinary efficiency will mean millions for the government in increased and immediate receipts, and interest saved, but the contractors get no bonus to offset the "damages" clause.

Taxpayers will learn with joy that contracts already made for power with the city of Los Angeles, power companies of Southern California and others will pay for the dam, principal and interest within fifty years. It pays to improve the country.

MOST IMPRESSIVE, as you stand at the edge of the deep canyon, are the face of the giant dam structure, rising more than seven hundred and twenty-six feet from bed rock, and the faces of some old Sioux Indians, to whose ancestors this river once belonged, looking at work done by white men to harness their river and put it to work.

A fine face is that of the Sioux chief, nearly eighty years old. The racial stock in Asia that produced such a man might, with education and science back of it, come flying some day as Columbus came sailing, to take possession of these lands again, driving out effie whites, as the whites once drove out barbarians Indians.

You will observe, perhaps with gratitude, that nothing is said this time about airplane protection.)

THE OLD chief sees that the Colorado River, held by a coffer dam, far up in the river and forced to leave its natural bed, now flows through great tunnels in the solid rock on either side of the canyon, resuming its muddy course far below the dam, allowing the white men to work on dry land, that was once the river bed. Never again will the river choose its path.

Below the dam on the old river bed you see buildings for power development, where giant generators will produce one million eight hundred and thirty-five thousand horsepower, more than four times the power of Niagara.

Above the complicated machinery and the power houses will be erected, from wall to wall of the canyon, deeply anchored in the rock on each side, a protecting reinforced concrete roof, twenty-five feet thick, to be covered deeply with sand and gravel, fertile soil and growing grass, protecting the precious machinery from falling rock that might be shaken loose by earthquakes.

MEN ARE building there for one thousand years to come despite the fact that in a few centuries all this work may be obsolete as a sample of man's "primitive scientific work," and the earth's real power supply produced by harnessing the tides of the giant sun itself.

The wall of the dam six hundred and sixty feet thick at the base, tapers off to forty-five feet in width at the top. Water pressure is greater at the bottom of the dam because of the weight of water above it.

In the wall and the power plant there have been used four million, two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete, and contractors will want to know that pebbles as large as nine inches in diameter are used in the mixture.

Just above the dam, on government land, an inexhaustible bed of beautifully polished pebbles: was found ready for the work.

Water will cover that deposit when the dam is filled, but it might be dredged for future work, when other dams are built higher up the river to use power generated above the boulder level.

THE AMOUNT of concrete in that job, according to the Department of the Interior, would build a monument one hundred feet square, two and one-eighth miles in height.

Men will build such monuments some day, and vision of higher law, and the power of the air, allowing tenants to choose the climate and altitude they want, with airplane landings on top. What men can imagine they can do.

SECRETARY of the Interior Ickes informs the public that the concrete "used at Boulder Dam would build a standard sixteen foot wide paved highway reaching from Miami in Florida to Seattle in Washington."

This country will build many such roads in the years to come now that Franklin D. Roosevelt has taught the people how to spend money, and sections of the roads at intervals will be wide enough for airplane landings, the national slogan "Land your plane anywhere" from the northwestern tip of Alaska to Key West."

Across the top of the dam forty-five feet wide, a paved highway for automobiles will carry travelers from Nevada to Arizona, on the Arizona side a winding road will lead to the top of the canyon."

GOOD BASEBALL MANAGERS

If you happen to have a long evening sometime with nothing to do, just start a discussion in regular Hot Slave League fashion of what the requisites are for good baseball managers. Then you can use as examples Rogers Hornsby, Connie Mack, John McGraw, Frank Frisch, Bill Terry, Mickey Cochrane or any of the others whom you may hold in high regard.

Compare John McGraw with Connie Mack, for instance. Both have always been regarded as among the best in the business yet the methods employed by each were always as far apart as the poles of the earth.

Should a successful manager shame the players with ridicule and a harsh tongue in driving a team toward a pennant? Should he, by hiring detectives, see that the players observe training rules strictly? John McGraw did it and he won quite a few pennants.

On the other hand, however, Connie Mack, instead of holding a player up to ridicule, would try to coax ability out of a player. Instead of playing detectives to see that the proper hour he is more apt to put the players on their honor. And Connie, too, has had a very successful career.

St. Louis is quite satisfied with the managerial ability of Rogers Hornsby, and Bill Terry seems to have done a pretty good job in New York. Compare their outspoken and blunt manner with the more conservative attitude of the late Miller Huggins. Terry and Hornsby are good but they haven't as yet proved that they will be as successful as the former Yankee manager.

It is a question of whether or not any other players didn't like him. Babe Ruth as Huggins did. Remember when he was the New York manager. Ruth, besides being at the peak of his career, was one of the game's playboys.

Most critics advise managers to pattern their system after that of Connie Mack or Miller Huggins. Yet, not only did John McGraw have a successful career, but Frank Frisch, the man who is said to follow McGraw's methods closer than anyone else, comes along and wins a pennant with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rogers Hornsby wasn't a success as a Cub manager because it is claimed, the players didn't like his iron-handed rule. Over in Cleveland, however, it is said that many of the players take advantage of the easy-going Walter Johnson.

So just how are baseball managers to become successful? The only foolproof advice that can be given apparently is to play ball games. Connie Mack, Bill Terry, Frank Frisch, etc., may employ different methods, but they do one thing in common, they all win quite a few games.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
Ossie Solem signed a four-year contract to coach the University of Iowa football team at a reported figure of $2,500 annually. The contract was signed 10 days ago but did not become known until today.

Kinney Matsuyama of New York won the National three-cushion billiard championship by defeating Alfredo De Oro, 50 to 31 in 42 innings.

Police Head Makes Arrangements To Secure Site For Show

USE PROFITS TO BUY EQUIPMENT

For the first time since the Cathedral was built a boxing show will be staged in the auditorium February 13, according to Chief of Police John E. Haven, who stated today that the proceeds from the show will be applied to the purchase of equipment for the police department.

According to plans made, the ring will be placed on the spacious stage, which is one of the largest in the United States. There will be some ringside seats on the stage. Other seats will be sold on the first and second floors of the auditorium.

Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, made the matches for the last police show and today Haven will confer with Fritz relative to matches and other details of a boxing show.

Gersons To Play At Andover, Ohio

Gersons basketball team will go to Andover, Ohio tonight for a basketball battle with the American Legion quintet of the Ohio city. The following Gersons players are asked by Manager Paulie Bayan to meet at the "Y" at 6 o'clock to make the trip: Reiber, Huff, Teplica, Shaffer, Kearns, Meider, Travers, Bately and Coach "Fritz" Fraser.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Governor Earle met with the commission that governs wrestling and boxing in Harrisburg yesterday and it is probable that the solons will keep a sharp eye on professional wrestling. The governor implied that he wanted the commission to eliminate faking from the catch-as-catch-can sport. Wrestling of today and yesterday has changed considerably. Today's brand is filled with hippodroming but the game as conducted in the east pays because the spectators apparently want the hippodroming. Most of the professional mat bouts are advertised as exhibitions.

Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight champion of boxers, knocked out Irving Klausner in the eighth round at Rio Janerio last night.

Bob Coe, Peoria, Ill., set a marathon record of 450 holes of continuous golf play at Los Angeles then entered a hospital with badly swollen ankles.

Ohio State U paid to the government as its share of the admission a tax of $21,568.65.

GOOD BASEBALL MANAGERS

If you happen to have a long evening sometime with nothing to do, just start a discussion in regular Hot Stove League fashion of what the requisites are for good baseball managers. Then you can use as examples Rogers Hornsby, Connie Mack, John McGraw, Frank Frisch, Bill Terry, Mickey Cochrane or any of the others whom you may hold in high regard.

Compare John McGraw with Connie Mack, for instance. Both have always been regarded as among the best in the business yet the methods employed by each were always as far apart as the poles of the earth.

Should a successful manager shame the players with ridicule and a harsh tongue in driving a team toward a pennant? Should he, by hiring detectives, see that the players observe training rules strictly? John McGraw did it and he won quite a few pennants.

On the other hand, however, Connie Mack, instead of holding a player up to ridicule, would try to coax ability out of a player. Instead of hiring detectives to see that the players were getting to bed at the proper hour he is more apt to put the players on their honor. And Connie, too, has had a very successful career.

St. Louis is quite satisfied with the managerial ability of Rogers Hornsby, and Bill Terry seems to have done a pretty good job in New York. Compare their outspoken and blunt manner with the more conservative attitude of the late Miller Huggins. Terry and Hornsby are good but they haven't as yet proved that they will be as successful as the former Yankee manager.

It is a question of whether or not any other man could have handled Babe Ruth as Huggins did. Remember when he was the New York manager. Ruth, besides being at the peak of his career, was one of the game's playboys.

Most critics advise managers to pattern their system after that of Connie Mack or Miller Huggins. Yet not only did John McGraw have a successful career, but Frank Frisch, the man who is said to follow McGraw's methods closer than anyone else, comes along and wins a pennant with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rogers Hornsby wasn't a success as a Cub manager because, it is claimed, the players didn't like his iron-handed rule. Over in Cleveland, however, it is said that many of the players take advantage of the easy-going Walter Johnson.

So just how are baseball managers to become successful? The only fool-proof advice that can be given apparently is "Win ball games." Connie Mack, Bill Terry, Frank Frisch, etc., may employ different methods, but they do one thing in common, they all win quite a few games.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Ossie Solem signed a four-year contract to coach the University of Iowa football team at a reported figure of $8,500 annually. The contract was signed 10 days ago but did not become known until today.

Kinney Matsuyama of New York won the National three-cushion billiard championship by defeating Alfredo De Oro, 50 to 31 in 42 innings.

Boston Braves May Be Sold To Oklahoma Man

Lew Wentz Said To Be Interested In Buying Boston Team With Ruth As Manager

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Not wishing to appear as though I'm studying up to be Boston correspondent, but, on top of the intimation yesterday that somebody wants to sell the Boston Braves to Mr. Ruth while his back is turned, I learn today that the club was offered not too long ago to Lew Wentz, the Oklahoma millionaire. The latter is the gentleman who came so close to buying the St. Louis Cardinals that they had the books out on the table and were calling for the notary.

But, quite of a sudden, Mr. Wentz stepped down to the corner or something for a lime and lithia and forgot to come back, with the result that somebody in the National league brightly thought of an alternative. They would match millionaire Yawkey in Boston with millionaire Wentz in St. Louis.

He was, they say, willing to pay as high as $5,000,000 for the Cardinals and his various affiliations out through the shrubbery. But Mr. Wentz didn't get rich by buying properties in which the current owners have no more than a nominal idea of what happened to the supply of scratch pads, as of last Wednesday a week.

Carnegie Tech Defeats W. & J.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 23.—Carnegie Tech's floor squad marked up its third straight victory today as they returned from Washington with a 51-30 victory over Washington and Jefferson's cagers.

Although Tech's second string started operations, the first team was thrown into action after five minutes of the first half and from then on had control of the situation. By half time, they had shoved the count to 22-10.

Grove City Trips Clarion 22 To 21

(International News Service)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 23.—Grove City's basketballers today had succeeded in defeating the Clarion Teachers, 22 to 21, in one of the wildest thrillers ever seen in this section.

The lead shifted throughout the game and the regular session found the score tied at 19-19. In the overtime, the lead continued to see-saw and it was not until 45 seconds remained that Chapman put the game on ice for the Groves with a field goal.

Boxing Show At Cathedral

Police Head Makes Arrangements To Secure Site For Show

USE PROFITS TO BUY EQUIPMENT

For the first time since the Cathedral was built a boxing show will be staged in the auditorium February 13, according to Chief of Police John F. Haven, who stated today that the proceeds from the show will be applied to the purchase of equipment for the police department.

Last summer the department of police staged a big boxing show at Franklin field and the show was a success both from a boxing and financial viewpoint. Wishing to add further equipment to the department without obtaining the money from taxes another boxing show will be staged.

According to plans made, the ring will be placed on the spacious stage, which is one of the largest in the United States. There will be some ringside seats on the stage. Other seats will be sold on the first and second floors of the auditorium.

Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, made the matches for the last police show and today Haven will confer with Fritz relative to matches and other details of a boxing show.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Governor Earle met with the commission that governs wrestling and boxing in Harrisburg yesterday and it is probable that the solons will keep a sharp eye on professional wrestling. The governor implied that he wanted the commission to eliminate faking from the catch-as-catch-can sport. Wrestling of today and yesterday has changed considerably. Today's brand is filled with hippodroming but the game as conducted in the east pays because the spectators apparently want the hippodroming. Most of the professional mat bouts are advertised as exhibitions.

Primo Camera, former world's heavyweight champion of boxers, knocked out Irving Klausner in the eighth round at Rio Janerio last night.

Bob Coy, Peoria, Ill., set a marathon record of 459 holes of continuous golf play at Los Angeles then entered a hospital with badly swollen ankles.

Ohio State U paid to the government as its share of the admission a tax of $21,568.65.

New Brighton Leads Section

New Brighton High School basketball team with a 25 to 21 upset of the strong Aliquippa High team last night at the New Brighton floor, took the lead in the Section Three championship race. It is such a tough fight this year that four teams are tied for second place.

In other games last night Ambridge High bested Ellwood City High 51 to 23, and Beaver Falls topped the Butler High quintet at Butler floor 23 to 19. Butler missed the star guard Webster, who was declared out due to scholastic difficulties.

New Castle High was idle in the league last night, but will play Butler here Saturday of this week.

Titans Play Pitt Tonight

Basketball Classic Of Local Season Starts In Pitt Gym At 8

WESTMINSTER IS CRIPPLED FOR GAME

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 23.—Westminster college basketball players are confronted with two stiff tests: They play the Pitt Panthers tonight at Pittsburgh, and first semester final examinations start on Thursday morning!

The Titans hope to make as good a showing against Pitt as they did last year, although fans believe that Dr. Carlson has too much reserve power for the Westminster five. Certainly Pitt will have the edge in size of players and in playing on their own court.

Cach John Lawther will probably start Sweeney and Willits at the forwards, Bennett at center and Wilhelm and Hunneke at the guards. John Wilhelm will be acting captain of the team, a job he has had in the majority of contests this season.

What Lawther terms his "man-for-man, cross-checking, zone" defense will come in for a busy evening because the Pitt five is not only big but fast. The Panthers can smash through any defense by sheer power and weight. As a result, the Titans will have to be "on" in their shooting in order to match the last Carlson team.

Dr. Carlson will probably start Hughes and Cribbs at the forwards, Noon at center and Emrich and Rodrick at the guards. Officials for the contest are Sam Kistler, referee, and H. M. Allison, umpire.

Zelenople And Karns City Win League Battles

Zelenople High topped the Evans City High quintet last night at the Evans City High floor in a Section 18 league game 17 to 12. The Zelenople High team leads the section by a fine margin. In another league encounter at Slippery Rock floor the Karns City High quintet upset Slippery Rock 28 to 22, Mars bested Union here 33 to 17 in the other sectional game.

Motor Fund Diversion Means Discrimination

Additional reasons for opposition to the diversion of motor license funds were given today by Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club. The statement of Mr. Bolsinger follows:

Diversion of motor tax revenues to other than road-building purposes is one of the most serious evils threatening highway transportation, and all diversion proposals will be vigorously opposed at the forthcoming sessions of the legislatures. Pointing out that there are widely differing estimates of the amount of motor taxes now diverted each year. Official figures indicate that the total is well over $100,000,000 a year, that considerable more than half the total is represented in diversion from gasoline taxes and the balance from registration fees. The New Castle Motor Club listed the following effects of diversion: It subjects motorists to duplicate taxation by imposing on them as a class an unjust and disproportionate share of the cost of government. Motor taxes are special levies for a special purpose, and to use receipts otherwise is rank discrimination.

Diversion results in the boosting of motor taxes beyond reasonable limits and the imposition of taxes out of ratio to costs. Diversion endangers the road bonded indebtedness of the states. Diversion jeopardizes the large investments in highways, as it leads to neglect of roads and the postponing of necessary maintenance.

As a result of the above, diversion adds to the hazards on the highway. Diversion results in road funds becoming a political "pork barrel". Diversion of road funds to other governmental purposes, however worthy, tends to delay the overhauling of tax structure in the interest of those who pay motor taxes.

STOCKS

Stock Market
Is UnsettledMarket Heavy Despite
Strength Shown In Individual Issues

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The stock market was heavy today despite strength in individual issues, particularly U. S. Steel preferred and General Electric.

Unsettling influence was weakness in the rails.

Little attention was paid to the further rise in steel operations and in power output to the second best figure in 4 years.

Large-scale buying again appeared in General Electric, but the gain was only fractional. Westinghouse was firm.

Passage of the new "hot oil" control bill by the senate brought a firm tone to the petroleum issues.

Motor stocks continued heavy despite the high rate of output in the industry. Farm shares were mixed with Sears Roebuck under pressure.

Utilities were firm aided by the bullish power production figures. Aviation was easy.

The personnel of the board is composed of T. F. Morehead, J. N. Jarvis, E. Ballard, D. S. Pyle and E. W. Beadel. The directors will elect officers at the next meeting.

The Shenango Valley Improvement company, which is the organization that reclaimed the swamp land near New Castle junction and through the use of granulated slag as a filler, built a 350 acre factory site there.

STEEL OPERATIONS JUMP
(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 23.—Probability that Youngstown steel operations, now at 64 per cent of capacity, will jump soon to break depression period records was seen today with the announcement that Youngstown Sheet & Tube company is preparing to open its Brier Hill works, closed more than four years.

Nations are like individuals. The continuation of the war is very offensive to those who have enough.

ELLWOOD HIGH CLASS
GRADUATED TUESDAYCapacity Crowd Sees Class
Of 85 Receive Diplomas
After Splendid ProgramW. AND J. PRESIDENT
DELIVERS ADDRESSDr. Hutchinson Urges Class
To Adapt Selves To New Trend And Code
Of Ethics

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Given a frank and an astonishingly true account of the present day standards of living, a class of 85 seniors received their diplomas at the commencement exercises in the Lincoln Auditorium Tuesday evening, and prepared to make the best of their knowledge in the world.

Impressive Program
A capacity crowd witnessed one of the most impressive and interesting commencement programs held here. The timely address of Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, president of Washington and Jefferson College, will be given to the graduates of Ellwood City High School.

In its traditional solemn gray caps and gowns the class of 85 was seated on the stage, which was beautifully decorated with ferns. They presented a spectacle of dignity and attainment.

Salutatory Address
Miss Jones extended a hearty greeting and welcome to the assembly in behalf of the class. She thanked the parents and local public for their silent influence and guiding hand in making their education possible. Going into her subject Miss Jones told of the woman's uphill fight to gain recognition. The greatest inequality of woman to man was that in the field of medicine.

In the old days woman who aspired to be a physician was ridiculed. If she acquired knowledge in this field she was usually advised to confine her practice to nursing. It was not until the age of specialization and the development of modern treatment and surgery that woman got her opportunity. Today they take their place with the best of men. The skillful and scientific development of medicine opened up new roads for them. Miss Jones pointed out that if their knowledge was not used for a practice, it could be applied for other practical purposes. She named a number of women who have attained distinction in this field, who have comforted and relieved humanity. The profession is a challenge to modern young women, Miss Jones declared.

The Valedictory
Robert Arthur Sprague, the valedictorian, spoke on the subject "The Old and the New in War." He stated that war is the greatest of human faults. Through the greed and selfishness of mankind, war has been made inevitable. He urged the young people to disregard and rise up against the flow of war propaganda, for it will be they that will bear the brunt of the burden. He declared that due to the astonishing development of war implements and equipment, civilization would be annihilated in the next war. Since it seems that war is inevitable, the question now is, is America prepared?

He then turned to the class and wished them success in their chosen fields and pointed out that they were in a position to make their own destiny.

Preceding the commencement address by Dr. Hutchinson, a trombone solo was given by Alexander Exposito.

The principal speaker of the evening was introduced by Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong. After speaking a few words Dr. Hutchinson had the undivided attention of the assembly. He aroused the curiosity and interest of those present at the same time, in the clever manner he began his talk. Once swinging to the main body of his address, he was the sole attraction. It was soon evident that life would be "no bed of roses" for the graduates when they left the school portals.

Dr. Hutchinson Speaks.
Dr. Hutchinson likened the lives of the graduates to the "Toonerville Trolley that meets all trains," that is, life was adapted to them and their particular needs from childhood until their graduation. Parents would pattern their lives to meet their certain need, and more often than not were sacrificing something. The Toonerville Trolley was the same, he declared, adapting itself to the needs of the community. In school the same principle was carried out, where the teacher adapted herself to the speed of assimilating knowledge of her pupils, so that they could be properly educated. Often as not it was slowing up the work.

Now at commencement they have reached the most important part in their education, and this occasion is never been over-emphasized, he asserted. The members of the class have now reached the end of the Toonerville Trolley line, where it meets the railroad system. Hence everything will be on schedule like the trains. There will be no waiting. They must now adapt themselves to the needs and conditions of a community. Those who still wait for the Toonerville Trolley will be left hopelessly behind. Business is independent and will go on without them. The same thing applies to college where one must adapt himself to a uniform schedule. The stragglers are sent home. The speaker did not mince words. He stated to the class, some of you will succeed and others will be miserable failures. To succeed you must know what society demands today and adapt to it.

Demand of Society
Dr. Hutchinson then went on and gave four demands of present day society. The first of these, honesty, our parents did not have to meet. Today absolute honesty and integrity are essential. In the olden days dishonest people were graduated from high schools and colleges, that is, those who did not study enough to get through. These were placed in offices, banks and industries of our country. At that time it was estimated that there were 20 jobs to a man. They had to be employed. The result was a period of corruption. Today banks and industries failed. Today the situation is reversed. There are 20 men for one job. The employer makes a very careful selection. A man with the best qualifications whose honesty and integrity are impeccable, is invariably selected.

The second demand of society is scholarship. You cannot get thru today without scholarship. Diplomas in themselves are worthless, the speaker asserted. When work was in abundance they had to be accepted, but today employers endeavor to look into the minds of the applicants. Only those with evident knowledge and scholarship are selected.

Culture is the third demand. No more crude, coarse and coldly skillful men, whose souls are not attuned to life, are accepted. One must have knowledge and feeling for his work or be ignored.

Reverence of God is the fourth demand. "A new day in religion is coming," the speaker predicted. The man who recognizes the spiritual element in life can better appreciate life. Life is spiritual and the sooner one recognizes this fact, the better off he will be. Men and women in search of God with open minds, will be in demand. This causes inspiration, love of beauty and life. All the evidence of God is around us and it remains for us to pay Him due homage.

These four requisites will always be in demand while there are more people than jobs.

In closing, Dr. Hutchinson expressed one wish and prayer, that in time to come no one will be found waiting for the Toonerville Trolley, and that they have embodied the four above requisites in their being in order to gain a finite objectivity.

The address was followed with an overture by the orchestra. Principal Ralph C. Shaffer then presented the class as the diplomas were awarded by Supt. DeLong. The program closed with the pronouncement of benediction by the Rev. J. A. King.

First Half In
Shelby League
To End TonightFinishing To Meet Office In
First Game; Inspection,
Mechanical Clash

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12.—First half in the Shelby Inter-Department basketball league will come to a close tonight when the final two games will be played at the auditorium.

In the first game the Finishing will meet the weakened Office and expect to breeze through to a victory and maintain their tie for first place with the Inspection. On the other hand the Inspection is in extreme danger when they meet the Mechanism in the second game, judging from recent performances. Inspection is taking no chances and will have their strongest line-up available for the game.

If both teams come through as expected there will be a playoff for the first half championship.

Ellwood Swamped
By Ambridge HighRubenstein's Passers Have
Field Day As They Win,
51-23, Last NightVICTORS GOOD IN
FOUL SHOOTING

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Through their superior height and uncanny shooting from the foul line, Ellwood City high was swamped at Ambridge by a 51-23 score by a Rubenstein coached quint Tuesday evening.

Ambridge simply towered above the Ellwoodians, who found it difficult to gain possession of the ball. Besides this, the Tubers were further handicapped by a low ceiling at the Ambridge gym, which spoiled many of their shots. Ambridge's victory was not so impressive as the score indicates. It seemed that they had an "on day," and besides making shots from all angles of the court, displayed an uncanny ability from the foul line, from where they registered 19 out of 25 shots.

Ellwood started out fine, but were not able to maintain the pace. The advantage held by the home team began to tell on them. The score was 9-6 for Ambridge in the first quarter and 13-12 at half time. In the ensuing two periods Ambridge went to work with real seriousness. The count was 34-19 at the end of the third quarter and 51-23 final.

Spadafors and Mallow were the big guns in the Ambridge attack. Captain Robuck was high scorer for Ellwood.

In the preliminary game the Ellwood High Reserves were trimmed by the Ambridge Reserves, 33-12. Howarth and Sweeney were outstanding for the victors. Metz was best for the losers.

Ellwood will be idle for the remainder of the week.

FOR J. G. McKIMFuneral Services Are Held For Pioneer Citizen Here Tuesday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—John Glenn McKim, 58, who passed away last Sunday morning at the local hospital, was laid to his final rest in the Locust Grove cemetery, Tuesday afternoon.

A private funeral service was held from the late home on Park avenue. Many floral tributes were in evidence, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held here. A simple but yet impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the U. P. church, which the deceased had served, and had been a staunch member for over a quarter of a century. A quartet composed of Miss Ruth Lersch, Miss Gertrude Jones, Frank Gross, Sr. and Emmet Liebenroder, and Miss Irene Rounour, pianist, rendered "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break." Rev. Minter then read some appropriate scripture selections. Rev. Charles Z. Bell made a prayer and the quartet gave an a cappella selection, "The Lord's My Shepherd." Rev. Minter then gave a touching and fitting sermon from the text, "For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep."

The pallbearers were six members of the session of the U. P. church, in which organization the deceased was active. They were Ed. Harbison, James Boyd, James Brown, Harry Young, Hillard King and J. E. VanGorder.

His nephews, Ralph McKim, Dr. Irwin McKim, Bob McKim, Charles McKim, Tom McKim, Braden McKim, Elmer McKim, and Paul Whitehall, were honorary pallbearers.

Organizations attending the services were the Session, Berean class, King's Daughter class, Martha Cossom class, the choir, and poet office by class. There were 48 immediate relatives present, and also members representing the above organizations from Ellwood City, Knox Pa., Shippensburg, Pa., Wilkesburg, Pa., Wampum, New Galilee and Knox Valley, Pa.

STOCKS

Strength Shown In Individual Issues

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The stock market was heavy today despite strength in individual issues, particularly U. S. Steel preferred and General Electric.

Unsettling influence was weakness in the rails.

Little attention was paid to the further rise in steel operations and in power output to the second best figure in 4 years.

Large-scale buying again appeared in General Electric, but the gain was only fractional. Westinghouse was firm.

Passage of the new "hot oil" control bill by the senate brought a firm tone to the petroleum issues.

Motor stocks continued heavy despite the high rate of output in the industry. Farm shares were mixed with Sears Roebuck under pressure.

Utilities were firm aided by the bullish power production figures. Aviation was easy.

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Given a frank and an astonishingly true account of the present day standards of living, a class of 85 seniors received their diplomas at the commencement exercises of the Ellwood City High School in the Lincoln Auditorium Tuesday evening, and prepared to make the best of their knowledge in the world.

Impressive Program
A capacity crowd witnessed one of the most impressive and interesting commencement programs held here. The timely address of Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, president of Washington and Jefferson College, will be classed as one of the most remarkable given in this city. It was immensely interesting and enlightening.

In its traditional solemn gray caps and gowns the class of 85 was seated on the stage, which was beautifully decorated with ferns. They presented a spectacle of dignity and attainment.

A well prepared program marked the occasion. After a number by the High School orchestra under the direction of Prof. Paul Winter, the invocation was given by the Rev. R. L. Little. This was followed with the salutatory address on "Woman in the Medical Profession" by Miss Gertrude Ann Jones.

Salutatory Address
Miss Jones extended a hearty greeting and spoke of the responsibility of woman to the world. She thanked the parents and local public for their silent influence and guiding hand in making their education possible. Going into her subject, Miss Jones told of the woman's fight for recognition. The greatest inequality of woman to man was that in the field of medicine. In the old days a woman who aspired to be a physician was ridiculed. If she acquired knowledge in this field she was usually advised to confine her practice to nursing. It was not until the age of specialization and the development of modern treatment and surgery that woman got her opportunity. Today they take their place with the best of men. The skillful and scientific development of medicine opened up new roads for them. Miss Jones pointed out that if their knowledge was not used for a practice, it could be applied to other practical purposes. She named a number of women who have attained distinction in this field, who have comforted and relieved humanity. The profession is a challenge to modern young women, Miss Jones declared.

The Valedictory
Robert Arthur Sprague, the valedictorian, spoke on the subject "The Old and the New in War." He stated that war is the greatest of human faults. Through the greed and selfishness of mankind, war has been made inevitable. He urged the young people to disregard and rise up against the flow of war propaganda, for it will be they that will bear the brunt of the burden. He declared that due to the astonishing development of war implements and equipment, civilization would be annihilated in the next war. Since it seems that war is inevitable, the question now is, is America prepared?

He then turned to the class and wished them success in their chosen fields and pointed out that they were in a position to make their own destiny.

Preceding the commencement address by Dr. Hutchinson, a trombone solo was given by Alexander Exposito.

The principal speaker of the evening was introduced by Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong. After speaking a few words Dr. Hutchinson had the undivided attention of the assemblage. He aroused the curiosity and interest of those present at the same time, in the clever manner he began his talk. Once swinging to the main body of his address, he was the sole attraction. It was soon evident that life would be "no bed of roses" for the graduates when they left the school portals.

Dr. Hutchinson Speaks
Dr. Hutchinson likened the lives of the graduates to the "Toonerville Trolley that meets all trains," that is, life was adapted to them and their particular needs from childhood until their graduation. Parents would pattern their lives to meet their certain need, and more often than not were sacrificing something. The Toonerville Trolley was the same, he declared, adapting itself to the needs of the community. In school the same principle was carried out, where the teacher adapted herself to the speed of assimilating knowledge of her pupils, so that they could be properly educated. Often as not it was slowing up the work.

Now at the commencement they have reached the most important part in their education, and this occasion is never been over-emphasized, he asserted. The members of the class have now reached the end of the Toonerville Trolley line where it meets the railroad system. Hence everything will be on schedule like the trains. There will be no waiting. They must now adapt themselves to the needs and conditions of a community. Those who still wait for the Toonerville Trolley will be left hopelessly behind. Business is indispensable and will go on without them. The same thing applies to college where one must adapt himself to a uniform schedule. The stragglers are sent home. The speaker did not mince words. He stated to the class, "some of you will succeed and others will be miserable failures. To succeed you know what society demands today and be able to meet it."

Demands Of Society
Dr. Hutchinson then went on and gave four demands of present day society. The first of these, honesty, he stated, was the most important. Today absolute honesty and integrity are essential. In the olden days dishonest people were graduated from high schools and colleges, that is, those who did not study enough to get through. These were placed in offices, banks and industries of our country. At that time it was estimated that there were 20 jobs to a man. They had to be employed. The result was a period of corruption—banks and industries failed. Today the situation is reversed. There are 20 men for one job. The employer makes a very careful selection. A man with the best qualifications whose honesty and integrity are impeccable, is invariably selected.

The second demand of society is scholarship. You cannot get through today without study. Diplomas in themselves are worthless, the speaker asserted. When work was in abundance they had to be accepted, but today employers endeavor to look into the minds of the applicants. Only those with evident knowledge and scholarship are selected.

The third demand of society is more crude, coarse and coldly kind. No man, whose soul is not attuned to life, are accepted. One must have knowledge and feeling for his work or be ignored.

Reverence of God is the fourth demand. "A new day in religion is coming," the speaker predicted. The man who recognizes the spiritual element in life can better appreciate it. Life is spiritual and the sooner one recognizes this fact, the better off he will be. Men and women in search of God with open minds, will be in demand. This causes inspiration, love of beauty and life. All the evidence of God is around us and it remains for us to pay Him due homage.

These four requisites will always be in demand while there are more people than jobs.

In closing, Dr. Hutchinson expressed one wish and prayer, that in time to come no one will be found waiting for the Toonerville Trolley, and that they have embodied the four above requisites in their being in order to gain a definite objective.

The address was followed with an overture by the orchestra. Principal Ralph C. Shaffer then presented the class as the diplomas were awarded by Supt. DeLong. The program closed with the pronouncement of benediction by the Rev. J. A. King.

First Half In
Shelby League
To End TonightFinishing To Meet Office In
First Game; Inspection,
Mechanical Clash

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 12.—First half in the Shelby Inter-Departmental basketball league will come to a close tonight when the final two games will be played at the auditorium.

In the first game the Finishing will meet the weakened Office and expect to breeze through to a victory and maintain their tie for first place with the Inspection. On the other hand the Inspection is in extreme danger when they meet the Mechan. In the second game, judging from recent performances, Inspection is taking no chances and will have their strongest line-up available for the game.

If both teams come through as expected there will be a playoff for the first half championship.

AMANDA CHRISTIE IS CLUB HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Miss Amanda Christie dispensed delightful hospitality to the members of her club last night at her home on First avenue. Her sister, Mary Evelyn, and Miss Helen Newman were special guests.

The evening hours were whittled away around two tables of bridge. Miss Kay Wilson and Miss Kay Henderson received the high score awards at the conclusion of the games.

At an appointed hour an appetizing luncheon was served by the hostess with the assistance of her mother. Valentine appointments were used about the home. The club plans to meet again in three weeks.

Ellwood Swamped
By Ambridge HighRubenstein's Passers Have
Field Day As They Win,
51-23, Last NightVICTORS GOOD IN
FOUL SHOOTINGELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Through their superior height and uncanny shooting from the foul line, Ellwood City high was swamped at Ambridge by a 51-23 score by a Rubenstein coached quint Tuesday evening.

Ambridge simply towered above the Ellwoodians, who found it difficult to gain possession of the ball. Besides this, the Tubers were further handicapped by a low ceiling at the Ambridge gym, which spoiled many of their shots. Ambridge's victory was not so impressive as the score indicates. It seemed that they had an "on day", and besides making shots from all angles of the court, displayed an uncanny ability from the foul line, from where they registered 19 out of 25 shots.

Ellwood started out fine, but were not able to maintain the pace. The advantage held by the home team soon began to tell on them. The score was 9-6 for Ambridge in the first quarter and 13-12 at half time. In the ensuing two periods Ambridge went to work with real seriousness. The count was 34-19 at the end of the third quarter and 51-23 final.

Spadafore and Mallow were the big guns in the Ambridge attack. Captain Robuck was high scorer for Ellwood.

In the preliminary game the Ellwood High Reserves were trimmed by the Ambridge Reserves, 33-12. Howarth and Sweeney were outstanding for the victors. Metz was best for the losers.

Ellwood will be idle for the remainder of the week.

HOLD LAST RITES
FOR J. G. McKIMFuneral Services Are Held For
Pioneer Citizen Here Tuesday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—John Glenn McKim, 59, who passed away last Sunday morning at the local hospital, was laid to his final rest in the Locust Grove cemetery, Tuesday afternoon.

A private funeral service was held from the late home on Park avenue. Many floral tributes were in evidence showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held here.

A simple but yet impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the U. P. church, which the deceased had served, and had been a staunch member for over a quarter of a century. A quartet composed of Miss Ruth Lersch, Miss Gertrude Jones, Frank Gross, Sr. and Emmet Liebenfelder, and Miss Irene Rountour, pianist, rendered, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break." Rev. Minter then read some appropriate scripture selections. Rev. Charles Z. Bell made a prayer and the quartet gave another selection, "The Lord's My Shepherd." Rev. Minter then gave a touching and fitting sermon from the text, "For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep."

Thirteen pallbearers were six members of the session of the U. P. church, in which the organization of the deceased was active. They were Ed. Harbison, James Boyd, James Brown, Harry Young, Hillard King and E. VanGorder.

His nephews, Ralph McKim, Dr. Irwin McKim, Bob McKim, Charles McKim, Tom McKim, Braden McKim, Elmer McKim and Paul Whitehall, were honorary pallbearers.

Organizations attending the services were the Session, Berean class, King's Daughter class, Martha Cosbey class, the choir, and post office employees. There were 48 immediate relatives present and also members representing the above organizations from Ellwood City, Knox Pa., Shippenville, Pa., Wilkesburg, Pa., Wampum, New Galilee and Enon Valley, Pa.

CAT SAVES 3 LIVES

VIENNA—The piteous crying of a cat outside the closed door of an apartment here aroused the attention of the hall porter who broke open the door. Inside he found a room filled with gas, and lying in chairs were Franz Dieberger, aged 65, his wife Wilhelmima and their 24-year-old son, Hans. All were unconscious. The cat was "adequately rewarded."

Yet old-timers can remember when the fat sisters looked down on the skinny one because no man would have her.

Even by airplane it takes a month to cross the country: two days to travel and 28 to earn the fare.

More Witnesses Being Heard In Pottsville Case

Seek To Disprove Contention
Of State That
Joseph Bruno Fired
On Marchers

(International News Service)
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—Additional witnesses whose testimony is relied upon to prove the self-defense contention were to be called to the stand today in the trial of Joseph J. Bruno for murder in connection with the election eve massacre in the small mountain village of Kelayres.

Through these witnesses the defense hopes to convince the jury of ten men and two women in Schuylkill county court that the firing which emanated from the Bruno home on the fateful night of November 5 was precipitated by an attack of the Democratic paraders. Bruno, 50-year-old Kelayres Republican "boss," is on trial for the slaying of Frank Florella, one of the five Democratic marchers who fell dead in the massacre. He is also under indictment, charged with murder in connection with the other four deaths. Six of his relatives, including his two sons, are in county prison, also charged with the five killings.

Witnesses Summoned.
Five witnesses were summoned by the defense battery of attorneys yesterday. They swore that the Democratic marchers hurled stones at the Bruno home and fired shots before five of their number were killed and 14 wounded in a hail of bullets pouring out of the house.

Later the defense intends to introduce testimony in an effort to substantiate Bruno's alibi that he was talking on the telephone at the time prosecution witnesses said they saw him firing a gun from an upstairs window.

President's Ball Plans Progress

Tickets For Event On January
30 Are In Big
Demand

Plans for the President's Ball were advanced materially Tuesday night when the general committee met in the Y. M. C. A. with General Chairman W. Walter Braham. The various committees reported their activities and several new angles of exploitation were developed.

It was announced that both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies would send birthday telegrams to the president on January 30 for a set price of twenty-five cents each. All of the money collected for the telegrams is to be turned over to the work of alleviating infantile paralysis, seventy per cent of the money remaining in New Castle and the balance going to the commission for research to be appointed by the president. A huge birthday cake will be presented at the local ball on January 30, and the cake will then be auctioned off to the highest bidder. The cake as planned is said to be a fine example of the pastry maker's art.

Tickets for the ball are going fast. Chairman Braham is anticipating a larger crowd than in 1934. For those who do not dance, cards will be provided, the arrangements for these being made by Mrs. William Howley.

Vocational Schools Are Praised By New State Secretary Of Agriculture

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The future of agriculture in America today rests in the hands of youth, in the opinion of J. Hensell French, Pennsylvania's new secretary of agriculture.

Featuring vocational schools in an address during the vocational day program at the 19th annual State Farm Show last night, French warned: "The process of the past in which many of our best qualified young people left the farm for the city must be reversed. Boys and girls must be educated to the farm, not away from it."

Epworth M. E. To Adopt Systematic Savings Plan To Apply On Church Debt

Something new in the way of church financing will be started in Epworth M. E. Sunday morning when a Christmas fund plan will be put into effect. Meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Clark on the Wilmington road, Tuesday night, the teachers and officers approved the plan and decided to install it immediately.

Briefly the plan is this: Each student in the Sunday school will be asked to be a member of the plan. The cards run from one cent per week to $1 per week. If a substantial number of the students carry through with the plan the sponsors of the plan believe it will result in a total gift next Christmas of not less than $250. This will be applied on the church debt as the gift of the Sunday school.

The entire Sunday school will meet in the auditorium of the church Sunday morning when the plan will be explained in detail to the classes. Cashiers will be stationed at various places and the plan will get under way.

Pottsville Case

Seek To Disprove Contention Of State That Joseph Bruno Fired On Marchers

(International News Service)
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—Additional witnesses whose testimony is relied upon to prove the self-defense contention were to be called to the stand today in the trial of Joseph J. Bruno for murder in connection with the election eve massacre in the small mountain village of Kelayres.

Through these witnesses the defense hopes to convince the jury of ten men and two women in Schuylkill county court that the firing which emanated from the Bruno home on the fateful night of last November 5 was precipitated by an attack of the Democratic paraders. Bruno, 50-year-old Kelayres Republican "boss," is on trial for the slaying of Frank Fiorella, one of the five Democratic marchers who fell dead in the massacre. He is also under indictment, charged with murder in connection with the other four deaths. Six of his relatives, including his two sons, are in county prison, also charged with the five killings.

Witnesses Summoned.
Five witnesses were summoned by the defense battery of attorneys yesterday. They swore that the Democratic marchers hurled stones at the Bruno home and fired shots before five of their number were killed and 14 wounded in a hall of bullets pouring out of the house.

Later the defense intends to introduce testimony in an effort to substantiate Bruno's alibi that he was talking on the telephone at the time prosecution witnesses said they saw him firing a gun from an upstairs window.

President's Ball
Plans Progress

Tickets For Event On January 30 Are In Big Demand

Plans for the President's Ball were advanced materially Tuesday night when the general committee met in the Y. M. C. A. with General Chairman W. Walter Braham. The various committees reported their activities and several new angles of exploitation were developed. It was announced that both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies would send birthday telegrams to the president on January 30 for a set price of twenty-five cents each. All of the money collected for the telegrams is to be turned over to the work of alleviating infantile paralysis, seventy per cent of the money remaining in New Castle and the balance going to the commission for research to be appointed by the president. A huge birthday cake will be presented at the local ball on January 30, and the cake will then be auctioned off to the highest bidder. The cake as planned is said to be a fine example of the pastry maker's art.

Agriculture Future

Vocational Schools Are Praised
By New State Secretary Of Agriculture

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The future of agriculture in America today rests in the hands of youth, in the opinion of J. Hansell French, Pennsylvania's new secretary of agriculture.

Praising vocational schools in an address during the vocational day program at the 19th annual State Farm Show last night, French warned:

"The process of the past in which many of our best qualified young people left the farm for the city must be reversed. Boys and girls must be educated to the farm, not away from it."

Epworth M. E. To Adopt Systematic Savings Plan To Apply On Church Debt

Something new in the way of church financing will be started in Epworth M. E. Sunday morning when a Christmas fund plan will be put into effect. Meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Clark on the Wilmington road, Tuesday night, the teachers and officers approved the plan and decided to install it immediately.

Briefly the plan is this: Each student in the Sunday school will be asked to be a member of the plan. The cards run from one cent per week to $1 per week. If a substantial number of the students carry the plan believe it will result in a total gift next Christmas of not less than $250. This will be applied on the church debt as the gift of the Sunday school.

The entire Sunday school will meet in the auditorium of the church Sunday morning when the plan will be explained in detail to the classes. Cashiers will be stationed at various places and the plan will get under way.

TAX COLLECTOR JAILED

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 23.—Edward L. Kurtz, Stewart township tax collector, started a year's sentence in Fayette county jail today because he was "dishonest".

Kurtz pleaded guilty to a shortage of $1,651.67. In passing sentence,

Judge Thomas H. Hudson commented:

"One of the bad features of this case is the fact that there was no return of taxes at all for 1933. I can see how it would be possible for a small amount of taxes to be taken, but it doesn't look as though a man was honest when he keeps it all."

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SAGINAW, Mich., Jan. 23.—State police today picked up what they believed was the trail of Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell, when two men, driving a car loaded with arms, were reported seen at the village of Birch Run.
Residents of the village said the men were about the same age and appearance as Karpis, Public Enemy No. 1, and his companion, who shot their way out of a police trap at Atlantic City Sunday.
State police said they were informed the two men were driving a Ford V-8 car with 1935 license plates. Birch Run residents said they saw a machine gun and several rifles in the car.
The men bought gasoline at a Birch Run station and drove hastily away toward the west without waiting for their change.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Park benches, covered with snow, don't look so inviting these cold days to the usual crowd waiting for buses on the Diamond. The hurrying travelers were taking to the indoor waiting rooms, today, it was noted.

Just what a need the Public Library fills in this community was noted by one of Pa. News's family who dropped in at the noon hour today. There were upwards of a dozen men standing or sitting at the tables, scanning The News and other dailies, and up-to-date periodicals. A total of 25 or more people had been served up that time, all of whom had gone out of their way to the Jefferson street location. How many more New Castles would avail themselves of good reading material if the site were on North Mercer street?

Local truck driver narrowly escaped what might have been a serious accident Tuesday afternoon on South Mill street, near Taylor street. The wheels of the truck stuck to the tracks. When the motorist attempted to release the wheels from the street car tracks, by cutting the wheel, the truck skidded and landed into a puddle of deep mud on Taylor street, where a sewer is now being constructed.

While hills on the city streets were washed last night, the going on the level wasn't any too pleasant. Some streets seemed to be nearly bare of ice, while others were a glare that made traffic anything but comfortable.

"Bluebird Blue and silver are the official colors for the President's ball this year according to an announcement received today by General Chairman W. Walter Brahm.

Principal Defense For Hauptmann Will Be His Alibi Claim

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann will move for dismissal of the indictment charging him with the murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., as soon as the state has finished its case against him, it was revealed to International News Service today.
Edward J. Reilly, the big, ruddy Brooklyn lawyer who heads the Bronx carpenter's battery of defense lawyers, said the motion will be made by Egbert Roserians, Blairstown attorney, just as soon as the state puts the finishing touches on its case—probably late today.
"The motion will be argued on three grounds," Reilly said. "First: That murder has not been proved by the state. Dr. Charles A. Mitchell, Mercer county medical examiner who performed the autopsy, did not show that the blood clot found on the child's skull when the body was found, was due to an ante-mortem or post-mortem fracture. He did not show that the fracture was not inflicted by Inspector Harry Walsh of the Jersey City police when he admittedly punctured the skull while moving the remains with a stick.
"Second: The state has not proved it has a corpus delicti. Yes, I knew the defendant did not force an issue over whether the body found was that of the Lindbergh child, but the issue is there.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The administration bill setting up a constitutional convention sailed smoothly through the Democratic house today but rough waters loomed ahead in the Republican senate.
Passed on first reading yesterday after a personal plea for speed by Gov. George H. Earle, the bill was to be passed a second time today in the house and then acted upon finally on Monday when third passage is expected. The measure will then be immediately sent to the senate.

No Popular Referendum
Republican senatorial opposition appeared to be directed against the bill's failure to provide a popular referendum on the question of a new constitution. As drafted by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti the convocation of a convention to draft a new constitution is authorized by legislative enactment.

Proposed constitutional amendments must first survive two consecutive legislative sessions and then be submitted to the electorate in 1938.

(International News Service)
RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 23.—With only 10 more days to live, Robert Mais, the heartless killer and leader of the tri-state gang, who was so hardboiled and selfish about his own welfare that he permitted his mother to take her chances with the law on a charge of aiding his escape last year, was a cringing man today.
The bravado he displayed following his arrest for holding up a truck of the Federal Reserve bank and killing its chauffeur here last March, and during his trial, now has been replaced by expressions of fear.
"He knows his goose is cooked," said one of the guards who will watch every move of Mais and his companion in murder, Walter Legenza, until they pay for the chauffeur's life in the electric chair February 2. Date for their execution was fixed yesterday when they arrived from New York in federal custody. Federal agents captured them in the metropolis Monday and found Legenza was suffering from broken legs. He broke them while eluding Philadelphia police.
Philadelphia police hope to pin another murder on Mais' gang—that of William Weiss, gambler, who was believed to have been kidnapped by the gang three months ago. His weighted body was recovered from a river there.

Alleged Operator Makes Escape

State Liquor Control Enforcement Agent M. P. Sarky with State Troopers Knudsen, McCullough and Constable Andrew Fair last night raided an alleged illicit still at the rear of 1309 South Jefferson street. The alleged proprietor, "Mike Smiley," escaped, it was reported.
Five barrels of mash and 15 gallons of finished product were confiscated and destroyed after a sample of the "moonshine" was taken for evidence.

The alleged proprietor escaped while the officers were making their entrance through the front door. They had to batter it down and "Smiley" is reported to have escaped through a rear window.

WORK COMPLETED BY
BOARD OF APPEALS
County commissioners, sitting as a board of appeals, concluded hearings today when the seventh and eighth wards were heard. They have now heard all the boroughs, townships and wards in the city. The board only considered changes since the triennial assessment was made last year. These included any new houses or old one torn down, and complaints of inequalities. The number of changes made was surprisingly low, some districts not having any.

Testimony Of Morning Al-

Kidnap Ladder

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—A smashing blow was dealt the defense at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann today when Arthur Koehler, chief wood research expert of the United States government, testified that a piece of wood found in Hauptmann's home was of the same material as part of the ladder used in kidnapping the Lindbergh baby.

Koehler, a bald, middle aged man, told of his experiences as a wood expert. He has a laboratory at Madison, Wis. In response to a question from Attorney General David T. Wilentz he said he had come into the Lindbergh case at the request of the United States government and the state of New Jersey.

Wilentz asked Koehler if he had examined the "kidnap ladder," and the witness said he had. Wilentz then asked if Koehler had taken part of the ladder—that part known as rail 16—to the Hauptmann home for the purpose of examination with wood found by the police in the attic there. Koehler said he had done so on October 9, 1934.

Wilentz then asked him to tell the jury the result of his comparison of "rail 16" with the board found in the Hauptmann attic and which had been removed from the attic floor and Koehler replied:

"The nail holes correspond exactly and the grain in the wood corresponded exactly."

Nail Holes Correspond
Courtroom, Flemington, N. J., Jan. 23.—Nail holes in a piece of lumber found in the attic of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home checked with the nail holes in the ladder used in the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby. Detective Lewis Bornmann testified today at the Hauptmann trial.

Bornmann's testimony was a damaging blow to Hauptmann. Bornmann said he went to a closet between two bedrooms, removed several shelves and climbed through a fifteen-inch trap door to the attic of Hauptmann's home.

There he found a short board in

Two Sled-Riders

Neither Injured In Accident Following Crash Of Two
Sleds

When two sled-riders struck the automobile of Dr. S. W. Perry in Lathrop street 5 p. m. Tuesday neither of the lads was injured, according to the physician who examined the boys.

He was proceeding on his right side of the street and stopped his car. The boys were sled-riding on different sleds on their side of the street. One sled struck the other and both sleds, operating slowly, hit the doctor's car, he stated.

And as it drops they light cigars and slap you on the back, for you and I must pay the bills for what they sell, alack. Then hills are stuffed with heavy cash, their bins are running low, which means they're doing business now, and raking in the dough.

SENATE OPPOSITION TO WORLD COURT GROWS

Administration Seeks Agreement

RESERVATIONS ARE UNDER DISCUSSION

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The administration showed the first sign of weakness in its fight for American adherence to the World Court today when it began negotiations to accept the Vandenberg reservation, protecting the United States against foreign entanglements. President Roosevelt summoned Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, to the White House for a secret conference. Afterwards, Vandenberg admitted acceptance of his reservation was "under discussion."

Senate Opposition Increases
This move was forced by the increasing senate opposition to the resolution of adherence, to which two supplemental reservations have been added. The first one, sponsored by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, would require a two-thirds vote of the senate before any question for settlement of a controversy, involving the United States, could be submitted to the court. The second reservation, sponsored now by Vandenberg, would provide:

"That adherence shall not be construed as to require the United States to depart from its traditional policy of not intruding upon, interfering with, or entangling itself in the political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state, nor shall adherence be construed to imply a relinquishment by the United States of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions."

The administration is driving for a final vote probably on Friday.

The blue is a beautiful shade and a sample of it has been received. Many women who will attend the ball will probably utilize the blue and silver color scheme in their gowns.

Pa Newc notes that youths were using sidewalks in some sections of the city for sledding last night. This is one thing that is entirely taboo in the city, Pa Newc understands.

A motorist had a thrill late yesterday at the top of the Court street hill, near the court house. His car started to skid and was headed directly for the fence. However, by some maneuvering the auto was turned before it went clear across the sidewalk and hit the fence. There is a drop of fifteen or twenty feet from the fence to the ground below.

Street intersections on main thoroughfares were also asked in the city yesterday, as an aid to traffic, as well as the steep hills.

New Castle's unpaved streets are in the worst condition at the present time that they have been for several years, as far as Pa Newc's observations go.

terly to place Hauptmann at the scene of the crime at the time the crime was committed.

If the motion for dismissal is denied, C. Lloyd Fisher, of Flemington, will deliver a brief opening address to the jury for the defense, Reilly said.

Then will come a parade of "about 30" defense witnesses, headed by Hauptmann and his wife, Anna. Hauptmann's principal defense will be his alibi for the night of the crime, Reilly said. The attorney would not disclose what this alibi would be, other than that the defense will show Hauptmann was at Frederickson's bakery in the Bronx when baby Lindbergh was being kidnapped from the nursery in his rambling home near Hopewell the night of March 1, 1932.

Reilly promised to have a statement which will "knock your eyes out" on the day the defense winds up its case.

Three of Hauptmann's lawyers, Reilly, Fisher and Frederick A. Pope, visited their pale, enigmatic client in his Hunterdon county jail cell here last night, for a last minute conference before the defense opens its case.

Aviation Report Is About Ready

Roosevelt Will Recommend Four Thousand New Planes For Army And Navy

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A combined program of four thousand airplanes for the army and navy will be recommended to congress when the president sends his aviation report to the capitol next week, it was learned today.

The report urges construction of a large rigid airship as a sister ship to the Macon. This ship would be leased for trans-Atlantic and other commercial service.

In addition the report recommends construction of a smaller dirigible for use as a navy training ship.

A five man aviation board was recommended, for temporary service, until the new program has been safely launched. The report asks that the president abolish the present difference between first and second line commercial transport services.

Vaccine Against Infantile Paralysis Will Be Used For First Time

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—A clinic for vaccination against infantile paralysis—the first known of its kind in the history of medicine—will be opened at Temple University medical school here on Saturday, it was announced today.

Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of experimental medicine at the hospital, will be in charge of the clinic, where the vaccine he discovered will be available to the public for the first time. Dr. Kolmer announced discovery of the vaccine last August after two years of experimentation on monkeys. Since then experiments with humans have proved a success.

Police Probe Two Bad Check Cases

Discovery was made today according to a report made to city police that two bad check cases were issued at business places last Saturday night. A man and woman perpetrated one of the frauds at one place and a woman worked the second fraud alone.

A man and woman Saturday night went into The Little Shop, 121 East North street, and bought a dress. A check for $38.34 was given and the difference between the cost of a dress and check amount was returned to the man and woman. The check was found to be no good.

A woman went into Neiman's Saturday night and gave a check for $24.88, for a dress which cost $14.95. The change was given to her. The check also was returned, marked no good.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, or laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up, your stomach aches, you feel sick, and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for CARTER'S Little Liver Pills on the red label. Runout a substitute. 20c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

He called the attention of Arthur Koehler, government wood technologist, to this. The checked, the short board Bormann found in the attic with the ladder, found the grain matched and the nail holes in both boards were identical.

Bormann related how he and Koehler took what was known as rail 18 (the upright of section three of the kidnap ladder) and compared the nail holes with those in the joists in the attic on which the main part of a board in the Hauptmann attic had been nailed.

"We found the nail holes of rail 18 corresponded exactly with the holes of the joists," Bormann related.

The witness picked up the third section of the kidnap ladder and pointed out nail holes in it to the jurors.

Then he pointed to the joists in the photograph of the Hauptmann attic (which had been introduced) and said:

"These holes exactly corresponded—we also found that nails found in the attic fit perfectly through the ladder upright and right on through into the joists."

Assistant Attorney General Robert Peacock questioned Bormann in some detail.

Q.—Was the slant of the nail hole the same in the board as it was in the joists?

A.—Yes. We didn't have to pound a nail in any of the holes when we fitted the upright and the joist together. The nails could be pushed in with a finger.

Bormann was asked to identify a section of yellowish pine board about six feet long.

"That is the piece of board I took from the attic," Bormann said.

The board was admitted as evidence over the vigorous objection of Frederick A. Pope, of defense counsel.

Defense Attorney Pope took Bormann through a cross-examination. Pope wanted to know where Bormann had access to the Hauptmann house after his arrest. Bormann said only the New Jersey state police and Department of Justice agents.

committee, announced he was prepared to meet these objections with legal precedent. The senate meanwhile, delayed consideration of the measure of Senator George L. Woodward, providing for a constitutional convention after a popular vote.

Members of the governor's official family meanwhile expressed displeasure over the failure of the senate committee on executive nominations, headed by Senator James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, to report for confirmation a list of eight appointments, including members of the milk control board, securities commission and workmen's compensation board, submitted by the governor.

Controversy On Beamish
A controversy over the appointment of Richard J. Beamish, former secretary of the commonwealth, to a post on the workmen's compensation board, was one of the reasons for the senate's action. Other administration leaders, however, were disposed to believe confirmation was withheld in order to give the Republican senate a weapon with which to bargain for the passage of bills in the Democratic house.

The Republican steering committee appointed a sub-committee composed of Reps. Morton Witkin and Arnold Blumberg, Philadelphia; Ellwood Turner, Delaware and Fred Peters, Montgomery, to consider amendments to the administration constitution bill. One of the amendments reported under consideration was selection of delegates from senatorial rather than congressional districts, as provided in the Woodward bill.

Rep. Frank W. Ruth, chairman of the ways and means committee, referred the seven amendments to the house to a sub-committee comprised of Reps. Charles Melchiorre, Philadelphia; Harry O'Neill, Lackawanna, and Peters. It was believed the sub-committee will approve one bill and report it to the house for passage.

Would Reduce Fees
The ways and means committee reported favorably the Trout bill reducing the fees of registers of wills to a maximum of $10.00 a year. Adoption of the measure would drastically reduce the fees collected by registers in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and all large counties.

Ruth appointed a sub-committee of Reps. Herbert B. Cohen, York; Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny, and Arthur L. Greenstein, Philadelphia, to study bills proposing other amendments to the inheritance tax laws. Measures have been introduced to exempt all estates under $10,000 and transfer collection of the tax from the department of revenue.

The ways and means committee decided to defer consideration of all tax measures pending submission of Governor Earle's budget message expected early in February.

According to Mulcahey the red fox was shot along the creek between the Seventh ward and Mount Jackson and according to reports given him there are more red fox in the vicinity.

BRIDE GOING TO LOUISVILLE

Up at Jameson Memorial hospital one of the nurses who is on duty in the operating room, Mrs. Samuel Noel Butler, is doing extra duty making preparation to relinquish her work at the hospital the latter part of the month and go to Louisville, Ky., to make her future home.

The bride was graduated from the New Castle high school, class 1930, and from the Jameson Memorial Hospital School for Nurses in June, 1933. The groom was graduated from the Louisville high school and is now identified with the Ford plant at that place.

SIN-MAR-BRIDGE GUESTS TUESDAY

Most enjoyable was the gathering of the Sin-Mar-Bridge club members Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Claire Montgomery Wallace avenue, who entertained informally at cards.

At the close of the contest, Miss Grace Sankey was awarded the prize for high score. Following, the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served a tasty repast by the hostess. Yellow and white tones prevailed in the appointments.

On February 7, Mrs. Hubert Sadler, of 1705 East Washington street, will entertain.

ALPHA GAMMAS' FEBRUARY ASSEMBLY

Fraternity colors of red, buff and green were cleverly used in the home of Mrs. Bart Richards, on East Washington street, Tuesday evening, when the Alpha Epsilon chapter, Alpha Gamma Delta, was entertained. Associate hostesses were Misses Helen Weingartner and Geraldine Turk.

After a brief business session, at which routine matters were discussed, bridge was in play at three tables. A dainty luncheon was served, later, the tri color used in decorations being further brought out, artistically, with a center bouquet of beautiful daffodils, and details in the menu which was delicious.

Mrs. Clair M. Davis, of Pittsburgh, who was formerly Harriet Ewing, was an out-of-town guest. Mrs. J. R. McFate won the card award.

The chapter will have its February meeting on the fourth "Tuesday," with the following members as hostesses: Misses Hazel Burgland, Miss Mettie Round and Mrs. Joseph R. McFate.

Continuing the study of Greek literature, the Delphian society meeting Tuesday afternoon, in the Castleton, featured "Romances." Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand, the president, gave the introductory comment and the following members took part.

Mrs. C. T. Meizer had the general topic, "Greek Romance," being followed by Mrs. Luella Brownlee who outlined characteristics. The well known book "Aethiopica" was reviewed by Miss Sara Knott, who also spoke of its style. Mrs. Carl Wilson gave the Characterization and Mrs. W. A. Pond, Reflections of the Age.

Mrs. H. D. Harlan added the local color.

There will be an interval of three weeks before the next meeting, Tuesday, February 12.

Brisco Club
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conti, of Phillips street, will receive the members of the Brisco club in their home tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

JR. B. P. W. GUESTS AT M. L. HENRY HOME

A little private rehearsing of table manners and hostess manners was going quietly on in the playroom of the Margaret L. Henry home Tuesday evening among the kiddies, when members of the Junior Business and Professional Women filled in, to be their dinner guests.

At 6:30 o'clock the club girls singled into the spacious, tidy and neat dining room, each being joined by one of the little girls of the home and a chorus of "Welcome" was sung by the little tads during this procedure. Miss Margaret L. Henry, Mrs. Madge S. Place and Mrs. Lida J. Green of the home served a delicious hot dinner, and they were ably assisted by young ladies dressed in neat aprons, who acted the role of waiters.

Pastimes ensued. The guests were then ushered into their playroom, where the youngsters appeared in a program of drills, acrobatics, tap dancing, tumbling acts, songs and recitations that were well received. Those participating were Dorothy Blair, Rose Mary Place, Mae Stannila, Lillian Homich, Virginia Quirz, little Sammy Sacco, Della Sacco, Antoinette Sacco, Rose Sacco, Evelyn Place, Clara Lorenzo, Verda Miller, Charles Stanciu, John Stanciu, Robert and James Cress, Robert Carolina, Virginia Reinhart, Pearl Wick and Mary Sacco. Miss Sylvia Lee Martin gave a humorous reading and Mrs. Green sang beautifully, "Mother Machree." She was in charge of the program. During the course of serving little four-year-old Sammy Sacco sang a number, and later in the evening gave recitations.

The Junior B. P. W. girls were taken on a tour of the home by Dorothy Blair, Mae Stannila and Lillian Homich, explaining as they went their daily routine, which was most interesting. There are 45 youngsters being cared for at the institution, and as the night grew late the younger ones trotted on to bed.

The cordial hospitality and the humble atmosphere that was so evident was most impressive to the club members and this particular event will linger in the memories of those who attended.

On January 28 the executive board of the Junior B. P. W. will hold a meeting in the home of Miss Virginia Hickok, Wilmington avenue.

CAMILLA SMITH

On Tuesday evening in the assembly room of Highland U. P. church before a large audience of musicians and friends, Miss Camilla Smith, pianist, was presented in an excellent recital by Albert A. Taylor. She was assisted by Gula Bauder Keagy, soprano.

The program opened with "Romance," by Schumann, played with delicate tonal effect, and finished with "Arabesque," the next rendition, lent contrast.

"Sonata Pathetique," Opus 13, was chosen as Miss Smith's "piece de resistance." In this, she displayed with quite adequate technical ability, as well as a fluent interpretation of the composer.

Her final group included the "Liebestraum" of Liszt, which was given a clean cut technical rendition, as well as good poetic expression; the rhythmic and attractive "Polish Dance" by Scharwenka; and to conclude, the "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn, brilliant in style, which gave a fitting climax to this delightful program.

Miss Smith is a young pianist who gives much promise, and is evidently on her way to recognition. She displays a well developed technique, a thorough concept of nuance and expression, and original poetic interpretation. She held the undivided and appreciative attention of her audience throughout the program and was the recipient of several beautiful bouquets of flowers.

Gula Bauder Keagy, soprano, as the assisting artist, was pleasing in her group of songs: "Pale Moon," by Logan; "Dawn in the Forest," by Ronald; and "Do You Know My Garden," by Wood. Mrs. Keagy is well known locally and is rapidly making a name for herself in wider musical circles. Her accompanist was Mrs. Alan B. Davis of New Wilmington, who gave a splendid performance.

For the recital, the large assembly room, beautifully decorated, was filled with interested listeners. Ushers were Miss Marian Smith, a sister, and Misses Jean Parker, Betty Matthews and Elizabeth Slaver, girl friends of the recitalist.

M. M. Club

Miss Elizabeth Moskal proved to be a most charming hostess to the members of the M. M. club when they gathered at her home Sunday evening. After a business meeting in which Miss Frances Boczar was voted president and Miss Moskal treasurer, the rest of the evening was spent in music and chat. Later on, refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Bertha Smosarsky, on Morris street.

Neisbro Club

Tonight at 8 o'clock members of the Neisbro club will enjoy a theatre party.

ROCHESTER GUEST HONORED AT BRIDGE

Mrs. Charles Philip Walther of Garfield avenue and Mrs. Allan B. Olt of Englewood avenue were charming hostesses Tuesday evening when they entertained at the home of the former 15 guests in honor of Mrs. Robert Paul Scharfke of Rochester, Pa., who is visiting for a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor on Westwood boulevard.

The occasion was in the form of a bridge, and at the close of play, lovely prizes were awarded to Miss Emmy Lou Smith and Mrs. Edward N. Long, Jr. for winning distinction.

Mrs. Perry D. Rice of Franklin, Pa., sister-in-law of Mrs. Walther and her house guest, was an out of town participant.

At the selected hour, a dainty collation was served at the four small tables, which were attractively rearranged in appointments of pink and blue. Mrs. Belle Rice, mother of Mrs. Walther, and Mrs. Perry Rice assisted with the menu.

Party Honors Birthday

To mark her birthday, Miss Anne Maxine Kennedy, 318 East Euclid avenue, entertained seven couples of friends and relatives at a dinner party in her home on Monday night. Shortly after 7 o'clock the group sat down to dinner, and later enjoyed an informal evening of ping pong, bingo, billiards, bridge and other entertaining diversions.

Mrs. Thomas Francis, mother of the honor guest, served the evening dinner and a dainty lunch at the close of the evening.

Miss Kennedy was the recipient of many appreciated gifts.

Birthday Party

Friends of Miss Hildegarde L. Tartier, of Porter street, surprised her on the occasion of her 18th birthday, when they gathered in her home last Friday to help her celebrate the occasion.

The evening was spent in games and at a suitable hour, dainty refreshments were served. The honored guest's mother, Mrs. John Tartier, was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by her daughter, Mrs. Walter Biberich.

PLAYLET FEATURES CHAPTER PROGRAM

Cathedral Chapter 440, Order of Eastern Star sponsored an interesting program party Tuesday evening in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. Edna West, worthy matron, the doors were thrown open to the guests and friends, who were deeply appreciative of the entertainment arranged by Mrs. West.

Appearing first was Miss Ethel Hunt in a humorous reading, "Railroad Travellers," which was exceptionally well received; Betty Ward, accompanied by Anna Patterson, presented a tap dance, after which a group of students from the Senior High School dramatic class presented a skit "The Third Man" with Jim Bradford playing the part of the father; Kathleen Shuttleworth, the mother; Mildred Carson, the niece; and Miss Willie Lenhart, the daughter.

The plot arose from a contest of wits that the fond mother and father had in the effort to marry their only daughter; each reserving the exclusive right to dictate who would be the fiancé; but love laughs at parental plans as well as lock-smiths, and the daughter, with the help of a niece, changes papa's mamma's plans and makes the man of her choice, "The Third Man." Gales of laughter were aroused by the humorous situations.

Mrs. Clinton Keagy, accompanied by Mrs. Allen Davis, as usual captivated her hearers with a group of songs. Jim Bradford had a piano league and played for "Willie" Lenhart as she entertained with a tap dance.

The program concluded with the awarding of a handsome handmade quilt to Fred Mayberry, Norwood avenue, the lucky number being drawn by little Kathleen Johns. Cathedral chapter will be active during the next two months, with many social events dotting its calendar, among them being a card party in the home of the worthy matron, Mrs. Edna West, Harlanburg road on Tuesday, January 23; birthday party and dinner February 1, when the entertainment will be presented by Mrs. Olive Hewitt and her dramatic class of the North street night school, and the joint frolic of the three chapters of Eastern Star on March 1.

MRS. WALLACE IS HOSTESS TO CLUB

Mrs. William Wallace, of West Madison avenue, charmingly entertained the Mahoningtown Garden club members at her residence Tuesday evening.

Features of the business period were the annual reports submitted by the secretary, Mrs. E. L. Vincent, and the treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Vincent, and the splendid reports of the county day meeting of a number of weeks ago by a group of those who attended.

The club decided to change its meeting date from the fourth Tuesday to the third Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. Richard Gwilym, who has been president for the past year, turned the meeting over to the new president, Mrs. Richard Cooper, who made announcement of the new special committees as follows:

Program, Mrs. H. E. Falcit; Mrs. D. C. Schenley and Mrs. W. H. Maerwamm; ways and means, Mrs. Raymond Horcher, Mrs. C. H. Clark, Mrs. L. C. Bowman and Mrs. E. L. Vincent; and flower, Mrs. J. L. Agan and Mrs. C. E. Dungan.

Mrs. W. H. Maerwamm was in charge of the evening's program. The roll call was answered by the names of the most prominent flowerers in the birth months of the members. Mrs. Duncan followed with a very instructive talk on "The Care of House Plants." Mrs. Raymond Horcher read an article on "The Beauty and Bedding of Bulbs."

Roll call at the next meeting will be answered by "trees mentioned in the Bible." It was announced.

A delicious buffet lunch was enjoyed in the dining room of the Wallace home. The dining room table was centered by a beautiful bouquet of pink carnations.

HOW DIFFERENT LIFE WOULD BE—

If nobody was ever tired.
If there were three sexes instead of two.
If we were born old and grew young, requiring about 30 years to be a baby.
If nobody was afraid of anything.
If we always said just what we thought.
If airplanes couldn't possibly fall.
If a siren blew every time a lie was told.
If human beings feared and hated war as much as mothers fear and hate infantile paralysis.
If we liked everybody we knew.
If the dogs and cats could speak our language.
If the world were a flat disk and we could go to the edge and look over.
If the minimum speed limit were 50 miles an hour.
If we didn't need to eat or sleep.
If nobody ever had to pretend anything.
If there were 10 children in every family.
If all wishes came true immediately.
If we couldn't forget anything.
If we all lived in glass houses.
If we did learn by experience.
If days were 48 hours long.
If nothing we ate ever disagreed with us.
If there were no "ifs" at all in this life.

Just Folks

THE TIME FOR FRIENDSHIP

He can get along without you when you're not around.
You don't need to think about him when he's free from doubt and care.
When his path is smooth and pleasant he can walk his way alone.
There'll be men to wait upon him once his pocketbook is shown.
But it's when he's deep in trouble, and he has no coin to spend, you should haste to stand beside him—that's the time to be his friend.
It's no proof of lasting friendship to go with him when he's gay.
Any servant will attend him while the wages he can pay.
He can always find companions when there's nothing that he lacks.
For acquaintances are many and they always run in packs.
But it's not upon the many you must leave him to depend.
When you know he's deep in trouble that's the time he'll want a friend.
Oh, the throng will hang about him when here's nothing to be done.
For the test of lasting friendship isn't sharing in his fun;
It's in giving up your comfort to be with him in his care.
It's in crawling out to help him where he flounders in despair;
It's in battling by and for him to the sad and bitter end;
It's in helping when he needs it that you prove to be a friend.

AVOID THE ROCKING-CHAIR STAGE

Are you allowing yourself to get into the rocking-chair stage?
Still vigorous, your prefer to sit and rock, while the active world goes by.
Gradually you become less and less able to do the things which others of your age enjoy.
By so doing they maintain a good physical condition.
You are becoming flabby and more and more susceptible to illness of one kind or another, while they are forestalling attacks.
You don't want to bestir yourself because it requires effort and you seek to avoid any semblance of working activity.
Many persons give up before physical condition warrants it.
Decline in health is sure to follow.
Lessening strength may be so gradual that it is hard to detect.
Idleness gives the mind too much opportunity to dwell on ailments that are only to be expected with advancing age.
Continually dwelling upon "declining years" becomes a fetish.
Don't think yourself into invalidism.
If you haven't work of any kind, make yourself take regular exercise.
It does not pay to cultivate the rocking-chair as long as you can move without crutches.

TODAY'S STORYTELLER
Rufus was accused of stealing a mule. The evidence against him had seemed conclusive at first but the defendant's lawyer had managed after endless questioning to tie the witness for the prosecution into a tangle of contradictions, while the dusky defendant sat watching him with admiring eyes.
Finally the judge, trying to put an end to it all, interrupted saying: "Rufus, answer me one simple question, 'Did you or did you not steal the mule?'"
"Well, sah," replied Rufus candidly, "Ah suddenly thought Ah did it at de beginning, but dis lawyer gentleman o' mine had plumb raised a doubt in mah min' an' Ah ain't sho' now whether Ah did or Ah didn't."

Out in Hollywood a woman isn't unhappily married until her alimony stops.

A bill to protect efficiency has been introduced by member who was formerly a Republican, but is now a Democrat. THE SONG OF A SHIRT

During the World War when prices of everything went sky-high, Representative Kitchen, of North Carolina, said in the House that while many men were paying outrageous prices for shirts, it was not at all necessary, and that he himself wore $1.50 shirts. This led the poet of the New York Sun to poetize thus:
One dollar and a half, quoth Mr. Kitchen,
Is plenty enough to pay for the stitchin'—
Pay for the cloth, pay for the hit—
"Tougher of bosom, and—well—the stitchin'!"
So to speak, of a he-man shirt.

My idea of a foolish thing to do is to send a check that is no good to Harrisburg for an automobile license. It's a waste of time anyhow.

It takes a good workman to make a resolution that will stand the gaff.

No doubt after the Pennsylvania legislature passes a law legalizing betting on horse racing it will top off with a law legalizing dog racing. That's another way to go to the bow-wow.

GROWLING AT THE WEATHER
The spring and summer of 1917 were so wet that even the poets took notice of it and instead of writing their usual spring poems they indulged in strange outbreaks of poetry of which the following was a fair sample:
Can't you quit your grumpy growls
At the status of the weather?
Can't you stop your ugly scowls
At-ter-gether?
Raining is it? Let it pour!
It means happiness and money
To a farmer who'd be sore
If 'twere sunny.

Can't you brighten up a shade,
Show some merriment or pleas-ure?
Weather can't be always made
To suit your measure.
Can't you cure your grumpy fit
Cause to be an anger-seether.
Can't you chirp up just a bit?
—No, I can't either.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Wall Street is angrier than ever concerning crutite Dr. Arthur H. Morgan, college president, who heads the Tennessee Valley Authority. No man in the Roosevelt administration has done more "practical damage" to Wall Street than Dr. Morgan. In establishing the TVA "yardstick" for electric power rates.

Dr. Morgan's latest "offense" however, is not in the practical side, but from the emotional. The hysterics, as may be guessed, emanate from Wall Street.

In addressing Swarthmore college students Dr. Morgan drew an analogy between robber barons of medieval times and public utility executives of today.

The worst of it is that, since congressional exposes, the utilities now have a more difficult time getting their rebuttal propaganda into schools and colleges.

ALSO ATTACKED

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes is another gentleman attacked vigorously in Wall Street these days.

The larger the public works program the smaller is the opportunity for private capital to resume its profit-making.

Ickes has become vulnerable on one score—he refused further federal funds for New York's important Triborough bridge construction as long as Robert Moses remained chairman of the bridge authority and New York park commissioner at the same time.

When New York protested, it was realized that President Roosevelt himself assumedly had dictated the action against Moses. This recent Republican candidate for governor of New York, it is said behind the scenes, has furnished Al Smith with much of his rhetorical ammunition against the New Deal.

Now Wall Street digs up the fact that, under the New Deal, Secretary Ickes holds approximately 28 posts.

IN A GERMAN CAMP

The Manchester Guardian, of Manchester, England, knows the world over for its truthfulness. These excerpts from a letter written by a worker in a German labor camp presumably can be taken at face value:

"In our camp, the men get 3 lbs. of bread and 100 gms. of margarine every two days... When they return to their huts after work at 5 p. m. they have 'lunch'—dried vegetables and peas. As a rule the food is scarcely eatable and the men often throw it away. We usually get a small piece of sausage or cheese, a gherkin or a herring for next day's breakfast....

"On the second day most of the men go to work with no more than a piece of dry bread left, and sometimes with nothing at all. The shift—with intervals—is nine and one-half hours, not counting time taken in going to and from work....

"There is no water for washing in the camp. Water is brought in twice daily in carts.... It is used in the cookhouse first and, as a rule, there is none left for washing. Some of the men wash in their tea, as it is undrinkable anyway....

"The huts, which are built to hold 18 men each, are occupied by at least 26....

"It is as cold as ice in the huts—there is only one pile of coke in each for heating....

"Dysentery and scabies have broken out because of the continuous lack of water. Men when they come home from work are covered with a crust of dirt....

"The track from the camp to the place where we work—about an hour's march—is unfit. In one week, two men fell into a hole five yards deep. They stuck there until the following morning, up to the waist in mud and water, before they were salvaged. One of them had broken his arm....

"There is a lot of nigger-driving here....

COST OF SLUMS
Slum districts (we now are learning) have been costly for cities. In "Analysis of a Slum Area," written by the Rev. Robert Bernard Navin, professor in Sisters' college, Cleveland, and published by the Catholic university in Washington, there is a startling picture of the cost of a slum area in Cleveland.

Direct cost of maintaining the area has been $20,000 a year against a probable tax income of $225,000. The cost to the community as a whole has been $82.90 a person.

Father Navin remarks:
"Thus every man, woman and child in the section was subsidized $78.78 and each family of four subsidized $315, an outrageous price to pay for maintaining such an eyesore in the center of the city."

Father Navin traces, too, how more than a quarter of the city's crime and disease reach out from this infectious center, striking the entire community.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1935 Central Press

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23

History-Up-To-Date, Jan. 23, 1516
—Ferdinand V of Castile, II of Aragon & Sicily, and III of Naples, died at 64.

He was the monarch under whose sponsorship Christopher Columbus sailed westward seeking eastern countries, and Haiti believing it to be part of Asia. For this Ferdinand is best remembered. But he also—

Established the Inquisition which took thousands of lives by torture; Seized the possessions of Jews and expelled them from Spain; Deliberately made his insane daughter Juana queen of Castile.

Jan. 23, 1617—John Shurle was appointed by the Bishop of Bath & Wells to the office of ale-taster to Oxford University.

The bishop had the responsibility of seeing that the students' ale was properly brewed! The ale-taster had to go to the breweries every day to sample the product. His fee was three gallons of ale a day from each brewery.

Jan. 23, 1734—Farkas Kempelen was born in Hungary.

He made the celebrated chess-playing automaton which beat Napoleon and caused him to fly into a rage. It was brought to America and amazed a generation in Barnum's museum.

Kempelen deserves to be better known as inventor of one of the first typewriters; founder of the study of phonetics; maker of a phonograph before Edison; inventor of Savery's steam-engine before Watt; inventor of bed-springs; and creator of a system of instruction for the blind and deaf. In addition he found time to write poems, plays and books on popular science; to learn nine languages; to produce paintings and etchings of high artistic merit.

He refused a title of nobility, preferring to remain a commoner.

Jan. 23, 1849—The first envelope machine patent was granted to J. E. Park and C. S. Watson of New York.

It was one of the rare occasions when this, one of the world's busiest thoroughfares, was frozen over.

Jan. 23, 1899—A hissing, blinking C Q D was dotted and dashed repeatedly into Atlantic waves and skies by Jack Binns, 25, radio operator of the steamship Republic. The distress signal halted the liner Baltic, sent her scurrying to the rescue of passengers and crews of the Republic and the Italian freighter Florida 60 miles SE of Nantucket in the first dramatic demonstration of the life-saving potentialities of wireless telegraphy.

Now for a coincidence. On the same date, exactly 20 years later, the liner America rescued the crew of another Italian freighter Florida sinking off the Virginia Capes.

It would be wrong if you believe that the Republic's distress signal was the first use of wireless in saving lives at sea.

Jan. 23, 1932—The 20th amendment was ratified by the 36th State (Missouri), preventing President Roosevelt from serving a full four or eight years in office.

It wiped out "sine duck" Congressional sessions established Jan. 20, 1937 as the end of presidential terms, provided for installation of new Congresses before inaugurations of new presidents.

Another coincidence: the 20th amendment became effective on the 86th anniversary of Congress' establishment of the national election day. Original election day was Jan. 1.

Notable Nativities—Francis Mansard (Mon-sard), b. 1868, French architect of ecclesiastical buildings by roofs (Mansard) which he did not invent.... Henri Beyke, b. 1783, called Stoddard, government clerk, soldier and merchant who became a celebrated novelist.... George McManus, b. 1884, creator of the comic strip "Bringing Up Father".... Ernest Poole, b. 1880, novelist.... Grand Duchess Charlotte, b. 1896, ruler of Luxembourg.... Randolph Scott, cinematist.

You're Wrong If You Believe—That SOS was the official wireless distress signal in 1909 (see above) or is now. It wasn't and isn't.

That all birds which swim well are web-footed.

That an ostrich, when pursued, hides its head in the sand.

That all sharks are ferocious and man-eaters. And—

That General Sheridan dashed 20 miles from Winchester to Cedar Creek that day, as told in Thomas Buchanan Read's famous poem, "Sheridan's Ride." He rode 12 miles, to be exact, but his lines sounded more poetic.—Earle R. Forrest, Washington, Pa.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THEY CAME BACK

Thirty years ago, Thomas Knoll, a teamster in Harrisburg, Pa., decided to move to Oklahoma onto a farm. Successive crop failures from drought reduced the family to such straitened circumstances that Knoll often longed for his old job back in Pennsylvania with a pay check every Saturday night.

Last summer, with their crops

lost again, the Knolls packed as many of their belongings as they could on an express wagon and started back for Harrisburg, Pa. With their six children ranging in age from sixteen down to four years, trudging behind or taking turns in riding on the little wagon, the family made the long pilgrimage of more than two thousand miles in seventy-nine days. Six sets of wheels were worn out on the express wagon. Again it is shown that Pennsylvania is not such a poor state in which to make a livelihood.

The Romans made people forget their troubles by staging contests between gladiators instead of murder trials.

EAST BROOK GARDEN CLUB LAUNCHES YEAR

Mrs. Orville Kerr was hostess to members of the East Brook Garden club, Tuesday evening, for their first session of the new year. Mrs. Norma Martin gave an interesting review of the club work of the past year, and following a beautiful candle lighting ceremony was entered into by all those in attendance, offering prayer with Mrs. Vane Johns leading.

Program books were distributed, and it was decided to sponsor a bird-house contest for the children of the East Brook school. Roll call was responded with the name of "A Flowering House Plan."

At this meeting the iris was selected as the community plant, with the aim of the club, to have all persons iris growers, in time.

Mrs. Louisa Black gave an instructive talk on the care of House Plants, with an open discussion following.

The program was concluded by musical selections, Mrs. Mae McMahony and Miss Dorothy Kerr rendering a duet and Miss Marjorie Kerr a piano solo. A delicious lunch was served, the hostess being assisted by her daughters, Jane, Dorothy and Marjorie and Mrs. E. B. Kennedy.

The next meeting of the club, will be February 26, with Mrs. Merle Stetson and Miss Shirley Stetson, hostesses.

T. O. T. Club

Members of the T. O. T. club will gather in the home of Miss Rose Ritchie, of Grant street, tonight at 8 o'clock, for their regular meeting.

Legion Hears Talk On England

Professor Marshall, Of Westminster College, Tells Of Conditions In Britain

OYSTER SUPPER SERVED MEMBERS

Members of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, heard an interesting talk on England at their meeting last evening, when Professor Marshall of the history department of the college, talked of conditions which exist in that country at the present time.

In view of the fact that many of the legionnaires stopped off in England when they were sent overseas, the talk was of great interest to them.

The meeting was in the nature of a celebration for the recent membership victory of the post, who won district honors in the state round-up. From Edmunds, past commander of the post, who took the memberships to Harrisburg, told of the meeting in the state capital.

Although the roundup is over, the chairman James E. Morehead told the members, and in fact, several of the members turned in new memberships last evening.

Committees on arrangements for the annual Memorial Day celebration and for the big initiation meeting in two weeks were announced by Commander Chas. Sweeney.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious oyster supper was served by the kitchen committee.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Another severe cold wave, with sub-zero temperatures promised by nightfall, was boring into the frigid Middle West today from the Canadian plains.

Following only a brief respite of a few hours, the mercury began a steady drop toward the zero mark. Tonight Chicago can expect a reading of 10 below, Forecaster W. P. Day warned.

Four persons died from the cold here in the last 36 hours.

The cold wave drove deep into the southland and gave New Orleans its first appreciable snowfall in 36 years.

At the direction of the county commissioners, County Treasurer William C. Pitts has just paid $18,000 for the retirement of poor district bonds of the County of Lawrence. The payment reduces the total poor district bonds to $141,000. The original issue was $250,000.

District Attorney Mont L. Alley has received a letter from his brother, Attorney Clyde V. Alley, in which the latter says that he is gradually recovering from his recent illness. He is able to walk about the house and sit on benches in a park which is opposite his residence. Alley took sick while driving from New Castle to California by way of Florida and was in a hospital for some time.

Motions for new trials have been filed in the Black-Beerbower cases in which verdicts were rendered last week. In one case Benjamin C. Black obtained a verdict against C. W. and Eleanor Beerbower for $4,300 as a result of an automobile accident on Wilmington avenue. In another suit brought by C. W. and D. T. Beerbower against Black, a verdict in favor of the defendant was rendered. The same kind of verdict was rendered in a suit brought by Eleanor Beerbower against Black. The notes of testimony will now be written out and arguments will be heard on all motions for new trial.

In a decree handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand, a divorce is refused Anna L. Jordan, of South Jefferson street, against Arthur W. Jordan, of 426 Hillcrest avenue, on the grounds of indignity and cruelties alleged, but the libel is retained with the right of desertion if she so desires. The couple were married on June 14, 1933, and lived together until July 30, 1933. Judge Hildebrand finds that Mrs. Jordan had been married twice or three times before, and he is not satisfied with her allegations of alleged cruelties, which seem to have been more in the nature of quarrels. However, as the couple have not been living together since July, 1930, the court holds that Mrs. Jordan can amend her libel by the substitution of a desertion charge, when it will again be heard.

With the discharge of a large proportion of the state highway force, the county commissioners received many complaints yesterday morning that the county highway department was not being given the attention necessary following weather conditions which made them slippery. The commissioners have nothing to do with the highways, but many people do not appear to have understood. Complaints should be made to the local office of the state highway department. Heretofore there has been a sufficient personal care of the hills when the roads are slippery, but the present administration has reduced the force to a point where it is inadequate to meet the demands. It is possible that this condition will be remedied as soon as political strings can be untangled.

SAYS INDO-VIN GREATEST EVER

"The First Medicine That Ever Really Helped My Stomach; All Misery Is Gone."

Mr. John E. Hall, of 43 No. Franklin St., Washington, Pa., is now adding his name to the long list of HUNDREDS of people in this vicinity who are publicly praising and endorsing the new, scientific mixture of Extracts from Medicine in Indo-Vin, which is now being introduced to the public daily here in New Castle at Eckerd's Drug Store. Following is this widely-known man's statement:

"The first thing I want to say in this statement of mine is that it is the whole truth in every respect," said Mr. Hall. "I had no appetite and everything I ate would disagree with me. My meals didn't seem to do me any good at all and as a result I kept losing energy and finally got to where I was weak and worn out ALL THE TIME. I was just a 'bundle of nerves' and couldn't get a decent night of rest because I would simply roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other and would hear the clock strike hour after hour. By morning I would feel more tired than when I went to bed and it seemed like all my energy had gone from my body."

"I thought I would never find anything to help me, but when I got Indo-Vin it took command of my trouble from THE START. It gave me a great appetite. I eat my meals with a relish now, in fact, I don't know when I have ever eaten so heartily and my meals agree with me perfectly. My nerves are in such a fine condition now that I can go to sleep and get a full night of rest, and I always get up refreshed. I am making this truthful statement for the sole reason that I want to help others who suffer and I urge them to get this medicine and take it."

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in New Castle at Eckerd's Drug Store and sold by every good druggist in all the nearby towns throughout this whole section.

vanguishing point this week, when Delinquent Tax Collector Edward Umbright turned in about $3,500. Other collectors throughout the county are being urged to get collections in, as the treasury is very badly in need of funds. The county is missing the delinquent taxes which have been coming in through refinancing of mortgages by the Home Owners Loan Corporation. During the summer when the corporation was functioning at top speed, the delinquent taxes paid in helped wonderfully in enabling the county to meet its bills. Now the Home Owners Loan Corporation is slowing down and not much more can be expected from this source unless another appropriation is made by congress.

Prospective candidates for county offices next year are interested in bills being introduced in the general assembly which would limit expenditures for campaign purposes. It often happens that the man who is best qualified to hold an office, does not have the biggest pocketbook, which gives the man who may be short on brains and long on cash an unfair advantage. There are already a number of laws specifying "legitimate" campaign expenses, but there are various ways by which an unscrupulous candidate can twist an illegitimate expense into one looking as though it had been authorized by a regular daddy. There is a reasonable amount of expense connected with any campaign, such as cards and advertising, but there are others such as the "dissemination of information," and a big flock of "watchers" that are to say the least open to suspicion. If the legislature can make some laws that will give the poor man an equal chance against his more prosperous neighbor it will have accomplished something.

Department Work Features Mid-Year Church Conference

Departmental conferences will be given a prominent place in the program of the mid-year efficiency conference of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association which will be held at the Epworth M. E. church Friday, January 25, afternoon and evening sessions. The representative of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will be Walter E. Myers of Philadelphia, the general secretary. At the afternoon session that starts at two o'clock, the program gives the conference theme as "Building With Christ" and after registration there will be a devotional period followed by Mr. Myers' address on "Building the County and District Program." An open forum will follow this address. After the announcements and song there will be a departmental conference in charge of the county departmental superintendents.

At six o'clock there will be a Christian fellowship chicken dinner served by the ladies of the conference church to those having made reservation followed by the evening session at which time Secretary Myers will again speak and conduct a conference for pastors and Sabbath school superintendents to which those present are invited to listen in. At this evening session the presentation of an award will be made to the district having the best percentage of attendance of officers and departmental superintendents, based on enrollment.

Two Of Three Pass; Weather Condition Is Blamed

Weather conditions and the fact that on March 1 persons will be required to have a new operator's license tended to keep down the number of applicants for driver's licenses during the examination conducted in Sampson street here by the state highway patrol yesterday. Only three persons took the examination, two of whom passed. They were: Spears Martin, 34 North Beaver street, and James Christos, 210 Norwood avenue. The next examination will be held Tuesday. According to the highway patrol, persons who take the test on and after February 15 will receive 1935 operator's licenses.

PRESIDENT TO WIN ON HUGE WORK-RELIEF BILL

Caucus Votes For Roosevelt

President To Have Free Hand In Spending Of Huge Four Billion Fund

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The $4,880,000,000 work relief bill will be placed before the House today after a movement to deny President Roosevelt a free hand in spending it collapsed. Passage is expected tomorrow. The measure carries $4,000,000,000 to provide jobs for 3,500,000 persons now on relief and $880,000,000 for direct relief until the jobs plan starts. The huge Democratic majority was gained by a caucus vote to grant Mr. Roosevelt the huge sum with no strings attached. The leaders, however, weakened under the demands of revolting members, who demanded that the fund be "earmarked" for specific projects and opposed consideration under "gag" rule. Under the rule approved by the caucus by a vote of 190 to 42, members are forbidden to amend the first three sections of the bill, except on approval of the appropriations committee.

Members will be allowed to amend the sections giving the President authority to continue existing agencies until 1937 and establish agencies to handle the work program and the section providing penalties for violation of the act. The "gag" rule concession to the recalcitrants opens the way for a fight against Secretary of Interior Ickes. Resentful of his treatment of members of Congress in handling public works funds, threats were made to prevent the President from continuing the PWA.

Measure Would Postpone Tax Sales

House And Senate Committed To Speedy Adoption Of Bill

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—Legislation making possible postponement of sheriff's sales of thousands of homes for taxes during the next two years was on the Senate calendar today, scheduled for a final vote next Tuesday.

Both Senate and House were committed to its passage by speedy adoption of the Cordier resolution, calling for postponement of tax sales which were set for next month throughout the state and pledging enactment of enabling legislation. The enabling bill, sponsored by Senator Benjamin Thompson, Westmoreland, provides that county sheriffs and treasurers, with consent to common pleas courts, shall postpone all tax sales until 1937. It will be given second reading in the upper chamber Monday night and go to the House Tuesday after final passage, which is virtually assured by the support from both Republicans and Democrats of the Cordier resolution.

In 1933 the legislature enacted similar legislation paving the way for postponement of tax sales for two years as an emergency measure considered necessary because of the depression.

A Day At Boulder Dam.
The Old Sioux Chief.
Huge Concrete Demand.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

GALLUP, N. M., Jan. 23.

THIS IS written between Flagstaff and Winslow, traveling along the high levels of Arizona, more than seven thousand feet above sea level. The hills and dark green trees are covered with snow, the sky is miraculously blue, the climate is worth more than all our gold and you ought to be told, once more, about these wondrous western lands of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Colorado.

But Sunday was devoted to the great Boulder Dam canyon, where in about ten days water will start slowly rising in the gigantic reservoir, and all space must be devoted to that marvel of engineering science.

THE AUTOMOBILE trip to the dam from the writer's ranch at Hodge, Cal., and back, a run of about four hundred miles across part of California and Nevada, was made "comfortably" by "Jimmy" Dixon, of Los Angeles, in six hours.

Every American may be proud of Boulder Dam, especially Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, in charge of the project, the "six companies," American contracting corporations that have combined to undertake the one hundred and sixty-five million dollar job, and F. T. Crowe, tall American from the Northwest, general superintendent of the job.

The contractors agreed to finish not later than January 1, 1938, and pay a forfeit of nine thousand dollars "damages" for every day's delay. The work will be finished in July this year, two and a half years ahead of time, the dam itself completed in thirty days, with water running into the canyon back of the dam within fifteen days. This extraordinary efficiency will mean millions for the government in increased and immediate receipts, and interest saved, but the contractors get no bonus to offset the "damage" clause.

Taxpayers will learn with joy that contracts already made for power with the city of Los Angeles, power companies of Southern California and others will pay for the dam, principal and interest within fifty years. It pays to improve the country.

MOST IMPRESSIVE, as you stand at the edge of the deep canyon, are the face of the giant dam structure, rising more than seven hundred and twenty-six feet from bed rock, and the faces of some old Sioux Indians, to whose ancestors this river once belonged, looking at work done by white men to harness their river and put it to work.

A fine face is that of the Sioux chief, nearly eighty years old. The racial stock in Asia that produced such a man might, with education and science back of it, come flying some day as Columbus came sailing, to take possession of these lands again, driving out effete whites, as those whites once drove out barbarous Indians.

THE OLD chief sees that the Colorado River, held by a coffer dam, far up in the river and forced to leave its natural bed, now flows through great tunnels in the solid rock on either side of the canyon, resuming its muddy course far below the dam, allowing the white men to work on dry land, that was once the river bed. Never again will the river choose its path.

Below the dam on the old river bed you see buildings for power development, where giant generators will produce one million eight hundred and thirty-five thousand horse-

Above the complicated machinery and the power houses will be erected, from wall to wall of the canyon, deeply anchored in the rock on each side, a protecting reinforced concrete roof, twenty-five feet thick, to be covered deeply with sand and gravel, fertile soil and growing grass, protecting the precious machinery from falling rock that might be shaken loose by earthquakes.

MEN ARE building there for one thousand years to come despite the fact that in a few centuries all this work may be obsolete, a sample of man's "primitive scientific work," and the earth's real power supply produced by harnessing the tides of the giant sun itself.

In the wall and the power plant there have been used four million two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete, and contractors will want to know that pebbles as large as nine inches in diameter are used in the mixture.

Just above the dam, on government land, an inexhaustible bed of beautifully polished pebbles was found ready for the work.

Water will cover that deposit when the dam is filled, but it might be dredged for future work, when other dams are built higher up the river to use power generated above the boulder level.

THE AMOUNT of concrete in that job, according to the Department of the Interior, would build a monument one hundred feet square, two and one-eighth miles in height.

Men will build such monuments some day, and wider and higher with apartments all the way up, allowing tenants to choose the climate and altitude they want, with airplane landings on top. What men can imagine they can do.

SECRETARY of the Interior Ickes informs the public that the concrete used at Boulder Dam would build "a standard sixteen foot wide paved highway reaching from Miami in Florida to Seattle in Washington."

This country will build many such roads in the years to come now that Franklin D. Roosevelt has taught the people how to spend money, and sections of the roads at intervals will be wide enough for airplane landings, the national slogan "Land your plane anywhere from the northwestern tip of Alaska to Key West."

Across the top of the dam forty-five feet wide, a paved highway for automobiles will carry travelers from Nevada to Arizona, on the Arizona side a winding road will lead to the top of the canyon.

You should see Boulder Dam. Railroads will take you there, or your trusty automobile. In about 10 days water will begin to run in above the dam, but you may always see the great unobstructed wall of the dam on the lower side.

A visit to that dam will convince you that those who fear for this country's future, and think it needs the guidance of England, France, Czechoslovakia and the World Court, underestimate the UNITED STATES.

New Kensington Defeats Castles

New Ken High Takes 31 To 25 Victory Here Tuesday Evening

KOSZELA-TRECZIAK ARE SCORING STARS

Flashing a fast attack in the third and fourth periods, the New Kensington high school basketball team, leaders of section one of the W. P. I. A. L., handed the New Castle high quintet a 31 to 25 setback at George Washington junior high floor last night in a non-league affair. Henry Koszela of New Castle and Roger Trecziak of New Ken high shared honors in scoring. In the preliminary, came the New Castle high reserves topped the George Washington junior high team 37 to 15.

Locals Take Lead

In the main game New Castle high took the lead over the visitors in the first period 11 to 6, but at the half the lead had been cut to 16 to 13. New Castle played its best basketball in the first half, scoring 16 points against nine for the entire second half. On the other hand the New Ken high team seemed to get better as the game progressed, and outscored the locals by nine points in the final two periods, 18 to 9.

The outstanding light in the New Castle offensive attack was the work of Henry Koszela, who flipped in six field goals for 12 of the points. Johnny Carik came through with a couple of brilliant shots for points, with Nahas and Ostrosky having the only other field goals made by the locals.

At the end of the third period the score was 23 to 20 New Kensington and play in the fourth and final period was furious, with both teams over-anxious.

Trecziak Stars

Big Roger Trecziak, the New Ken high center, was the best for the Clockmen, having nine of the points. Varella, a sub for Hill, also played a fine one for the invaders, getting seven points. Ross and Wilson, the two veteran guards, supplied 11 of the points between them.

At one time in the fourth period with four minutes of the game left to play the county was 25 to 25, but then the New Ken high, led by Varella, drew ahead. In fouls New Castle was fairly good, making 5 out of 10. New Ken high made 9 out of 13.

GOOD BASEBALL MANAGERS

If you happen to have a long evening sometime with nothing to do, just start a discussion in regular Hot Stove League fashion of what the requisites are for good baseball managers. Then you can use as examples Rogers Hornsby, Connie Mack, John McGraw, Frank Frisch, Bill Terry, Mickey Cochrane or any of the others whom you may hold in high regard.

Compare John McGraw with Connie Mack, for instance. Both have always been regarded as among the best in the business yet the methods employed by each were always as far apart as the poles of the earth.

Should a successful manager shame the players with ridicule and a harsh tongue in driving a team toward a pennant? Should he, by hiring detectives, see that the players observe training rules strictly? John McGraw did it and he won quite a few pennants.

On the other hand, however, Connie Mack, instead of holding a player up to ridicule, would try to coax him out of a player. Instead of hiring detectives to see that the players were getting to bed at the proper hour he is more apt to put the players on their honor. And Connie, too, has had a very successful career.

St. Louis is quite satisfied with the managerial ability of Rogers Hornsby, and Bill Terry seems to have done a pretty good job in New York. Compare their outspoken and blunt manner with the more conservative attitude of the late Miller Huggins. Terry and Hornsby are good but they haven't as yet proved that they will be as successful as the former Yankee manager.

It is a question of whether or not any other man could have handled Babe Ruth as Huggins did. Remember when he was the New York manager, Ruth, besides being at the peak of his career, was one of the game's playboys.

Most critics advise managers to pattern their system after that of Connie Mack or Miller Huggins. Yet, not only did John McGraw have a successful career, but Frank Frisch, the man who is said to follow McGraw's methods closer than anyone else, comes along and wins a pennant with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rogers Hornsby wasn't a success as a Cub manager because it is claimed, the players didn't like his iron-handed rule. Over in Cleveland, however, it is said that many of the players take advantage of the easy-going Walter Johnson.

So just how are baseball managers to become successful? The only fool-proof advice that can be given apparently is, "Win ball games." Connie Mack, Bill Terry, Frank Frisch, etc., may employ different methods, but they do one thing in common, they all win quite a few games.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Ossie Solem signed a four-year contract to coach the University of Iowa football team at a reported figure of $8,500 annually. The contract was signed 10 days ago but did not become known until today.

Kiney Matsuyama of New York won the National three-cushion billiard championship by defeating Alfredo De Oro, 50 to 31 in 42 innings.

Boxing Show At Cathedral

Police Head Makes Arrangements To Secure Site For Show

USE PROFITS TO BUY EQUIPMENT

For the first time since the Cathedral was built a boxing show will be staged in the auditorium February 13, according to Chief of Police John F. Haven, who stated today that the proceeds from the show will be applied to the purchase of equipment for the police department.

Last summer the department of police staged a big boxing show at Franklin field and the show was a success both from a boxing and financial viewpoint. Wishing to add further equipment to the department without obtaining the money from taxes another boxing show will be staged.

According to plans made, the ring will be placed on the spacious stage, which is one of the largest in the United States. There will be some ringside seats on the stage. Other seats will be sold on the first and second floors of the auditorium.

Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, made the matches for the last police show and today Haven will confer with Fritz relative to matches and other details of a boxing show.

It was announced today that after one-year layoff the George Washington-Ben Franklin Junior High basketball teams will battle for the City Junior High championship at the Washington High court Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Due to a lot of wrangling over players last year, the game was not played.

There is a lot of interest in this attraction. Coaches Bill Wallace and Dan Carroll of the respective teams are busily engaged in giving the boys finishing touches and expect a tough battle to follow when the two schoolboy teams clash.

Mars High basketball team won a Section 18 league victory at the Union High floor last night 33 to 17, topped the Butler high quintet at Butler floor 23 to 19. Butler missed the star guard Webster, who was declared out due to scholastic difficulties.

Mars led at the end of the first period in the boys game 4 to 2. At the half it was 12 to 4. The Mars attack in the third period was too much for the Unionites. Mars got 18 points in the third stanza. In the final period Union outscored the visitors 8 to 3, but Mars had too big a lead in the early stages of the ball game.

Oberendorfer and Johnston led the Mars team in scoring with 21 of the points. Schaas and Rudesill led the Unionites in scoring.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Governor Earle met with the commission that governs wrestling and boxing in Harrisburg yesterday and it is probable that the solons will keep a sharp eye on professional wrestling. The governor implied that he wanted the commission to eliminate faking from the catch-as-catch-can sport. Wrestling of today and yesterday has changed considerably. Today's brand is filled with hippodroming but the game as conducted in the east pays because the spectators apparently want the hippodroming. Most of the professional mat bouts are advertised as exhibitions.

Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight champion of boxing, was knocked out by Irving Klainer in the eighth round at Rio Janerio last night.

Bob Coy, Peoria, Ill., set a marathon golf play at Los Angeles then entered a hospital with badly swollen ankles.

Ohio State U paid to the government as its share of the admission a tax of $21,568.05.

New Brighton Leads Section

New Brighton High School basketball team with a 25 to 21 upset of the strong Aliquippa High team last night at the New Brighton floor, took the lead in the Section Three championship race. It is such a tough fight this year that four teams are tied for second place.

In other games last night Ambbridge High bested Ellwood City High 51 to 23, and Beaver Falls topped the Butler high quintet at Butler floor 23 to 19. Butler missed the star guard Webster, who was declared out due to scholastic difficulties.

New Castle High was idle in the league last night, but will play Butler here Saturday of this week.

No Sir... Winter's is not the only place to buy your January O'coat

But so far as we know, it's the only shop where you'll find these kinds of o'coats at these kinds of prices.

But... don't take an advertisement's word for it. Look around. Turn coats inside out and stocks upside down and you'll either see that we have the o'coat you want at the price you'll gladly pay... or that's the last we'll see of you this winter.

Motor Fund Diversion Means Discrimination

Additional reasons for opposition to the diversion of motor license funds were given today by Ralph W. Botsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club. The statement of Mr. Botsinger follows:

Diversion of motor tax revenues to other than road-building purposes is one of the most serious evils threatening highway transportation, and all diversion proposals will be vigorously opposed at the forthcoming sessions of the legislature. Pointing out that there are widely differing estimates of the amount of motor taxes now diverted each year, official figures indicate that the total is well over $100,000,000 a year, that considerable more than half the total is represented in diversion from gasoline taxes and the balance from registration fees. The New Castle Motor Club listed the following effects of diversion:

taxation by imposing on them as a class an unjust and disproportionate share of the cost of government. Motor taxes are special levies for a special purpose, and to use receipts otherwise is rank discrimination.

Diversion results in the boosting of motor taxes beyond reasonable limits and the imposition of taxes out of ratio to costs.

Diversion endangers the road bonded indebtedness of the states. Diversion jeopardizes the large investments in highways, as it leads to neglect of roads and the postponing of necessary maintenance.

As a result of the above, diversion adds to the hazards on the highway. Diversion results in road funds becoming a political "pork barrel".

Diversion of road funds to other governmental purposes, however, tends to delay the overhauling of tax structure in the interest of those who pay motor taxes.

Stock Market
Is Unsettled

Market Heavy Despite Strength Shown In Individual Issues

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The stock market was heavy today despite strength in individual issues, particularly U. S. Steel preferred and General Electric.

Unsettling influence was weakness in the rails.

Little attention was paid to the further rise in steel operations and in power output to the second best figure in 4 years.

Large-scale buying again appeared in General Electric, but the gain was only fractional. Westinghouse was firm.

Passage of the new "hot oil" control bill by the senate brought a firmer tone to the petroleum issues.

Motor stocks continued heavy despite the high rate of output in the industry. Farm shares were mixed with Sears Roebuck under pressure.

Utilities were firm aided by the bullish power production figures. Aviation was easy.

W. AND J. PRESIDENT
DELIVERS ADDRESS

Dr. Hutchinson Urges Class
To Adapt Selves To New Trend And Code
Of Ethics

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Given a frank and an astonishingly true account of the present day standards of living, a class of 85 seniors received their diplomas at the Ellwood City High School in the Lincoln Auditorium Tuesday evening, and prepared to make the best of their knowledge in the world.

Impressive Program
A capacity crowd witnessed one of the most impressive and interesting commencement programs held here. The timely address of Dr. Ralph C. Hutchinson, president of Washington and Jefferson College, will be remembered as one of the most remarkable given in this city. It was immensely interesting and enlightening.

In its traditional solemn gray caps and gowns the class of 85 was seated on the stage, which was beautifully decorated with ferns. They presented a spectacle of dignity and attainment.

A well prepared program marked the occasion. After a number by the High School orchestra under the direction of Prof. Paul Winter, the invocation was given by the Rev. R. H. Little. This was followed with the salutatory address on "Woman in the Medical Profession" by Miss Gertrude Ann Jones.

Salutatory Address
Miss Jones extended a hearty greeting and welcome to the assemblage in behalf of the class. She thanked the parents and local public for their silent influence and guiding hand in making their education possible. Going into her subject, Miss Jones told of the woman's uphill fight for recognition. The greatest inequality of woman to man was that in the field of medicine. In the old days a woman who aspired to be a physician was ridiculed. If she acquired knowledge in this field she was usually advised to confine her practice to nursing. It was not until the age of specialization and the development of modern treatment and surgery that woman got her opportunity. Today they take their place with the best of men. The skillful and scientific development of medicine opened up new fields for the woman. Miss Jones pointed out that if their knowledge was not used for a practice it could be applied for other practical purposes. She named a number of women who have attained distinction in this field, who have comforted and relieved humanity. The president's address was a challenge to modern young women who Jones declared.

The Valedictorian
Robert Arthur Sprague, the valedictorian, spoke on the subject "The Old and the New in War." He stated that war is the greatest of human evils. Through the greed and selfishness of mankind, war has been made inevitable. He urged the young people to disregard and rise up against the flow of war propaganda, for it will be they that will bear the brunt of the burden. He declared that due to the astonishing development of new war implements and equipment, civilization would be annihilated in the next war. Since it seems that war is inevitable, the question now is, is America prepared?

He then turned to the class and wished them success in their chosen fields and pointed out that they were in a position to make their own destiny.

Proceeding the commencement address by Dr. Hutchinson, a trombone solo was given by Alexander Exposito.

The principal speaker of the evening was introduced by Supt. of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong. After speaking a few words, Dr. Hutchinson had the undivided attention of the assemblage. He aroused the curiosity and interest of those present at the same time, in the clever manner he began his talk. Once swinging to the main body of his address, he was the sole attraction. It was soon evident that life would be "no bed of roses" for the graduates when they left the school portals.

Dr. Hutchinson Speaks
Dr. Hutchinson likened the lives of the graduates to the "Toonerville Trolley that meets all trains," that is, life was adapted to them and their particular needs from childhood until their graduation. Paraphrasing what certain need, and more often than not were sacrificing something. The Toonerville Trolley was the same, he declared, adapting itself to the needs of the community. In school the same principle was carried out, where the teacher adapted herself to the speed of assimilation knowledge of her pupils, so that they could be properly educated. Often as not it was slowing up the work.

Now at commencement they have reached the most important part in their education, and this occasion is never been over-emphasized, he stated. The members of the class have now reached the end of the Toonerville Trolley line where it meets the railroad system. Hence everything will be on schedule like the trains. There will be no waiting. They must now adapt themselves to the needs and conditions of a community. Those who still wait for the Toonerville Trolley will be left hopelessly behind. Business is independent and will go on without them. The same thing applies to college where one must adapt himself to a uniform schedule. The stragglers are sent home. The speaker did not mince words. He stated to the class, "Some of you will succeed and others will be miserable failures. To succeed you know what society demands today and be able to meet it."

Demands of Society
Dr. Hutchinson then went on and gave four demands of present day society. The first of these, honesty, our parents did not have to meet. Today absolute honesty and integrity are essential. In the olden days dishonest people were graduated from high schools and colleges, that is, those who did not study enough to get through. These were placed in offices, banks and industries of our country. At that time it was estimated that there were 20 jobs to a man. They had to be employed. The result was a period of corruption—banks and industries failed. Today the situation is reversed. There are 20 men for one job. The employer makes a very careful selection. A man with the best qualifications whose honesty and integrity are impeccable, is invariably selected.

The second demand of society is scholarship. You cannot get through today without study. Diplomas in themselves are worthless, the speaker asserted. When work was in abundance they had to be accepted, but today employers endeavor to look into the minds of the applicants. Only those with evident knowledge and scholarship are selected.

Culture is the third demand. No more crude, coarse and coldly skillful men, whose souls are not attuned to life, are accepted. One must have knowledge and feeling for his work or be ignored.

Reverence of God is the fourth demand. "A new day in religion is coming," the speaker predicted. The man who recognizes the spiritual element in life can better appreciate it. Life is spiritual and the sooner one recognizes this fact, the better off he will be. Men and women in search of God with open minds, will be in demand. This causes inspiration, love of beauty and life. All these with evident knowledge and the evidence of God is around us and it remains for us to pay Him due homage.

These four requisites will always be in demand while there are more people than jobs.

In closing, Dr. Hutchinson expressed a wish and prayer, that in time to come who one will be found waiting for the Toonerville Trolley, and that they have embodied the four above requisites in their being in order to gain a definite objective.

The address was followed with an overture by the orchestra. Principal Ralph C. Shaffer then presented the class as the diplomas were awarded by Supt. DeLong. The program closed with the pronouncement of benediction by the Rev. J. A. King.

Ellwood Swamped
By Ambridge High

Rubenstein's Passers Have
Field Day As They Win,
51-23, Last Night

VICTORS GOOD IN
FOUL SHOOTING

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—Through their superior height and uncanny shooting from the foul line, Ellwood City high was swamped at Ambridge by a 51-23 score by a Rubenstein coached quint Tuesday evening.

Ambridge simply towered above the Ellwoodians, who found it difficult to gain possession of the ball. Besides this, the Tubers were handicapped by a low ceiling at the Ambridge gym, which spoiled many of their shots. Ambridge's victory was not so impressive as the score indicates. It seemed that they had an "on day," and besides making shots from all angles of the court, displayed an uncanny ability from the foul line, from where they registered 19 out of 25 shots.

Ellwood started out fine, but were not able to maintain the pace. The advantage held by the home team soon began to tell on them. The first quarter and 13-12 at half time. In the ensuing two periods Ambridge went to work with real seriousness. The count was 24-18 at the end of the third quarter and 51-23 final.

Spadafora and Mallow were the big guns in the Ambridge attack. Captain Robuck was high scorer for Ellwood.

In the preliminary game the Ellwood High Reserves were trimmed by the Ambridge Reserves, 32-12. Howarth and Sweezy were outstanding for the victors. Metz was best for the losers.

Ellwood will be idle for the remainder of the week.

Funeral Services Are Held For
Pioneer Citizen Here Tuesday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 23.—John Glenn McKim, 59, who passed away last Sunday morning at the local hospital, was laid to his final rest in the Locust Grove cemetery, Tuesday afternoon.

A private funeral service was held from the late home on Park avenue. Many floral tributes were in evidence, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held here.

A simple but yet impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the U. P. church, in which the deceased had served, and had been a staunch member for over a quarter of a century. A quartet composed of Miss Ruth Lersch, Miss Gettrude Jones, Frank Gross, Sr., and Emmet Liebenortier, and Miss Irene Reinart, pianist, rendered, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break." Rev. Minter then read some appropriate scripture selections. Rev. Charles Z. Bell made a prayer and the quartet gave another selection, "The Lord's My Shepherd." Rev. Minter then gave a touching eulogy, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell asleep.

Th pallbearers were six members of the session of the U. P. church, which organization the deceased was active. They were Ed. Harbison, James, James Brown, Harry Young, Hillard King and J. E. VanGorder.

CAT SAVES 3 LIVES

More Witnesses Being Heard In Pottsville Case

Seek To Disprove Contention Of State That
Joseph Bruno Fired
On Marchers

(International News Service)
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—Additional witnesses whose testimony is relied upon to prove the self-defense contention were to be called to the stand today in the trial of Joseph J. Bruno for murder in connection with the election eve massacre in the small mountain village of Kelayres.

Through these witnesses the defense hopes to convince the jury of ten men and two women in Schuylkill county court that the firing which emanated from the Bruno home on the fateful night of last November 5 was precipitated by an attack of the Democratic paraders.
Bruno, 50-year-old Kelayres Republican "boss," is on trial for the slaying of Frank Fiorella, one of the five Democratic marchers who fell dead in the massacre. He is also under indictment, charged with murder in connection with the other four deaths. Six of his relatives, including his two sons, are in community prison, also charged with the five killings.

Witnesses Summoned.
Five witnesses were summoned by the defense battery of attorneys yesterday. They swore that the Democratic marchers hurled stones at the Bruno home and fired shots before five of their number were killed and 14 wounded in a hail of bullets pouring out of the house.
Later the defense intends to introduce testimony in an effort to substantiate Bruno's alibi that he was talking on the telephone at the time prosecution witnesses said they saw him firing a gun from an upstairs window.

President's Ball Plans Progress

Tickets For Event On January
30 Are In Big
Demand

Plans for the President's Ball were advanced materially Tuesday night when the general committee met in the Y. M. C. A. with General Chairman W. Walter Braham. The various committees reported their activities and several new angles of exploitation were developed.
It was announced that both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies would send birthday telegrams to the president on January 30 for a set price of twenty-five cents each. All of the money collected for the telegrams is to be turned over to the work of alleviating infantile paralysis, seventy per cent of the money remaining in New Castle and the balance going to the commission for research to be appointed by the president.

A huge birthday cake will be presented at the local ball on January 30, and the cake will then be auctioned off to the highest bidder.
The cake as planned is said to be a fine example of the pastry maker's art.

Tickets for the ball are going fast.
Chairman Braham is anticipating a larger crowd than in 1934. For those who do not dance, cards will be provided, the arrangements for these being made by Mrs. William Howley.

Agriculture Future In Hands Of Youth

Vocational Schools Are Praised
By New State Secretary Of Agriculture

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—The future of agriculture in America today rests in the hands of youth, in the opinion of J. Hensell French, Pennsylvania's new secretary of agriculture.
Praising vocational schools in an address during the vocational day program at the 19th annual State Farm Show last night, French warned:
"The process of the past in which many of our best qualified young people left the farm for the city must be reversed. Boys and girls must be educated to the farm, not away from it."

PITT SCHOOL TO HAVE ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-five years of progress in training teachers and executives for burgh.

the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancing of Teaching, will make dents of all the colleges in the western part of the state and the leges. Opportunity will be given for Christmas Fund For Sunday School

Epworth M. E. To Adopt Systematic Savings Plan To Apply On Church Debt

Something new in the way of church financing will be started in Epworth M. E. Sunday morning when a Christmas fund plan will be put into effect. Meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E.
Clark on the Wilmington road, Tuesday night, the teachers and officers approved the plan and decided to install it immediately.

Briefly the plan is this: Each student in the Sunday school will be asked to be a member of the plan.
The cards run from one cent per week to $1 per week. If a substantial number of the students carry through with the plan the sponsors of the plan believe it will result in a total gift next Christmas of not less than $250. This will be applied on the church debt as the gift of the Sunday school.

The entire Sunday school will meet in the auditorium of the church Sunday morning when the plan will be explained in detail to the classes.
Castles will be stationed at various places and the plan will get under way.

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 23.—Edward L. Kurtz, Stewart township tax collector, started a year's sentence in Fayette county jail today because he was "dishonest."
Kurtz pleaded guilty to a shortage of $1,651.67. In passing sentence,

Judge Thomas H. Hudson com- mented:

"One of the bad features of this case is the fact that there was no return of taxes at all for 1933. I can see how it would be possible for a small amount of taxes to be taken, but it doesn't look as though a man was honest when he keeps it all."

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Ann said to be "too ill to comment" on the action of her former husband, Harry Bannister, in branding her as "not a fit and proper person"

ter, Jane.

TO SPEND HUGE SUM

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Proposed expenditure of more than $125,000.

The News, By Mail, One Year, $5.00.

000 for new equipment and plant modernization in the steel industry during 1935 was revealed today with the completion of an informal poll of steel manufacturers by the American Iron and Steel Institute.

New equipment will consist largely of facilities for producing the lighter types of finished steel products. Under the code there can be no initiation of new construction to increase the present blast furnace, open hearth or bessemer steel capacity.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

The Action Called For

These are the four effects a cold calls for and anything less may be taking chances.

Be wise—play safe! The moment you feel a cold coming on, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Begin taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours.

Promptly used, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours. That's the speed of action you want.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask for, and insist upon, Grove's Bromo Quinine. The cost is small, but the stake is large.

Expressly For Colds!

Bromo Quinine is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds.

It is also internal treatment and of four important effects.

First, Bromo Quinine opens the bowels, a desirable step in the treatment of colds.
